JUDGMENTS.

Judgments are arranged alphabetically under dates filed. The first name on each line is that of the debtor, the second the name of creditor.

Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

D signifies judgment for deficiency.

* signifies not summoned.

† signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown.

Judgments against corporations will be found at the end of each day's list.

SALE OF CORN'S PROPERTIES.

Committee for Bond Holders Bid in the Entire Holdings.

The seven large leasehold properties that were improved by the Improved Property Holding Co., of which Henry Corn was president, were offered in foreclosure in Part 7 of the United States District Court in Manhattan yesterday. Modern office buildings comprise the improvements, all of which were erected during the last 10 years. The committee of the bondholders bid in all the properties for the total sum of $300,000. There was no competition. The properties were offered as the result of a decree against the Equitable Trust Co., as trustee for the bondholders' committee to recover various amounts agregating $640,000. Joseph P. Day was the auctioneer.

The properties included 43 to 47 West 33d st, a 6-sty building on plot 63.1x98.9, leased in 1906 from Austen G. Fox and having 14 years to run; the 12-sty structure known as the McCutcheon Building at 341 to 347 5th av, near 34th st, on plot 79x95, leased from the Chanler estate in 1906, and having 14 years to run; the 11-sty building 320 and 322 5th av, northwest corner of 32d st, on plot 99.9x123.6, leased in 1904 from the late Mary Bell, and having 12 years to run; the 4-sty building 1161 to 1175 Broadway, northwest corner of 27th st, on plot 136x87.8 leased in 1910 from the Henry M. Schieffelin estate, and having 14 years to run; the 11-sty building 84 to 90 5th av, northwest corner of 14th st, on plot 103x100, leased in 1903 from the Van Buren estate, and having 10 years to run; the 10-sty building at 110 and 112 5th av, northwest corner of 16th st, leased in 1903 from the Ogden Goelet estate, and having 10 years to run, and the Bryant Arcade, a 7-sty building at the northeast corner of 6th av and 42d st, on plot 208x100.5, leased in 1906 from the Hoffman estate, and having 13 years to run. Each parcel was to be offered separately, then in any combination that a qualified bidder might desire, then as an entirety, the highest total to take the property.

S. F. Carstein, of Carstein & Linnekin, who bid for the bondholders' committee, had no competitors. For the 33d st parcel and the McCutcheon Building $40,000 each was bid; for 320 5th av, $30,000; for the Bryant Arcade, which was offered last, $50,000, and for the other three parcels $1,000 each, this making a total of $163,000. Mr. Carstein then elected to make one bid of $298,000 for five of the seven parcels, excluding 84 to 90 5th av and 110 to 112 5th av. For these five parcels the single bids had aggregated $161,000. No bid for the property in its entirety was received, so that Mr. Carstein's bid of $298,000 for the five parcels plus $1,000 each for the other two took the property. A good many persons seemed to expect that the Bryant Arcade would be bid for by Stern Brothers, whose new building it adjoins, but that firm did not bid.

First Results of New Subway Contracts.

The first results of the signing of the new subway contracts will be seen within a few months in the opening for temporary operation of the Steinway Tunnel, under the East River, and the Centre Street Loop Subway in Manhattan. Operation of the Steinway Tunnel will prove a great benefit to the people of Queens Borough. The tunnel, which runs under the East River from 42d street, Manhattan, to Long Island City, has been completed for nearly five years, but has never been operated because the company had no valid franchise for its use. Under the Dual System contracts the tunnel was sold to the city and became a part of the city's rapid transit system. It will be operated as a part of that system by the Interborough Company. Eventually it is to be extended in Manhattan westward to Times Square and in Queens northeasterly to the Queensborough Bridge Plaza. Pending the completion of these extensions the contracts provide for temporary operation, and this will probably be effected by the use of trolley cars with free transfers to and from the existing subway at the Grand Central Station.

A large portion of the travel to and from Brooklyn will be benefited by the temporary operation of the Centre Street Loop Subway. This subway connects the Williamsburgh, Manhattan and Brooklyn Bridges, and as soon as connection can be made with the tracks over the Williamsburgh Bridge Brooklyn elevated trains, which now discharge their passengers at the Manhattan end of that bridge, will be brought through the subway down to the City Hall. There are stations at the Bowery, Canal street and Chambers street, so that many passengers who now have to pay an additional fare to get down town from the Williamsburgh Bridge will be enabled to travel without change of cars to their destinations.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS USED AND RULES FOLLOWED IN COMPILING RECORDS.

Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed omitting all covenants and warranty.

C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given. When the date of drawing is other than in the current year the stated year is given. When both the dates are in the same year the year follows the second date.

The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1912.

T. S. preceding the consideration in a conveyance means that the deed or conveyance has been recorded under the Torrens System.

Flats and apartment houses are classified as tenements.

Residences as dwellings.

All Christian names, streets, avenues, states and months are abbreviated when possible, also in some instances names of Banks, Trusts and Insurance Companies.

The number in ( ) preceding the serial number to the right of the date line, at head of this page, is the Index number for the Checking Index.

The Star following names of street or avenue in the Bronx Conveyances, Leases and Mortgages indicates that the property recorded is in the annexed district, for which there is no section or block number.

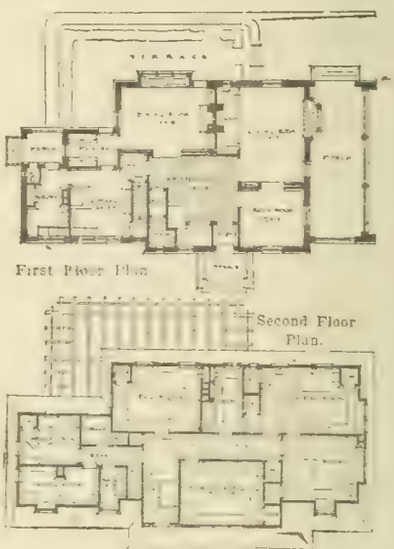
IMPORTANT TO THOSE WHO EXPECT TO BUILD

WHEN PLANNING TO BUILD, you will find it of great value to first make a careful personal study of the illustrations of houses, etc., that have been designed and built by a number of leading architects, and to also learn their ideas regarding the best interior arrangement and the most appropriate furnishings. This important information, which would greatly aid you in deciding about your own building plans, when you take them up with your own architect and builder, can easily be obtained from the several hundred exterior and interior designs that are beautifully illustrated in the last six numbers of the



Architectural Record

The National Magazine for Architects, Owners and Builders

A Powerful Business Producer for those firms whose products are used in Building Construction, Equipment or Furnishing GUARANTEED CIRCULATION EXCEEDS 11,000 MONTHLY.

In these six numbers are also illustrated and described the numerous building-specialties that add very much to the comfort, convenience and value of the modern home, without materially increasing the initial cost; and this information may mean the saving of many dollars to you.

FIRST AND SECOND FLOOR PLANS GREATLY REDUCED

Our Special Offer

We have a limited supply of these sets of six (including the October COUNTRY HOUSE NUMBER), which are invaluable to those who expect to build or make alterations. Although the regular price is $1.50, we make you a special offer of $1.00 for the six, while the sets last, if you will mention Record and Guide. They will soon be sold. Send us your order today, tomorrow may be too late.

THIS $1.00 SHOULD SAVE YOU HUNDREDS

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.

NEW YORK, APRIL 19, 1913

FIRE-ESCAPES FOR ALL APARTMENT HOUSES

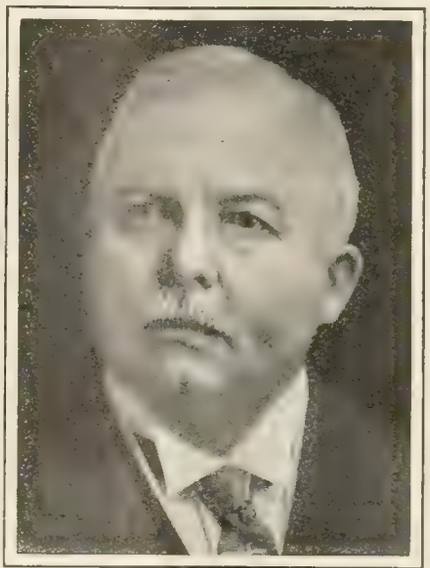
Or Two Separate Means of Egress in Buildings Hereafter Erected, Whether Fireproof or Otherwise, Required By a New Bill. Concrete Construction in Lieu of Steel and Wood Beams on First Floor.

BY a bill which has been introduced in the Legislature with the approval of the Tenement House Department, duplicate means of egress will be required in all classes of tenement houses erected in the future. This means that fireproof apartment houses of the most costly description, as well as the modest non-fireproof tenement, must have either an exterior fire-escape or something that will perform the duty of an emergency exit, in addition to the main stairway.

Commissioner Murphy states that this amendment is largely the result of a symposium that was carried on in The Record and Guide on the question of the expediency of requiring fire-escapes of some sort to be placed on fireproof apartment houses. To the mind of the Commissioner it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that there ought to be in all buildings a double means of exit. This, of course, relates only to new buildings. One of the values of this provision would be the added sense of safety to tenants who are apt to be panic-stricken in an emergency.

Will Facilitate Construction.

The bill (Senate No. 2170) has been introduced also for the purpose of facilitating the construction of new tenements in the Borough of The Bronx, where difficulties caused by steep grades are continually arising, and where certain new forms of construction not now permitted in the law have been desired. After conferring with builders in The Bronx the present bill was drafted.



Corner Houses.

The first amendment relates to the construction of tenement houses at corners where one street passes under another. This condition has been created in The Bronx by the construction of the Grand Concourse and Boulevard, and was not provided for in the law as it stands. The measurements for determining the height of a house so situated may be taken from the curb level of the highest street. All tiers of beams below the curb level of the highest street, as well as the first tier of beams above the curb level, must be iron or steel or reinforced concrete with fireproof filling.

All inside stairs below this level must be fireproof and enclosed by fireproof walls, with fireproof self-closing doors at top and bottom of each flight; and such stairs shall not be situated under each other.

More Than One Safety Exit.

The second amendment is the one providing for two independent ways of egress from all tenement houses hereafter erected. They are to run from the ground floor to the roof, they must be remote from each other, and must be separated by walls. One of these ways of egress must be a flight of stairs constructed and arranged as already provided by law.

HON. JOHN J. MURPHY.
Commissioner of the Tenement House Department.

The other way shall be directly accessible at each story to each apartment without having to pass through the first way of egress. It may be (1) a system of outside fire-escapes; or (2) an additional flight of stairs, either inside or outside, or (3) a fireproof tower.

Concrete Floors and Stair Halls.

The third amendment to the bill eliminates permission for the use of flexible wire fire-escapes on buildings hereafter erected.

The fourth amendment permits the use of concrete walls in stairs and public halls.

The fifth amendment takes off the restriction which Commissioner Murphy has enforced, requiring the windows on stair halls to be glazed glass and fireproof glass with wire.

The sixth amendment relates to the permission to construct the floors and stair halls and the first tier of beams of solid reinforced concrete as an alternative to iron and steel beams with fireproof filling.

Percentage of Lot Occupied.

The seventh amendment alters the restriction on the percentage of lot which may be legally occupied, in the case of corner lots, and also in the case of interior lots exceeding 105 feet in depth. The present limits are ninety per cent. for a corner lot and seventy per cent. for any other lot. Hereafter in the case of (a) an interior lot between ninety and one hundred and five feet in depth, not more than seventy per cent.; in the case of (b) an interior lot which exceeds one hundred and five feet in depth, not more than sixty-five per cent.

In the case of a gore-shaped lot, where the width of the lot at the rear of the lot line is greater than the width at the front, and the average width does not exceed fifty feet, then the average width through the center shall be taken for the purposes of the aforesaid provision.

Retaining Walls.

Whenever because of temporary differences in grade with abutting lots, at the rear or side, it is necessary to protect the adjoining premises by building retaining walls; and whenever the department is satisfied that permission cannot be obtained to build such retaining walls on the abutting premises, the department may permit the building of retaining walls on the premises on which the tenement house is to be erected, without having such walls considered as reducing the minimum size of yards or courts required by the law, nor as reducing the percentage of lot permitted to be occupied, provided that such retaining walls do not encroach upon such minimum dimensions of yards and courts of more than twenty-four inches, nor extend in height above the first story window-sills; and provided further that there are no living-rooms below such first-story window-sills, except those necessary for the janitor and his family.

Building Height.

In measuring a court the height of a building in future is to be measured from the curb level to the top of the highest wall, except that a parapet wall extending not more than three feet above the top of the roof beams shall not be included in such measurements in the case of tenements not exceeding six stories in height.

There can be, under the legislative bill, not more than one apartment in any cellar, and this not to contain more than five rooms and bath, which shall not open upon any court less than five feet six inches in width, and shall be occupied solely by the janitor and his family.

The requirement for wire-glass windows in stairhalls is relaxed so as not to apply to such windows opening on the street in the case of tenement houses not exceeding six stories in height.

In certain cases where a house situated on a corner has a yard and court giving direct access tothe street, the requirement for a fire passage through the basement from front to rear is modified.

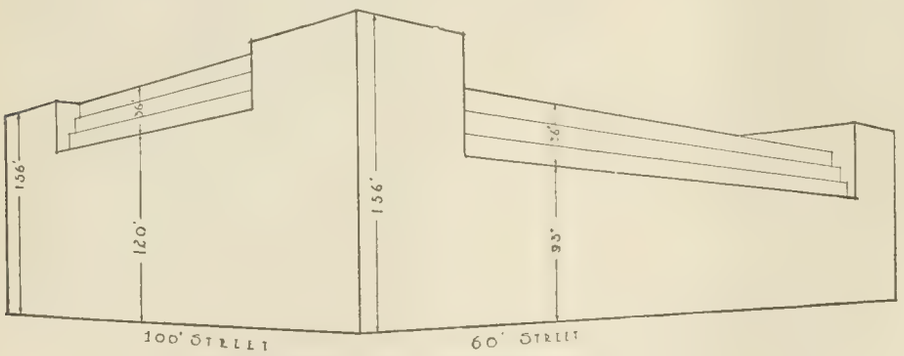
The last amendment contained in the bill provides that whenever the provisions of this chapter of laws are in conflict with any present, future or local ordinance, charter or regulation, the provision of this chapter shall in all cases govern.

THE REGULATION OF BUILDING HEIGHT

A Method Which Would Not Be Drastic—Based on Street Widths, and Would Provide For Stepping Back Upper Stories, and For Towers.

By WILLIAM O. LUDLOW.

Several years ago, when the question of restricting the height to which buildings might thereafter be erected was being considered by a special commission appointed to revise the Building Code, an original scheme of restrictions was proposed by William O. Ludlow, of Ludlow & Peabody, architects. The principles of that scheme are explained in the accompanying article. Multiplying the square root of the street width by the factor of 12 would give, he says, a commercially reasonable height to buildings on the narrow as well as the wide streets, as indicated in the diagrams.



1. The height of any building at the building line, except on corner plots, shall not exceed twelve (12) times the square root of the width of the street upon which it is located; and no part of such building shall extend above the plane formed by the building line at this height, and a line normal thereto inclined away from the street at an angle of 60 degrees from the horizontal. Nor shall any part of the building extend beyond the allowed height of the building at the building line more than 36 ft.

The height limit, should, I believe, be a function of the width of the street for obvious reasons, but multiplying this width by a constant, such as one, one and a half, or two, as some have advocated, gives results that are ill-suited to the requirements of New York streets that vary from 30 to 200 ft. in width, as a little calculation will show. For example, if once the width of the street be the height allowed, and the average floor to floor story height be assumed as 12 ft., 30-foot streets, of which there are a number, would have to be confined to two-story buildings, 40-foot streets to three-story buildings, and even the usual 60-foot street would allow only five stories in height. New York City would never tolerate such a drastic restriction.

Again, if the modulus be one and a half, which is even yet a little low for narrow streets, which in New York, on account of their location, are and probably will be used largely for warehouse and storage purposes, yet on the wide streets ranging as high as 200 ft. there might as well be no height limit at all, as far as the fire department and the distribution of land values and population go.

The device of using the square root of the street width as the variable and a constant factor of 12 gives a commercially reasonable height to buildings on the narrow as well as the wide streets, as indicated on the annexed diagrams.

Permitting on the top of buildings three stories stepped back under the 60 degree inclined plane gives a certain latitude to the cube without materially affecting the light and air conditions of the street and opposite buildings.

THE LUDLOW PLAN FOR LIMITING HEIGHTS.

2. Excepting corner buildings, no part of any rear exterior wall of a building shall be nearer to the rear lot line than the following:

Above the first story up to 50 ft., 10 per cent. of the average depth of the lot.

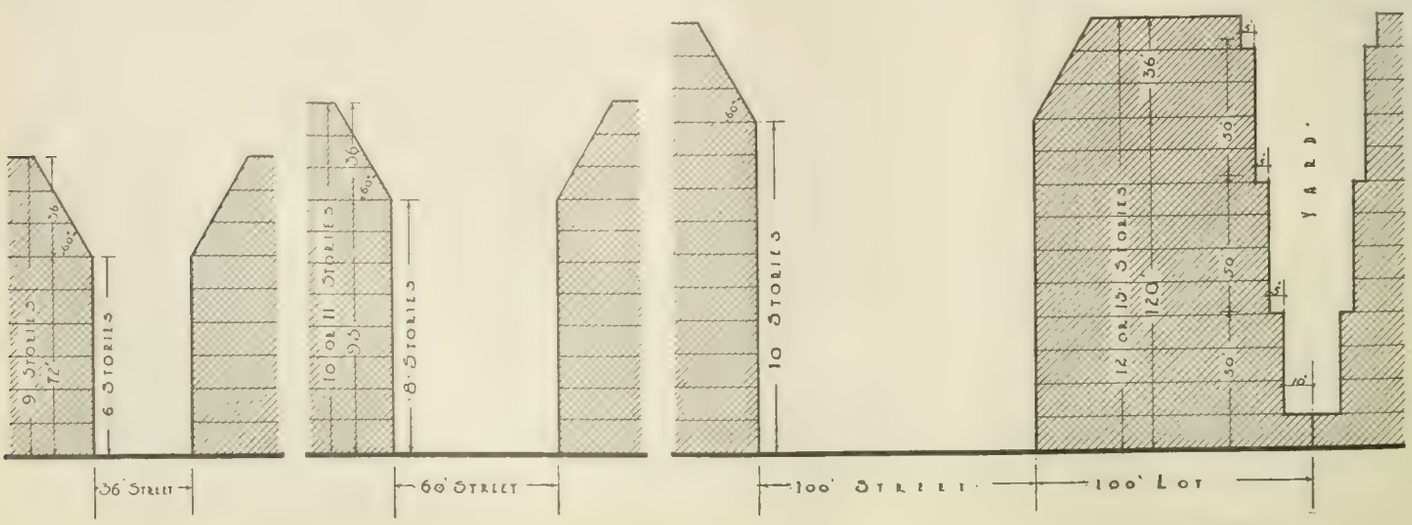
From 50 ft. to 100 ft., 15 per cent. of the average depth of the lot.

From 100 ft. to 150 ft., 20 per cent. of the average depth of the lot.

From 150 ft. upwards, 25 per cent. of the average depth of the lot.

Light and air requirements must be observed on the rear or yard side of buildings as well as the street front, although the space necessary is not so great. The diagrams show a simple set-back device, that seems sufficient, and applicable to all classes of buildings.

3. Corner plots, i. e., plots which embrace the intersection point of two streets may be considered as extending from the corner 50 ft. on each street front and of not more than 2,500 sq. ft. in total area, and may be built upon over the entire area to a vertical height not exceeding 36 ft. in excess of the allowed vertical height at the building line of the highest adjoining building.



This paragraph defines a corner plot and provides in effect that corners may be built vertically at the building line as high as the top set-back story of the highest adjoining building. This, I believe, will obviate the difficulty that might otherwise be experienced in bringing stepped-back facades of unequal heights together at a corner, and will make possible a good architectural effect.

On account of the advantages in respect to light and air, it is also quite logical to permit of building to greater height on a corner than elsewhere.

Towers Permissible.

4. Notwithstanding the foregoing, one-fifth of the total area of any plot may be built upon to any height.

Recognizing the usefulness of the occasional tower as an advertising asset and as an object of real interest and possibly of great beauty, I believe they should not be prohibited. Towers, however, should be so restricted that the temptation to build them in great numbers and of great bulk will be small, for in case of fire the fire department is almost powerless, and egress to tenants is most difficult. A city of towers, to my mind, would be a calamity. I do not believe, however, under any scheme this would ever be realized, as the tower is expensive to build and apt to be most uneconomical in returns to the owner.

BLOCK PERSPECTIVE, SHOWING PROPOSED HEIGHT LIMIT ON 100-FT. AVENUES AND 60-FT. SIDE STREETS.

5. For purposes of computation, all public squares and parks shall be considered as streets of like width, but in no case shall this width be considered as greater than 200 ft. Streets bordering the water front and all streets greater than 200 ft. in width, shall be considered as 200 ft. in width, but all other streets shall be measured from building line to opposite building line.

This paragraph sets an ulterior limit to all buildings, excepting towers, at a height of 170 ft. at the cornice line and 36 ft. higher for the set-back stories and corners, although, of course, this height is only possible to buildings in the favored locations of park and water fronts or 200-foot streets.

A Fairly Liberal Law Needed.

New York reasonably demands a fairly liberal law, due to the intensive development imposed by a long and narrow island, and an idealistic provision, such as might be suitable to a new city in an open territory, is impracticable and impossible here. I prefer to acknowledge the existing conditions, and neither try to get impossibly ideal results or to hopelessly give up the fight altogether.

These suggestions are therefore based on a moderate and reasonable, rather than a radical restriction, aiming particularly to provide a sufficiency of sunlight in the streets and rear yards—a cube that will provide for a number of occupants, such that the adjacent streets and means of transportation shall not become congested in time of panic—a proper distribution of population—a height such that the fire department shall not be next to powerless in handling fires—a reasonable commercial investment—and the aesthetic aspect of the city.

PROPERTY OWNERS START A REVOLUTION

Will Resist Further Oppression of Real Estate and Carry the War Into Politics—A Declaration of Principles and a General Uprising.

FOR years real estate interests have submitted to both heavy tax burdens and inquisitorial impositions without offering more than a moderate protest. They did not wish to attract undue attention from the investing public either to the disappearing income rate from real property in this city or to the annoyances to which this form of investment is being subjected from regiments of prying inspectors.

For the first time the representatives of New York real estate are making common cause for political action. When there is nothing more to lose, when the real estate market is prostrate, when taxation is at the maximum limit and inspectors' demands no longer bearable, real estate men are saying that the time has really come to declare war.

They have accordingly issued in behalf of the Real Estate Board of Brokers, the Allied Interests of the State of New York, the big building, investing and mortgage companies and taxpayers' associations a declaration of principles, copies of which are being circulated in all the boroughs for signers.

Real Estate Depressed.

Mr. B. Aymar Sands, the first president of the Allied Real Estate Interests, when interrogated for the Record and Guide, was free to say that nobody was buying real estate any more, and he didn't see why they should. There was no money in it. Nobody knew any more what a piece of property was worth, the appraisals were so wide apart. Second and third mortgages, which used to be considered gilt-edged, were threatened by the depreciation in values of the security under excessive taxation and assessments. The city's money had been spent unintelligently by men of no business sense; frequently they paid several times over what the parcels were really worth. Thus have they run the city so far in debt that it was up to some level-headed business men to pull it out.

The president of the Allied Real Estate Interests of the State of New York, Allan Robinson, said it was true what Mr. Sands had remarked, and that the time had gone by when real estate men could ignore the facts of the case. The movement now begun, he said, was not started by the Allied Interests alone, but represented the thought and action of representative citizens in all the boroughs. An organization with a special purpose would be formed when the petitions had been sufficiently signed, and this organization would probably work along political lines in the most effective manner.

Recruits for the campaign are being asked to sign the following pledge:

"We, the undersigned, being owners, mortgagees, lessees, agents, brokers, or otherwise interested in real estate in the City of New York, irrespective of our party or political affiliations, do hereby pledge ourselves to support the principles hereinafter stated.

"We believe that the paramount issue in the next municipal campaign should be over-taxation. The taxes of the city have enormously increased. The city's indebtedness amounts to nearly a thousand million dollars, and has almost reached, according to the official figures of the comptroller, the constitutional limit. The safeguard provided by the State constitution prescribes that the city must not owe more than ten per cent. of the assessed valuation of its real property. The law requires that such assessment must be fair and reasonable.

"The assessment of real estate has been increased within the last five years over a billion dollars, with the result that the assessed valuations far exceed actual selling prices in numerous instances. Such a condition becomes doubly dangerous because it affects the constitutional limitations of issuing bonds. Real estate in this city is now assessed beyond the point of safety, and unless means are found for immediate retrenchment and thorough economy the city's credit will be seriously impaired and the legality of its bonds become doubtful, so as to render them unmarketable.

"Opposed to Open-Purse Policy."

"We favor adequate appropriations for all requirements of the city necessary for the health, safety, welfare and education of its citizens. We are emphatically opposed, however, to committing the city to vast expenditures for projects which are not vitally necessary to the welfare of the community. We have now reached a point where future city expenditures must be restricted to actual necessities, and the money to provide these must be so expended that the city must obtain approximately a dollar in value for each dollar paid out.

"The city's indebtedness has increased over 250 per cent. in ten years, and the interest thereon, to be included in each annual budget, has nearly trebled in the same period, although the population of the city has increased only 40 per cent. in the same time. If New York continues indefinitely to increase its expenditures in such a manner, how can the city evade financial disaster?

"The city's budget has increased from $98,000,000 in 1901 to nearly $200,000,000 in 1912, more than doubled in eleven years. We believe that by the adoption of known standards of efficiency, strict economy, and capable administration according to modern methods of business, the cost of government could be enormously decreased without the slightest impairment of the efficiency of any municipal department.

Real Estate the Burden Bearer.

"We firmly believe that over-taxation is of essential importance to every citizen in its direct relation to the high cost of living. Over-taxation is reflected either in increased rents or depreciation of capital value. So far as it causes increased rents, it increases the cost of living to the individual. So far as it depreciates value, it affects the city's borrowing capacity and its ability to raise money by taxation for the necessary purposes of government.

"Real estate now bears 95 per cent. of all taxes raised for operating the city's government, and it has reached the limit of its burden-bearing power.

"In this critical financial situation we demand that the men who shall be placed in nomination for offices entitling them to membership on the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall be of the highest character and integrity and possessed of such business qualifications and practical financial ability as to render them capable of handing the financial problems which now confront the city. This is not a partisan or political movement, and we shall support only such individuals as fulfill the above qualifications, and we call upon all citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, to aid us in accomplishing this result.

"As an indication of our approval of this declaration of principles we have hereunto signed our names. (Dated, New York, April 8, 1913.)"

Prime Movers.

Among the first signers of the Declaration were the following named:

William H. Chesebrough, of the Chesebrough Building Company, and formerly vice-president of the U. S. Realty & Improvement Company; President E. A. Tredwell, of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of the City of New York; George T. Mortimer, vice-president of the U. S. Realty & Improvement Company; Robert Goelet, a director in the City Investing Company, the Equitable Life, and a large property owner; Robert E. Simon, representing the Henry Morgenthau Company; William S. Van Clief, of Richmond Borough; William C. Demorest, of the Realty Trust; B. Aymar Sands, of the American Mortgage Company; Joseph Buttenweiser, and Alfred Marling.

FIRE ORDERS UPHELD.

Mr. Kaye Convicted Again for Not Installing Sprinklers.

THE criminal prosecution of Charles Kaye for refusing to comply with a fire prevention order requiring the installation of an automatic sprinkler equipment in the twelve-story loft building, 30-36 West 26th street, resulted in his conviction by Justices Morse, O'Keefe and Zeller in the Court of Special Sessions on April 14. Asst. Corporation Counsel MacNulty, who conducted the case against Mr. Kaye, suggested that, as the real object of the prosecution was to require the defendant to safeguard the hundreds of occupants of his building against the happening of such another disaster as the "Triangle" fire, this end could better be accomplished by suspending sentence, on condition that the building should be forthwith equipped with automatic sprinklers, than by fining or imprisoning its owner.

Carlisle Norwood, Esq., counsel for Mr. Kaye, objected to the proposition on the ground that the suspension of sentence would preclude the defendant from taking an appeal from the conviction, which course, he said, it was his purpose to pursue without delay. The court, therefore, sustained the objection and imposed a nominal fine of $25 upon the defendant, subject to the right of appeal, which will be speedily exercised.

A Battle of Experts.

This case is of peculiar interest to property owners, particularly as the building which figures in the controversy is of so-called fireproof type and of recent construction.

In support of his contention that the requirement of sprinklers in such a building was unreasonable, the defendant presented a formidable array of witnesses that included former Fire Chief Croker, H. F. J. Porter, late expert in fire matters to the Factory Investigating Commission, and his assistant, Mr. Himmelwright. But these experts were forced to admit on cross-examination that all the lofts of the building contained large quantities of inflammable fabrics, pine partitions and other combustible materials, and that in many other respects the fire perils of the structure were substantially identical with those that obtained in the Asch Building at the time of the holocaust therein.

On the other hand, in behalf of the people, Fire Chief Kenlon and Deputy Chiefs Guerin and Worth, with the chief engineers of a number of important industrial establishments, testified to the general efficiency of sprinklers in extinguishing fires or confining them to the places of their origin. The testimony of the State's witnesses was strongly corroborated by the warm praise bestowed upon sprinkler equipments in Mr. Croker's recently published book on "Fire Prevention," telling excerpts from which were read into the record by the prosecuting attorney.

Among the quotations from Mr. Croker's book was a statement to the effect that a sprinkler installation would pay for itself in many instances in less than four years through rebates of insurance premiums, because of the additional protection against fire afforded by such an equipment, and, in any case, the required investment would yield a reasonable return by reductions in insurance rates, besides materially safeguarding against fire losses.

Other Prosecutions to Proceed.

Concerning the practical utility of a sprinkler system against loss of life, Mr. MacNulty said:

"In the course of my preparation for the prosecution of Mr. Kaye, I made a careful investigation of the conditions that produced the Asch Building disaster. These determined to my satisfaction, I inquired as to the results accomplished by sprinklers upon the happening of fires in other loft buildings of the same type of construction and having similar contents and like occupancy. In the course of a most exhaustive examination of the records of the Underwriters and of the Fire Department, I was unable to find a single instance within recent years of the failure of an approved sprinkler system to prevent the spread of a fire beyond the floor upon which it originated.

"For this reason, and as no bodies were found upon the floor upon which the Asch Building fire started—whereas they were found in heaps in the lofts above it—I am convinced that no lives would have been lost on that occasion had the building been equipped with a standard sprinkler system. Since the disaster, an approved sprinkler equipment has been installed in the Asch Building, and while, of course, it has been wise to so safeguard against a repetition of the tragedy of two years ago, it is unfortunate that the wisdom of making such an installation was not gained until after a frightful demonstration had been given of its necessity.

"Obviously, the same means of protection against loss of life should be installed forthwith in all factory buildings containing highly inflammable contents.

"I feel confident that the conviction of Mr. Kaye will be affirmed by the Appellate tribunals. For these reasons, the prosecution of all pending and future cases involving violations of sprinkler orders will be proceeded with as speedily as crowded court calendars will permit."

Committee on Building Height.

The members of the Advisory Committee on Height of Buildings appointed to assist the Board of Estimate's committee, held an executive meeting on Tuesday afternoon at City Hall, elected Edward M. Bassett as chairman and empowered him to appoint a committee on plan and scope, to report next Tuesday. Mayor Gaynor and Borough President McAneny were present at the meeting. The members of the advisory committee, who are to serve without pay, are: Manhattan—Allan Robinson, William H. Chesebrough, George T. Mortimer, C. Grant LaFarge, Burt L. Fenner, Otto C. Eidlitz, Abram I. Elkus, Lawrence Veiller, and Gaylord S. White; Brooklyn—Edward M. Bassett, Edward C. Blum, J. Monroe Hewlett, and Franklin S. Tomlin; The Bronx—William A. Cokeley, and August F. Schwarzler; Queens—Robert W. Higbie; Richmond—Edward W. Brown. General City Officers—Lawson Purdy, president, Department of Taxes and Assessments, and Nelson P. Lewis, chief engineer, Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Official Visitors from Vienna.

Dr. Alfons Foramitti and Mr. Otto Richter, both of Vienna, were guests of Commissioner Murphy and Deputy Commissioner Mann of the Tenement House Department on Wednesday. The two visitors constitute a commission sent out by the royal government to study housing conditions in this and other lands with a view of improving living conditions in Vienna. Accompanied by Deputy Commissioner Mann and Miss Headley, secretary of the Tenement House Committee, they were taken on a tour of inspection of Brooklyn and Queens. The Austrian gentlemen being unable to speak English, Mr. Mann and Secretary Headley conversed with them in German.

A ROUND COURT HOUSE.

Work on the Foundations Will Be Started Next September.

The most general remark among the architects who did not win the court house competition, when it became known that the winner had designed a round building, was, "Why didn't I think of that?" Among the twenty-two designs submitted, Guy Lowell's was the only one for a round building, which in the opinion of the architectural jury is the most suitable style for a public edifice to be situated as the new court house will be.

The jury held in all eight sessions on four consecutive days. The competing plans had been hung on the walls of the Court House Board, at 115 Broadway under the direction of Assistant Secretary Alanson Briggs. The arrangements were such that privacy was perfectly preserved, no one being present at any time except the three members of the jury and a single attendant.

Design No. 3 the Winner.

The plans were designated by number only, and the jury did not know until informed by the Court House Board who the architect of No. 3, the successful design, was.

GUY LOWELL.

There being no other like it, Mr. Lowell's was the only one mentioned by the jury. That is to say, there was some expectation that with so many architects of the first rank competing there would be two or more of nearly equal merit, and possibly the jury might report more than one design. The Lowell design will be studied by the members of the Court House Board and their architect, Walter Cook, and when modifications have been agreed upon the design will be submitted to the Supreme Court judges for approval in accordance with the Court House Act.

Mr. Lowell will have about two thousand working and detail drawings to prepare, and it will be necessary for him to engage a larger force of draftsmen and larger quarters. His fee, which has been roughly estimated at $200,000, will be far from being all profit. In official circles it was said that his office expenses will amount to at least $130,000.

—The consolidation of the Bureau of Water Supply, under one head instead of under six independent heads, as formerly, resulted in a yearly reduction in salaries of over $300,000, and in the elimination of proposed works which would have cost the city about $1,800,000. The substitution of other work effected an annual economy in operating and maintenance charges of $200,000.

LICENSED INSPECTORS.

Recommended at a Building Code Hearing in Order to Reduce Costs.

At a hearing on the Building Code on Monday, with Alderman Herbst presiding, it was stated that the requirements for strength in the use of reinforced concrete were more stringent in New York than elsewhere because it was the custom to "play safe" here in construction matters.

The general subject under consideration was cinder concrete, and Ernest Flagg had been making a plea for more moderate requirements in fireproof construction. In reply to this remark he said that this desire to "play safe" had been the controlling motive in the adoption of a policy which had made what we call fireproof construction too expensive to use, except in a limited number of buildings of the better class.

It was a policy which, however safe it may make such buildings, had a direct tendency to make the vast majority of buildings that are erected here every year highly dangerous, for it acted as a premium on the use of wood and a handicap on the use of incombustible material.

"It seems perfectly clear to me," continued Mr. Flagg, "that the only road to safety for American cities lies in the general use of incombustible material for building purposes, and to adopt a policy which works in a contrary fashion is certainly not the right way to 'play safe.'

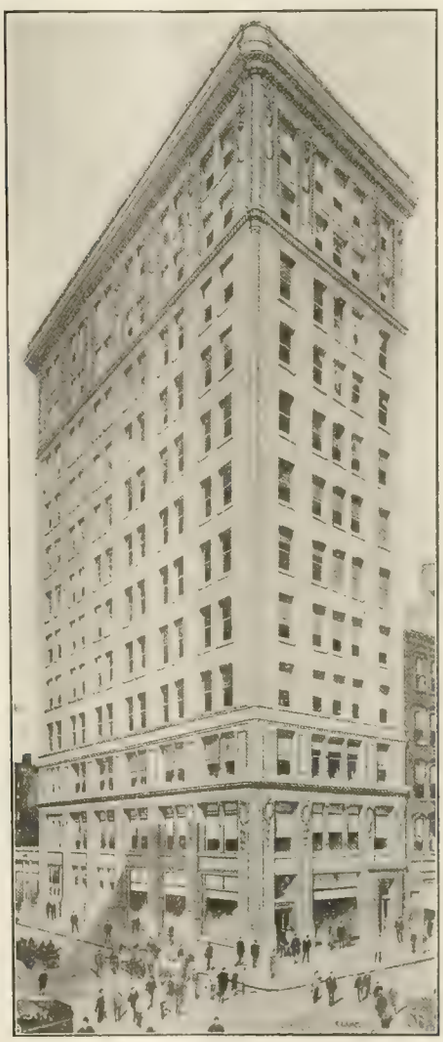
Requirements Too Severe.

"Almost any one who has had much experience in building with concrete knows that if these so-called requirements for safety were less stringent we might build safe buildings almost, if not quite, as cheaply as we now build dangerous ones. If we were allowed to use concrete construction in the way it is used almost everywhere but here, and if at the same time a perfectly proper and most necessary handicap was placed upon the use of inflammable construction by requiring thicker walls for buildings where wooden beams were used than for those where the floors were made of fireproof material, then wood would disappear; no one would use it because it would be against his interest to do so.

"The chief argument for the establishment of excessive requirements for strength is: that unless a very large margin of safety is provided, unscrupulous builders will slight their work, and buildings will fall down. It seems to me that this reasoning is entirely fallacious.

"If a man is determined to slight his work, he will do so no matter what the requirements are; and is it fair to make honest men waste materials for such a reason?

"Reinforced concrete is at the same time one of the most dangerous and the very safest kind of construction there is. If not used properly, it is liable to collapse; on the other hand, it is the only kind by which safety against fire can be had, for it is the only kind which is cheap enough to displace wood, the excessive use of which has made our cities the most dangerous in the world and our fire loss twenty times what it would be if its use was sufficiently restricted.



"I think every one will admit that safety in the use of reinforced concrete can only be had through efficient supervision. It is dangerous when used improperly, but highly advantageous otherwise; and it is greatly to the public interest to encourage its use for the displacement of wood. How can this be done?

"I suggest that the proper and necessary supervision might be had by requiring all users of this material to do so only in the presence of a duly authorized inspector, and that the cost of this inspection be borne by the builder.

Mr. Miller, Superintendent of Buildings for Manhattan, expressed himself as being in favor of Mr. Flagg's inspection plan, and said that in his judgment it might with advantage be carried further. He thought good results would follow the use of licensed inspectors on all new buildings during the whole time of their construction.

A Newcomer in the Clothing Trade.

Townsend, Steinle & Haskell, architects, have just completed plans for a twelve-story store, office and salesroom building, to be erected in the wholesale clothing trade district at the southeast corner of Broadway and 12th street, by the Eight Twenty-Two and Eight Twenty-Four Broadway Company, of which

824 BROADWAY.

Townsend, Steinle & Haskell, Architects.

Lewis Coon, 31 Nassau street, is president. The frontage is 43.4 feet with a depth of 125 feet, and the cost is placed at $225,000.

The building is designed in Italian Renaissance style with facades of granite, Indiana limestone and Roman size grey brick, with two upper stories of terra cotta. Window openings have been designed unusually large to insure abundance of light for the accommodation of offices and salesroom on the upper floors, particularly for trades requiring north light, as the plot has 125 feet frontage with northern exposure.

There will be two distinct means of exit, cut off by automatic metal firedoors and fireproof partitions, in addition to two high-speed passenger and one freight elevator. The building is to be equipped with automatic sprinklers.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE CASE.

An Injunction Against the Railroad Company Using Soft Coal.

Justice Page of the Supreme Court has handed down a decision in the case of George L. Willson vs. the New York Central Railroad Company that settles some of the questions at issue between the owners of property along Riverside Drive and the company. Mr. Willson, the plaintiff, is the father-in-law of William R. Hearst and owns a vacant piece of land at the south corner of 105th street and the Drive. He brought the action for the good and welfare of the neighborhood and not at all in his own interests.

He asked the court to compel the railroad company to remove its tracks from Riverside Park, as he claimed that the company was occupying lands held in trust by the city for park purposes. Plaintiff also asked an injunction against the company to prohibit the use of soft coal and other nuisances detailed in the complaint. The answer was a denial of most of the allegations. The railroad claimed to have a franchise from the State to operate and maintain its tracks. The plaintiff questioned both the validity of the franchise and the defendant's title to certain lands.

Will Not Try the Title Question.

Justice Page grants the injunction against the use of engines burning soft coal and against keeping cattle cars, but the court holds that this is not a proper proceeding in which to test questions of title and franchise, as courts will not try the title to property until it is disputed by someone claiming a paramount title.

The plaintiff was represented by Clarence J. Shearn and J. Bleecker Miller, of 203 Broadway. The latter stated, when interrogated for the Record and Guide that the decision handed down by Justice Page affirms the general principle of the liability of a surface railroad for injuries caused by the emission of soft coal smoke from its engines and by the standing of cattle cars on its sidings along Riverside Drive.

"It is a little hard to appreciate the reason for recognizing this liability and not declaring a similar liabilty for damages caused by the noise, such as bell ringing, or gas or cinders cast upon the premises which latter acts constituted the main causes of action in the Elevated Railroad litigation," added Mr. Miller.

"The question of the right of the railroad to maintain its tracks in its present position on Twelfth avenue was not passed upon by the court. It was merely held that plaintiff did not show that the land on which the tracks lay was part of Riverside Park. Neither was the question of the right of the railroad to maintain its tracks on land which was once below high-water line passed upon."

Building Bureau Notices.

The Superintendent of Buildings of Manhattan has inaugurated a new method of notifying owners as to their responsibility for the safety of their structure in cases where excavations are being made on adjoining property. Formerly notices were served on the owners to the effect that their buildings were, or were liable to become, unsafe by reason of the excavation. Hereafter a "precautionary notice" will be sent to owners in which their attention is called to the excavation and the requirements of the law, with respect to maintaining the walls in safe condition, are quoted. It is expected that much annoyance will be avoided by the use of these new notices.

BUILDING MANAGEMENT

SPECIALIZED BUILDINGS.

Their Advantages as Income Producers —The Cobb Building at Seattle.

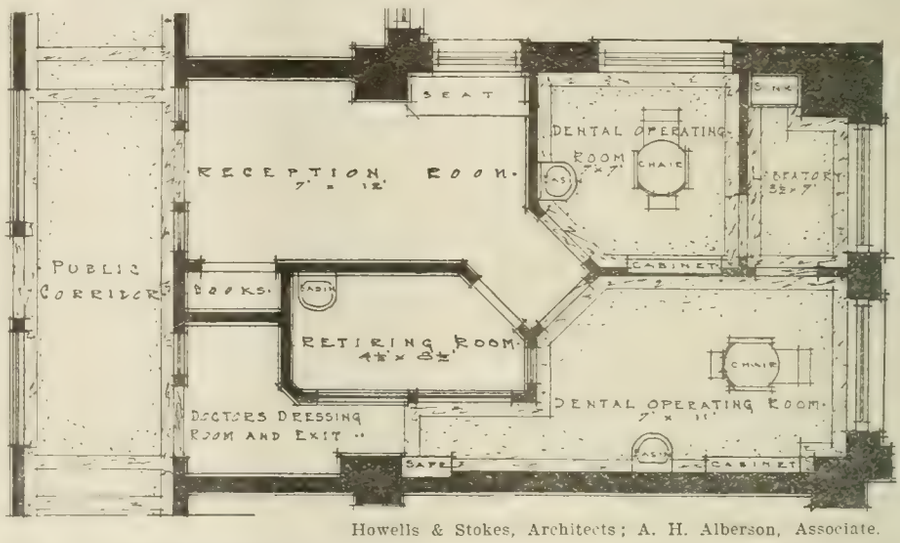
One of the most noted buildings in the country erected especially for physicians and dentists is, from all accounts, the Cobb Building at Seattle, which was erected by the Metropolitan Building Company. The manager of this successful building is Mr. J. F. Douglas, who describes the building's principal features especially for the readers of the Record and Guide.

By J. F. Douglas.

BEFORE we built the Cobb Building we spent about two years studying the problem of the Medical Building. Before we commenced construction of the building I visited most of the important medical buildings in this country. A member of our rental force also paid a visit to these buildings, and at a little later date the manager of our buildings, who has charge of their operation, visited the principal medical buildings. In addition to the services of our architects, Howells & Stokes of New York, we were able to secure for consultation the services of Charles E. Fellowes, who at that time was manager of the Reliance Building in Chicago. The Reliance Building was up to that time, and perhaps still is, the most successful specialized medical building in this country.

We had learned from experience that the type of building that is well suited to one section of the country may not be successful in another section; so, in addition to the study that we gave the problem in other ways, we made an extensive study of the conditions at home. For about six months we had a man in the field talking to the local physicians and dentists with a view to ascertaining the particular type of building that would be suited to their needs.

With all this data in hand we were able to prepare plans for a medical building for this city that has proved immensely popular.



The Cobb Building occupies a corner site 108 feet by 120 feet. It is eleven stories in height and contains 275 offices. At the present time 125 physicians and 48 dentists are provided with offices in this building. At this writing all the offices in the building are rented with the exception of a few small spaces that are parts of suites. These spaces are being held until they can be filled with tenants whose practice will not conflict with the tenants already in the suites. For instance, in one or two cases the space can only be rented to a dentist and in another case the space can only be rented to a specialist.

Equipment.

The Cobb Building has four electric traction Otis elevators, which run to capacity during all the business hours of the day. It is wired throughout with wires for direct and alternating current. Gas and compressed air are piped into every room in the building . A vacuum-cleaning plant has been installed in the basement, and the building is cleaned three times a week by the vacuum-cleaning process.

All of the offices above the ground floor are rented to physicians and dentists or to some line of business that caters to their particular needs. In the basement of the building there is a fine lunch room, barber shop, ladies' hair-dressing and manicuring parlors, a gymnasium, where physical culture is taught, and a medical bath establishment equipped with the latest and most approved fixtures. On the ground floor of the building there is a prescription pharmacy and medical supply house. Above the ground floor there is a dental supply house, a medical library, a public surgery, medical laboratory, X-ray laboratory, a nurses' association, an emergency outfitting company that furnishes supplies needed by physicians in emergencies. In all, there are 25 different institutions that cater to the needs of physicians and dentists.

We have found that in most cases tenants who come into the Cobb Building have not increased their rental, although they are paying us at least 50 cents per square foot more than was paid on the average in other buildings. The reason for this is that we have partitioned the space to suit the needs of the tenant. The operating rooms and consultation rooms and reception rooms have been made just the right size, and the tenant has not been compelled to pay for waste space.

Howells & Stokes, Architects; A. H. Alberson, Associate.

PLAN OF ELEVENTH FLOOR OF THE COBB BUILDING, SEATTLE. ESPECIALLY DESIGNED FOR USE OF DENTISTS.

Rooms of the Right Size.

To put the matter in another way: We have been able to give the physicians and dentists who have taken space in the Cobb Building 100 per cent. better service than they were getting before, and in a better building, with the very latest and best equipment, at about the same rental as they were before paying. This, as I stated before, is due to the fact that we partitioned space to suit the tenant, and the tenant was not compelled to take a lot of waste space.

A Dentist's Office on the Eleventh Floor of the Cobb Building.

In order that the readers of the Record and Guide may have some idea of the economy of space, I am sending herewith a plan of a dentist's office on the eleventh floor of the Cobb Building. In a space containing 350 square feet, a dentist, who drew his own layout, has provided two comfortable operating rooms, a good laboratory, a retiring room, a little private dressing room, and a reception room; all of these spaces are large enough for the purpose, and the tenant has not found that he was cramped for want of space.

Before the Cobb Building was built, many dentists used the same amount of space as is found in this entire suite for a reception room. Patients meet a dentist by appointment and there is no need of a large reception room, while in most buildings it is impossible to get a small reception room.

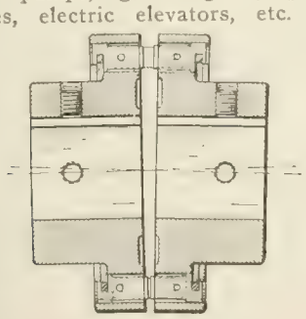
The Cobb Building has attracted the attention of building owners in all parts of the world. No medical building of any importance has been built since the Cobb Building was erected where we have not been asked to furnish data about our building. Only this past month we were asked by cable to furnish data about the building to some gentlemen in London who propose to build a building of this type.

It is not necessary to say that we are proud of the record that the Cobb Building has made. Any building manager who visits Seattle can well afford to take the time to look over the building. Any owner who contemplates erecting a specialized building can well afford to get further data about this building, and this we will be glad to furnish.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

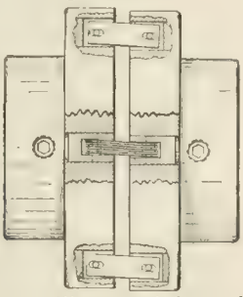
Estimating Tile Fireproofing.

I want to check off the cost of tile fireproofiing setting in a building I am erecting. How shall I go about this?



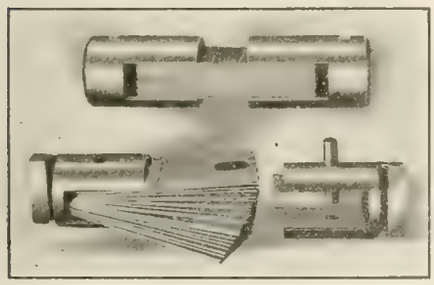
Answer.—Hollow tile used for floors or walls or for protecting steel beams or columns is measured by the square foot. It is usually purchased from the manufacturers on the basis of the square foot, measured in the work. The cost of laying should be figured on current bricklayers' wages, which now amount to 70 cents an hour, or $5.60 a day, and helpers at $3 a day. Manufacturers' quotations are usually figured f. o. b. Perth Amboy.

USEFUL APPLIANCES



Novelties, New Applications of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described Without Regard to Advertising Consideration

Misalignment Made Harmless.



Operating engineers experience much trouble due to misalignment with direct connected motors, engines, fans, turbines, pumps, gas engines, printing presses, electric elevators, etc. This misalignment causes wear and heating of bearings and shut down of equipment. The Francke flexible coupling, illustrated, positively eliminates this trouble. It is simply two flanges connected by flexible pins, which are made of spring steel, and they provide flexibility for misalignment in any direction.

The pins are illustrated herewith. Cut No. 1 shows how the coupling takes care of shafts out of line. Cut No. 2 illustrates shafts out of center. A combination of these handles any possible form of misalignment. The couplings are made in any size of, or speed used with, power machinery. They are sold in New York City by Smith-Serrell Co., Inc., general sales agents for The Francke Co., at 90 West street.

A New Floor Outlet Box.

Architects will doubtless be interested in a novelty in the way of a floor outlet box, which is being manufactured by the H. Krantz Manufacturing Company, of 160-166 Seventh street, Brooklyn. The connecting surface lies flush with the floor in the flexible wire coupling which permits connection at different angles. It is said to be dustproof. They were used in the Woolworth Building and the McAlpin Hotel. The company's new catalog fully describing this device is now ready for distribution.

Improved Tube Cleaner.

The problem of cleaning boilers is one that confronts every building manager and for that reason a device that is being put upon the market by the Liberty Manufacturing Company, of 90 West street, should be of interest to managers of buildings and estates. The device has a freely swinging arm head which has both a hammering and cutting effect and by this combined action reaches clear to the iron and removes every particle of scale.

The illustration shows the adaptation of the universal joint which permits quick cleaning of straight levels and curves in the tubes. This feature alone is said to reduce the time consumed in cleaning boilers even over the so-called power cleaners. The company also has a cutting scale reamer operated either by air or steam. This is illustrated above. When it is considered that boiler scale detracts from the efficiency of a boiler and also increases the cost of fuel, such a device would seem to be a short cut to better boiler service and fuel utility.

Keeps Screen Doors Tightly Closed.

The virtue of screen doors as protection against flies and other insects that frequently been lost in the fact that after a certain amount of wear the door fails to keep tightly closed. Heretofore the remedy has been to apply springs, which had to be held at high tension in order to keep the outside edge of the door tightly against the jamb. The accompanying illustration shows clearly the application and apparent effectiveness of a device introduced by the Benjamin-Sellar Manufacturing Company, of 557 Quincy street, Chicago. The principle of the device is at once apparent by noting the illustration.

The same company is introducing a new lock for windows left open at night, which is proof against even a burglar's jimmy.

A Ball-bearing Non-rising Butt.

The cost of replenishing butts in apartments and offices due to careless hammering of pins, when they rise out of their sockets, and the cracking of butts by reason of the doors getting out of true, is a heavy one. Therefore, the new Stanley ball-bearing butt, with non-rising pin, should be of more than passing interest. The ordinary type of door butt, with loose pins, has direct bearing joints. No matter how well made, this type of butt will gradually wear down, causing the door to sag and bind.

The illustration shows the basic structural details of the Stanley device. The butts have patented washers, each containing a number of hardened steel bearings protected by a brass cap from dust and moisture. Each of these steel balls will sustain a crushing load of 1,000 pounds, and as the entire weight of the door turns on these bearings it can readily be seen that the butts will not wear down under the weight of the heaviest doors. The protection of the bearings by the brass cap makes oiling unnecessary, a considerable advantage, as the use of oil tends to mar the high finish of the hinge and woodwork. Another feature about the Stanley butts is that all of the holes in the template are bored according to standards followed by metal sash manufacturers. These butts may be obtained by addressing the Stanley Works at New Britain, Conn.

Jersey City, it is claimed, has paid $1,400,000 interest on a loan of $500,000, raised forty years ago through a bond issue authorized for the laying of water mains. A choice, but not unique, example of municipal financing.

Now that the War Department and the Board of Estimate have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory pierhead line off lower Manhattan, our shipping will probably not be so keen about leaving New York for Boston as it was a few months ago.

Counsel for the Fifth Avenue Association estimates that the financial loss to merchants through the frequent parades along the avenue is upward of a million a year. Parades are a valuable means of publicity, but the cost of publicity nowadays is generally charged to the principals interested in obtaining it.

The pressure upon the money market coupled with uncertainty as to tariff revision, has induced a natural caution among business men. However, with foreign trade as satisfactory as it now is, and with the Balkan war cloud lifting, the outlook favors a period of rising trade activity, the influence of which must presently be felt in real estate.

The Machinery Palace, which is to be the largest building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, has been selected as a subject for illustrating the process of construction. An automatic moving picture camera, installed on the roof of an adjacent structure, will take a set of photographs of the building operations every five minutes, producing a record of ninety-six pictures for each working day.

The Real Estate Crisis.

It is devoutly to be hoped that the movement which has already been started, looking towards the more effectual organization of the taxpayers of the city, will be pushed to a successful conclusion. There is a special and very critical reason why the completion of such an organization is extremely important at the present time. Preparations are already being made for one of the most momentous political campaigns in the history of the city. Upon the results of that campaign will depend the fiscal policy of New York for four years. These four years will be of the highest importance from the point of view of the taxpayer, because they are the years in which the city will be paying for the new subway system without reaping any benefit from its operation. If the increase in taxation should continue, its cost would, under prevailing conditions, be met exclusively by the property owner and would be deducted from the value of his property; and if any such result should take place it would be followed by other and very serious consequences.

Already the increase in taxation has operated to stop the increase in taxable land values, and if it should continue it might bring about a general decrease of taxable values. Much depends, consequently, on the fiscal policy of New York during the term of the coming administration. It is essential either that new sources of taxation should be developed or that taxation rates should not be increased. The only way in which these truths can be brought home with sufficient force to the voters of the city is by means of an organization which might itself swing a substantial number of votes, and which will make it its peculiar business to convince public opinion of the evils and dangers of the existing situation.

The Record and Guide knows only too well that many futile attempts have been made in the past to weld the property owners of New York into an organization which could authoritatively and effectually represent their interests. But we cannot help hoping and anticipating that the present occasion will prove to be more propitious than any which has preceded it. During a period of increasing rents and values, it is difficult to convince the owners of real estate that it is necessary to spend the time and money which an effectual organization would demand. But as soon as they can be convinced that a strong association is indispensable, not for the purpose of adding to their gains, but for that of protecting their existing property, there would be a much better foundation for the formation of a strong, capable and representative association. The attempt to do so is, consequently, very well worth making, and the men who are undertaking it are exceptionally well qualified for the task.

The first duty of that association would be to bring home to public opinion during the coming campaign the necessity of either reducing expenses or of developing some new sources of taxation. The voters of New York have never been very much interested in municipal economy, because they do not feel the effects of municipal extravagance. They are never directly conscious of the actual sting of an increase in taxation. Some of the burden of such an increase is under ordinary conditions shifted to their shoulders, but they are not aware of it. A particularly energetic effort is, consequently, required to make them understand how dangerous the situation has gradually become, and how injurious its effect may soon be upon the prosperity of the city. It is essential that the issue should be forced to the front during the campaign, and that candidates of all parties should be pledged to an improvement in the fiscal system of the city.

There can be no doubt that sooner or later the property owners of New York will be obliged to form an effective organization to protect and to advance their own interests. The conditions which have brought about the enormous municipal expenditures of recent years and the consequent increase in taxation are not ephemeral. They are the result of the increasing responsibilities which the administration of New York, like the administration of progressive cities all over the world, has been obliged to assume. In the future these responsibilities will increase, rather than diminish. It is inevitable that they should increase; and, if New York is to become a wholesome and interesting place in which to live, it is also desirable that they should increase. Yet, one thing is certain: new responsibilities, involving new municipal expenditures, cannot be assumed unless some better policy of paying for them is adopted.

New York has gone on adding to its public functions and its municipal budget, but it has not effected at the same time a fiscal reorganization which would enable it to assume these new tasks without any excessive strain. It has carried over to a period of responsible municipal government the same wasteful methods of spending and collecting its money that prevailed during a period of irresponsible municipal government. Formerly these wasteful methods did not make so very much difference, because the expenditures of the city formed only a small part of the total income, which could be devoted without inconvenience to the city treasury. But now the expenditures of the city are absorbing a much larger proportion of the total income, and we are rapidly approaching a point at which taxable land values may undergo a general decrease. Taxpayers will, consequently, be forced to combine, and, when they do so, their object should be, not to convert a progressive into a reactionary municipal policy, but to make the city's fiscal system and its business organization as modern as its program of economic and social legislation.

The Court House Competition.

The result of the competition for the honor of designing the new Court House was a distinct surprise. Few people who are familiar with the work of contemporary American architects would have anticipated that Mr. Guy Lowell of Boston would have emerged victorious among such a strong group of competitors. Mr. Lowell does, of course, stand very well in his profession, but he has designed only one monumental building of any importance, viz., the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; and that building, while its plan is said to be admirable, has not generally been estimated as a conspicuous architectural success.

The subsequent publication of a perspective and plan of Mr. Lowell's proposed court house indicates, however, that the jury may well have made an eminently proper selection. The architect has managed to design a highly original structure, without departing from the classic tradition imposed upon the designers of all such public edifices. It promises to be monumental in the most complete sense of the word—that is, to be a somewhat severely noble and dignified example of pure architectural form; but at the same time it may well have the merit, in which many successful American public monuments are lacking, of making a lively appeal to the popular imagination. A round building, occupying such a large area, and so unusually high, will be unique in its general effect. Really no precedent for it exists; and if the execution is as unusual and capable as is the general conception, New York will have the most architecturally interesting county court house in the country.

It is no wonder that the members of the jury were impressed by the originality and the intrinsic merits of Mr. Lowell's fundamental idea, and that they were unanimous in recommending the acceptance of his design. The doubtful aspect of the selection concerns not the appearance of the proposed court house but its plan. The difficulty of dividing up a large round building into a group of rectangular rooms, all the more important of which will be well lighted, is obvious, and must have cost the architect a great many anxious hours of consideration. That an unusually large proportion of the floor area will be wasted seems inevitable. This aspect of the matter should be carefully studied during the next few weeks by responsible city officials. The county is spending an unconscionably large amount of money for this building, and no effort should be spared in the attempt to return full value to the public.

THE WEEK IN REAL ESTATE.

Several large sales of the week indidate better than anything else could the interest of the investing public in real property. A conspicuous purchase was that, by Edgar A. Levey, of several holdings adjoining the southeast corner of Lexington avenue in 72d street, which together with the corner will be reimproved with a large apartment house. The improvement will mark a structural regeneration in the neighborhood, as it is improved almost entirely with dwellings. Inasmuch as a subway route is to extend under Lexington avenue, with a station at 72d street, other large improvements in the vicinity may be looked for during the next year; and, it is likely that the East Side will become a rival of the West Side in apartment house construction. The purchase by David Dows of the Surrey apartment house, while a notable transaction by itself, also marked the passing of the old David Dows country place at Irvington into new hands after one ownership of a half century. A salient investment phase of the market was furnished by Howard Greenley, an architect, who bought the house he was occupying under lease, in East 74th street. The Lenox apartment house, in West 71st street, which was taken in part payment for the Wellsmore apartment house sold to Mrs. Louise Livingston recently, was resold for cash, which illustrates to a degree the absorbing power of the market at this time. Another instance which illustrates a similar condition was the resale of the southwest corner of Fort Washington avenue and 161st street, a vacant plot 102.2x147xirregular. The plot, after three quick changes of ownership, will now be improved with an apartment house. It formed originally a part of the Loyal L. Smith estate. The purchase of a Charles street parcel by the Beadleston & Woerz brewing interests indicates that the Lower West Side is holding important property owners there. This concern will use the piece just bought as a site for a garage. The extension of Seventh avenue and the building of a subway are destined to cause the complete rehabilitation of Old Greenwich Village in which Charles street is situated. There have been other interesting sales reported from that part of the city recently. The Lower East Side also came into favor this week when the sale of a very old holding at 1 Second avenue and the sale of a plot in Grand street, at Pitt street, were reported. This week fully illustrates the ever changing wonders of the New York real estate market. In the Times Square neighborhood, in West 47th street, a long and extensive lease was made for restaurant purposes and $40,000 will be spent in structural alterations to the property leased.

An interesting transaction was the giving of a five-story tenement house on Second avenue, Harlem, in part payment for a large plot in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. This is the third transaction of the kind within a few weeks. It is unusual and would seem to indicate a strong demand for Brooklyn real estate for speculative purposes. A subway is to run from Williamsburg across Brooklyn and the buyers in Williamsburg in this instance will improve their purchase with large apartment houses. Our news column gives fuller particulars. As a matter of fact, Brooklyn real estate generally is in stronger demand now than it has been in several years. The movement is undoubtedly the result of the projected subway routes throughout the borough, that will give Brooklyn a status in the transit world it never has yet possessed. It is remarkable how well Brooklyn real estate has thrived in the past; and, with its transit burdens removed, real estate in that part of the city will necessarily show a steady upward trend of value.

Our news columns show that Long Island City is still winning manufacturing recruits to its area. Several large plots there have changed hands within the last few days. All of Queens, in fact, is moving steadily forward, and its manufacturing and residential destiny is that of one of the great centers of the city. The Jamaica Bay Improvement will hasten the commercial greatness of Queens, while its connection with Manhattan and Brooklyn by subways will promote its accessibility almost beyond estimation. For twenty-five years Brooklyn grew wonderfully as the result of the use of the old Brooklyn Bridge. Taking that circumstance as a criterion, what must be the growth of Queens, which is already linked to Manhattan by bridge and tunnels and which will soon have its general transit facilities amplified by subway routes? The completion of a street and sewer system in Queens is its most urgent need.

The Wicked Real Estate Owner.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

In your issue of the 12st inst., reporting the hearing on bills halving the tax rate on improvements in New York City, you refer to me as "chief advocate of the bill." Without submitting any arguments for the measure, permit me to call to your attention:

First, that associations with an aggregate membership of several hundred thousand in New York City have endorsed this bill.

Second, that even the opponents admit that the proposal would carry on a referendum vote.

Third, that among the endorsers of the bill are the Central Labor Union of Brooklyn with about 100,000 members, approximately one-fifth of whom own property; the Central Federated Union, and the United Hebrew Trades; the Metropolitan League of Savings & Loan Associations with a membership of over 60,000; civic and social organizations; the Business Men's Committee on Halving the Tax Rate on Buildings whose members employ thousands of people in New York City, including in its membership the following: Messrs. A. Augustus Healy, Byron W. Holt, Charles H. Ingersoll, George Foster Peabody, Sol. G. Rosenbaum, Frederick R. Seaman, John A. Sleicher; the Professional Men's Committee on Halving the Tax Rate on Buildings in New York City, among whose members are: Messrs. Henry DeForest Baldwin, Charles C. Burlingham, Henry Sloane Coffin, Edward T. Devine, Revs. Thos. C. Hall, John Haynes Holmes, Stephen S Wise, J. Howard Melish, Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf, Mr. Francis Lynde Stetson and Prof. Henry R. Seager.

Fourth, that representatives of these organizations have appeared at hearings in favor of this measure in the past, and that representatives of the Metropolitan League of Savings and Loan Associations and the Business Men's Committee on Halving the Tax Rate on Buildings were present in Albany for the hearing on this bill which was scheduled for Tuesday, April 10; Mr. Maurice DeYoung, President of the Brooklyn Central Labor Union, appeared at the hearing on Wednesday the 9th inst.

The Legislature has probably been stacked against this measure this year, but real estate owners had better be careful how they tamper with legislators, because when the people really get government into their hands they will not deal gently with real estate interests, which have manipulated Legislatures to date.

BENJAMIN C. MARSH.

New York, April 12.

THE WEEK AT ALBANY.

Legislature to Rush Bills Delayed by the Stilwell Trial.

The regular work of the Legislature was interfered with during the earlier part of this week by the trial of Senator Stilwell. A number of committee heaings were postponed, the notice of the change of date coming, in some cases, too late to be of service to the parties affected. Thus, a delegation of real estate men and builders from Brooklyn, who appeared at Albany on Tuesday to urge the passage of the bill exempting three-family houses from the provisions of the tenement house law, found the hearing postponed without date.

The acquittal of Senator Stilwell leaves the Legislature in a position to finish up its routine work. It was the intention to adjourn on April 19. Just how long beyond that date the session will continue seems to be unsettled, but it is understood that all important bills are to be considered, and that any bill which passes the Assembly is to receive attention in the Senate. It is probable, therefore, that the Mechanics' Lien Bill drawn by J. Charles Weschler, which passed the Assembly and which is one of the most important measures still before the Legislature, will be finally sent to the Governor.

This bill radically amends the Mechanics' Lien Law by providing (1) that all liens shall have an equal standing before the court, regardless of the order of their being filed: (2) that no lien shall be filed without the nature of the default having first been shown; (3) that if three-fourths of the creditors agree on a settlement, the settlement becomes binding upon the creditors who have withheld their consents. The clause relating to the settlement of claims is in harmony with the Federal bankruptcy act. The bill is approved by lending institutions, building loan operators, and material men.

Senate Bill No. 1839 (Int. 1495) by Mr. Sullivan, to amend the Greater New York charter in relation to the Fire Department, was discussed locally by interested organizations. The bill provides that a duplicate set of all plans filed with the Building Department must be also filed with the Fire Department. Building Superintendent Rudolph P. Miller expressed himself on the bill in the following interview:

Sullivan Bill Opposed by Building Superintendent Miller.

"It seems to me the purpose of this bill is merely to further establish the jurisdiction of the Fire Department over matters formerly under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Buildings. If the Corporation Counsel's interpretation of the Hoey Law is correct, I cannot see that there is any great harm in the passage of this bill. Personally, however, I believe that the Corporation Counsel has read into the Hoey Law certain authority and jurisdiction over building matters which that law does not actually contain, or which I do not think it was the purpose of the law originally to grant. I refer especially to the jurisdiction over the sections of the Building Code regulating construction of fireproof buildings, fireproofing, fire walls, fireproof partitions, etc., as given in the Corporation Counsel's opinion of June 4, 1912.

"Of course, until the matter can be tested out in some way, the Corporation Counsel's opinion must guide us in the enforcement of the law. If I am right in my interpretation of the Hoey Law, then I believe the addition to Section 775 of the Charter, as proposed in this bill, is not wise, because under this proposed bill, the jurisdiction of the Fire Department over the matters just mentioned seems to be made positive. I refer more particularly to lines Nos. 9, 10 and 11 of page 4 of the bill.

"I never did believe that the enactment of the Hoey Law was wise legislation and I do not believe that the increasing of the Fire Department's powers and jurisdiction over building construction is wise. It is certainly creating further difficulties for the builders and architects when they must submit plans to another department. Of course, I think it is perfectly proper that the Fire Commissioner should have the right to ask for plans where considerable work is involved in the carrying out of some of his orders."

Charles H. Parsons.

Charles H. Parsons, first vice-president of the American Hardware Corporation, died of pneumonia at his home, 310 West Main street, New Britain, Conn., last Sunday, aged 66 years and two days.

He was born in New Britain, Conn., April 11, 1847. He worked for Landers & Smith for seven years, leaving them in 1873 to enter the employ of P. & F. Corbin as salesman. When the general conduct of the sales department was transferred from New York to New Britain in 1879, Mr. Parsons abandoned travel and took charge of orders and afterwards of the sales, becoming the first general sales manager of the company. Since that time and until entering his larger field in the American Hardware Corporation, Mr. Parsons had charge of the marketing of P. & F. Corbin's products.

In 1883 the election of a new secretary of P. & F. Corbin gave Mr. Parsons additional responsibility for the conduct of the business. In 1891 he was made a director and since that time he has successively been elected to the offices of second vice-president, first vice-president, and president of P. & F. Corbin. In 1912, when the American Hardware Corporation was formed, Mr. Parsons was made a director and assistant treasurer in addition to his duties as an executive officer of P. & F. Corbin. He was later made second vice-president, and at the death of Philip Corbin was elected first vice-president of the American Hardware Corporation and placed in charge of the sales, which office he held at the time of his death.

His oldest son, Charles B. Parsons, succeeded his father at the head of the P. & F. Corbin business, when Mr. Parsons was made first vice-president of the American Hardware Corporation. Howard S. Parsons is also identified with the P. & F. Corbin division as salesman in New England, covering in part the territory which his father had at the beginning of his engagement.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Exchange Elects A. V. C. Genung, Jr., President, and Moves into the Woolworth Building.

To Open Its Doors to Supply Interests in the Entire Metropolitan District—Steel Pipe Moves Up a Dollar a Ton—Brick Inactive.

THE election this week of A. V. C. Genung, Jr., of Newark, as president of the Building Material Exchange, succeeding A. Wilfred Tuthill, of the Sayre & Fisher Company, inaugurates a wider scope of usefulness for this institution which closes its year with $12,000 cash in the treasury and no liabilities. Heretofore the exchange has limited its field to New York City and those suburban districts having large business interests in the New York building material supply market. Hereafter, the Exchange will cover the entire metropolitan district as far west as New Brunswick and as far north as Paterson in New Jersey, all of Staten Island, practically all of Westchester and Nassau and Suffolk counties in Long Island.

The new president is pledged to carry out the recommendations made by the retiring president which embraces a plan to make of the Building Material Exchange a combined business and social organization and to give it a rating as a "club-exchange" somewhat on the plan of the Hardware, Machinery and similar clubs and to this end, quarters have been leased on the tenth floor of the Woolworth building into which the exchange will move from its present suite in the Post building in Vesey street on May first.

The volume of current business reported on the floor of the exchange this week was somewhat below normal. The cause was ascribed purely to local conditions; a week of rain, seasonable retraction among builders and prospective operators and the slowness of delivery of steel owing to the congestion of freight in Pennsylvania pending the reopening of traffic from the mills to this market.

The demand for common brick was light and prices weakened somewhat on Tuesday and Wednesday, but recovered some strength on Thursday, only on inquiry however. Current prices for Hudsons ran from $6.87½ to $7.25 a thousand and from $7 to $7.25 for Raritans. There is plenty of brick available for immediate consumption in both the Raritan and Hudson valleys which probably will keep prices at about the same position for a week or two.

Portland cement is in better inquiry, but conditions have not yet warranted the further advance of ten cents, which the trade generally expected would be announced before this. The mill supply is not large.

Lath and shingles are stiffening again, but no general advance on list has been made. In one or two instances where certain grades have been in demand and supplemental orders have come in, the price has moved up slightly. Hardwood interests report an exceptional demand for June, July and August delivery. Pine and spruce are firming and concrete mold material is stiffening owing to difficulty in getting material from manufacturing centers.

Steel pipe has been advanced a dollar a ton by the National Tube Company, but iron pipe stands steady, at present. It is possible that iron pipe manufacturers will move their prices up in the near future. Fabricators are actively in the market for new business.

COAL PRODUCERS OVERSOLD.

Consumers Slow to Act on Spring Discounts.

COAL producers are generally reported to be oversold and dealers here say that consumers have been slow to take advantage of the spring discounts. As far as the New York market is concerned there is a large quantity of left over coal in the hands of dealers, but big distributors supplying buildings and factories reported that some of the producers are having trouble to make shipments because of the pressure of freight tied up since the coal carrying roads were unable to move business as a result of the floods. The result is that instead of being troubled by a surplus, many shippers are actually behind their orders. A prominent coal distributor said this week:

"It is to be expected that there will be some retrenchment in coal consuming lines until such time as the ultimate character of the tariff legislation can be determined. The fact that the wool schedule has so far held close to the policy of the administration means that business will get a gauge on tariff legislation much earlier than was the case when the Payne-Aldrich act was under consideration. Of course whenever there is any retrenchment in manufacturing it is immediately reflected in almost every other line, and even residential and commercial buildings are not exempt.

"We coal people feel any retrenchment almost immediately. It is true that consumers have not been quick to take up the spring discounts, but on the other hand it has been fortunate for us because we have had trouble in getting coal enough to meet the demand as it was. I think that any falling off in the volume of coal consumed in the Metropolitan district is not due so much to retrenchment because of tariff agitation, but rather to a left over supply in building bunkers and factory store yards as a result of the heavy buying movement that took place during the latter part of the winter, when large quantities were stored in anticipation of extreme cold weather in March, which, however, did not materialize."

RAIN SETS BACK BRICK MAKERS.

Preparations for Reopening Yards Delayed—Demand Here Weak.

FOLLOWING a week of fair demand for common brick, six days of almost continuous rain not only weakened the selling market, but delayed the preparations of the Hudson River brick manufacturers for reopening their yards. Prices remained steady, for both Hudson Rivers and Raritans.

Official transactions for North River common brick during the last week, with records covering the corresponding week last year, follow:

FREE OUTLET FOR LUMBER.

Heavy Call for Concrete Mold Material—Lath Stiffer.

WHOLESALE lumber dealers are riding the market for all it will bear. They see a free outlet at good prices for all material available and a fair volume of prospective business ahead. Therefore lists are closely adhered to, and some lines, notably lath and shingles, are stiffening. Concrete mold material is exceptionally active, in fact, there are many who say that this lumber is in an exceptionally strong present and forward buying market. Piles are strong in anticipation of heavy municipal pier requirements, but this is not affecting the local supply. What stiffness there is is found at the mill ends. Hardwoods are in an exceptionally firm market and there is evidence of pending stiffening of prices.

The flooded condition of Ohio cities and the long period of reconstruction that will follow will consume vast quantities of lumber. The fact that many Southern mills have been damaged from the same cause does not help the state of supply very much, and local wholesalers here look forward to experiencing difficulty in getting supplies a little later on, and for that reason they are inclined to get all they can out of their lists on the current demand.

WESTERN OIL UP.

Advanced 2 to 5 Cents a Barrel at the Wells on Western Grades This Week.

THIS is the first indication showing that the general oil market is reaching a state where higher prices will rule.

The domestic demand for refined burning oil has diminished with the advance of the season, but the consumption apparently is of normal dimensions. Local prices of petroleum and products now ruling, follow:

Petroleum—
Crude, barrels, per gallon	—@15
Refined, barrels	13@13½
Tank wagon delivery	—@ 9
Naphtha—
Auto in wood	—@21
Auto in garages, steel barrels	—@17
V. M. & P. deed in steel	17@18
V. M. & P. deed in wood	—@21
Gasoline—
86 degrees	—@29½
74-76 degrees	—@25¼
68-70 degrees	—@22¼
Stove	—@21

The tendency of flaxseed prices at Duluth was still upward and a further advance occurred. This was reflected in a stronger market for oil here, although there was apparently little improvement in the demand. Oil was available at 45 cents and a light demand was reported on that basis. Current prices follow:

Linseed—City raw, American seed.	$0.47@ $0.48
City, boiled, American seed	0.48@ 0.49
Out of town, raw, Amer. seed	0.47@ 0.48
Raw, Calcutta seed	0.65@ —
Linseed cake—tons	24.00@ 25.00
Linseed meal—tons	28.00@ 29.00

STEEL COMPETITION KEENER.

National Tube Co. Advances Steel Pipe $1—Iron Pipe May Follow.

THE demand for steel pipe has developed considerable strength in the last two weeks, and as a result the National Tube Company announces an advance of $1 a ton in its price for merchant lines. This affects practically all kinds of steel pipe, but iron pipe is also stiffening and in increase in price is expected to be listed at any time. Fabricators are a little more actively in the market, prominent among the week's contracts being that to the Passaic Steel Company for 500 tons of structural shapes for an apartment building in West 51st street, and also to A. E. Norton & Co. who have the contract for a new loft building in West 32d street, requiring 800 tons.

MATERIAL EXCHANGE TO MOVE.

A. V. C. Genung, Jr., of Newark, the New President.

THE annual meeting of the Building Material Exchange resulted in the election of A. V. C. Genung, Jr., of the firm of Cook & Genung, masons' supply dealers, of Newark, as president. In the report of the retiring president, A. W. Tuthill, the recommendation is made to terminate the lease on the present quarters in the Evening Post Building, and to remove the exchange to more commodious quarters on the tenth floor of the Woolworth Building, and at the same time to change the character of the exchange from one purely commercial to an organization carrying with it the social side of the building material dealers and to cause it to rank in importance with the hardware, engineers and machinery clubs. To accomplish this purpose it is intended elaborately to furnish the new rooms. This matter is in charge of the trustees.

Mr. Tuthill's report also showed that the exchange is on a very satisfactory basis and that it has closed one of its most successful years. The exchange plans to throw open its doors to building material interests not only in this city but throughout the entire Metropolitan district, and in this respect it is keeping abreast of the general trend in building material lines, to eliminate all geographical boundaries and to consider the Metropolitan district as the commercial City of New York.

To this end the new president, Mr. Genung, is pledged and there is every reason to believe that the scope of the Building Material Exchange will result eventually in bringing together the widely rent factions in the supply business.

At the suggestion of William K. Hammond, dean of the Hudson river brick manufacturers, who has always had the welfare of the exchange at heart, the entire membership tendered the retiring president a rising vote of thanks, not only for the work that he has performed during the last year, but because of the very encouraging and comprehensive report of the status of the exchange which he made. The following officers were elected:

President, A. V. C. Genung, Jr.; Vice-President, Joseph F. Miller; Treasurer, William C. Morton.

Trustees, A. V. C. Genung, Jr., Joseph F. Miller, Wm. C. Morton, Edward B. Page, George A. Molitor, William T. Roberts, Elwood Weeks, Thomas D. Miller, Joseph C. Seguine, Daniel J. Morrison, C. G. Nickerson, Jr., John Wilson, Thomas Cumming; Inspectors of Election, James E. Clonin, Orin F. Perry, Walter C. Shultz.

The treasurer in his report showed that the exchange had assets of $12,000 cash, and no liabilities.

REAL ESTATE NEWS OF THE WEEK

Brokerage Sales, Leases and Public Auctions

All of the Boroughs and the Suburbs Show a Strong Tone.

Throughout the city, this week, real estate dealing was general and many large sales are reported. All parts of Manhattan contributed to the activity. Brooklyn shows a good total. The Bronx was in the reckoning. Queens is furnishing factory sites as well as homes; and its good roads system is attracting to it more automobile manufacturers who find Long Island City, especially, a focusing point for their line of trade. The suburbs of the entire city bristle with real estate sales.

The total number of sales in Manhattan this week was 32.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 14, against 5 last week and 14 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 18, compared with 24 last week and 16 a year ago.

From The Bronx 13 sales at private contract were reported, against 19 last week and 23 a year ago.

The amount involved in the Manhattan and Bronx auction sales this week was $1,445,765, compared with $1,389,000 last week, making a total since January 1 of $19,081,826. The figure for the corresponding week last year was $566,582, making the total since January 1, 1912, $14,873,656.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

Manhattan—South of 59th Street.

CHARLES ST.—Crist & Herrick sold for Henrietta Starr to E. G. W. Woerz, of the Feadleston & Woerz brewery, the 3-sty and basement brick dwelling, on a lot 22x102.2, at 161 Charles st, with a 2-sty brick stable in the rear, extending through to Charles la. The new owner will reimprove the site with a garage. The property was bought by the late Geo. Starr in 1864.

MORTON ST.—Chas. Laue sold to Jos. Hamershlag 92 to 96 Morton st, 609 to 613 Washington st and 628 to 634 Greenwich st, eleven old buildings, forming a frontage in Morton st of 188.5 ft. and a frontage of 75 ft. in each of the other streets. The buildings comprise 2, 3 and 5-sty structures, comprising the south block front in Morton st, from Washington to Greenwich st. Mr. Laue bought the property from the Jacobus estate 2 years ago. The entire plot will probably be reimproved.

WATER ST.—The Driscoll estate sold to Jas. Halvey 628 Water st, an old 3-sty frame building, on a lot 23.3x73.7, near Gouverneur Hospital. It is one of the oldest structures in the city, having been built in 1762.

WILLIAM ST.—Ruland & Whiting Co., in conjunction with the Chas. F. Noyes Co., sold for the estate of Geo. H. Jones 130 William st, a 4-sty building, on a lot 25x161.

depth through the block of 103.4 ft. In payment the buyer gave 466 to 470 Grand st, 2 and 3-sty buildings, on plot 49.10x100, adjoining the northeast corner of Pitt st. The property is expected to be improved with a theatre, which will be devoted to Yiddish plays. It will have a frontage of 38 ft. and a depth of 100 ft.

2D AV.—Pierre M. Clear & Co. sold, as brokers, to Wm. Goldstone the northwest corner of 2d av and East Houston st, four 5-sty flats on a plot 100x55xirregular. The immediate corner is known as 1 2d av. The Graydon estate has owned the property complete since early in the last century; and it was held in trust for the American Methodist College, of Washington, D. C., by the Patrick Clendennin Land Co. There is a frontage of 55 ft. in East Houston st. It is the first time that the property has changed hands in more than 100 years. Diagonally opposite the plot is the new Jewish National Theatre on which Jacob H. Schiff recently made a mortgage loan of $250,000, at 5 per cent., for a term of 5 years.

12TH AV.—John N. Golding sold for the estate of Marshall O. Roberts to the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Co. the west half of the block bounded by 11th av, 12th av, 35th and 36th sts, fronting 197.6 ft. on 12th av and extending east in both streets 600 ft.; also, a plot, 197.6x300, between the same streets extending from the west side of 12th av, together with the land under water. The railroad company had a lease of the property for many years. The company took title last Wednesday.

Manhattan—North of 59th Street.

HAMILTON TERRACE.—Moore, Schutte & Co. sold for Anthony Irsch to the St. Nicholas Avenue Presbyterian Church 58 Hamilton Terrace, a 3-sty and basement dwelling, on a lot 17x100. The Rev. Thos. W. Smith, pastor of the church, will occupy the same.

62D ST.—Mrs. Phillip J. Sands sold through Henry D. Winans & May to a buyer, for occupancy, 135 East 62d st, a 4-sty and basement dwelling, on a lot 23.6x100.5, adjoining the northwest corner of Lexington av.

65TH ST.—Henry D. Winans & May sold for Frederic Bull to a buyer, for occupancy, 31 East 65th st, a 4-sty and basement dwelling, on a lot 21x82.5, 87 ft. east of Madison av.

71ST ST.—Bing & Bing resold to the Lahey Co. (Wm. and Jos. Lahey) 114 and 116 East 71st st, a 7-sty elevator apartment house, known as Lenox Court, on a plot 50x100.5. It is a cash transaction and a free and clear property. It is also one of the properties taken in exchange last week for the Wellsmore apartment house that was sold to Mrs. Louise Livingston.

72D ST.—Pease & Elliman sold for Geo. Thompson to Edgar A. Levey 152 East 72d st, a 5-sty business building, on a lot 20x74.4, adjoining the southeast corner of Lexington av; also for Cornelius W. Clark to Edgar A. Levey 154 and 156 East 72d st, two old dwellings, on a plot 30x74.4. Mr. Levey already owned the immediate corner house, which he bought some time ago from Dr. B. Farquhar Curtis. Now in control of a plot fronting 104.4 ft. on the avenue and 80 ft. in the street, Mr. Levey will reimprove same with a 12-sty apartment house.

74TH ST.—Howard Greenley, an architect, has exercised an option to purchase his present home, at 167 East 74th st, a 4-sty American basement dwelling, on lot 20.5x102.2, between 3d and Lexington avs. Mr. Greenley last April took a lease of the property for one year from the Hyde Realty Co., with the privilege of buying it for a specified sum within that period.

79TH ST.—Francis Cohn sold to Lowenfeld & Prager 116 East 79th st, a 4-sty dwelling, on a lot 18x102.2.

82D ST.—Douglas L. Elliman & Co. sold for the Frontenac Realty Co., Samuel A. Herzog, president, to David Dows, 122 to 128 East 82d st, a new 9-sty elevator apartment house, on a plot 75x102.2, between Park and Lexington avs, known as the Surrey. In part payment Mr. Dows gave the Dows country estate, at Irvington-on-Hudson, comprising a large stone mansion, barn and numerous outbuildings on 34 acres of land, 8½ acres of which are under water. The property has been in the Dows family more than 50 years.

94TH ST.—Jas. E. Barry & Co., in conjunction with John J. Kavanagh, sold for Mary Barry to the Operating Realty Co. 130 and 132 East 94th st, two 4-sty single flats, on a plot 40x100.8.

99TH ST.—M. Rosenfeld sold for the Shenk Realty & Construction Co. 54 and 56 East 99th st, a 6-sty tenement house, on a plot 37.6x100.11.

112TH ST.—Max J. Klein and Ignatz Roth resold to Samuel Rapoport 19 and 21 West 112th st, a 6-sty apartment house, on a plot 50x100.11.

122D ST.—Meister & Bache Realty Co. bought from the Nassau Mortgage Co. (Bowers & Sands) 424 and 426 East 122d st, two 3½-sty tenement houses, on a plot 34.4x100.11.

127TH ST.—Enoch L. Miner sold through Foley & Hughes to Emma L. Griffin 138 West 127th st, a 3-sty and basement dwelling, on a lot 16x99.11.

114TH ST.—Chas. S. Kohler sold for a client 230 West 114th st, a 5-sty flat, on a lot 25x100.

FORT WASHINGTON AV.—J. Romaine Brown Co. sold for Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum to Friedman & Feinberg the southwest corner of Fort Washington av and 161st st, a plot 102.2x147xirregular. A 6-sty elevator apartment house will be erected on the plot by the buyers. The plot was originally part of the Loyal L. Smith estate which was sold a few weeks ago.

178TH ST.—Moore, Schutte & Co. sold for Mrs. Louisa Wagner 595 West 178th st, a 5-sty double flat, on a lot 25x100.

2D AV.—N. Herbert sold through Meyer Ellenbogen 2337 2d av, a 5-sty tenement house, on a lot 26.5x80, near 115th st. The property is given in part payment for the Trenman mansion at the southwest corner of Hewes st and Lee av, in the Williamsburgh section of Brook-

176TH ST.—Kurz & Uren, Inc., in conjunction with Green & Epstein, sold for Benenson Realty Co. the northwest corner of 176th st and Longfellow av, a plot 77x82, to Thomas Nelson.

212TH ST.—Charles Wetzel, in conjunction with L. Klosset, sold for the Menlo Realty Co. the 4-sty flat on a plot 33x100 in the south side of 212th st, 183.70 ft. east of White Plains av. The buyers gave in part payment 8 lots in 216th and 217th sts, 480 ft. east of White Plains av.

BRONX TERRACE.—The Realty & Commercial Co. sold, in Bronx Terrace, east of White Plains rd, to T. Innocenzo a plot 50x100, facing Edison av; and to Constantino Berardi a lot 25x100, facing Edison av.

BRYANT AV.—S. Cowen sold for J. Pollak to L. Bovier the plot, 50x100, on the east side of Bryant av, 225 ft north of Lafayette av. The buyer will erect a 5-sty apartment house on the plot.

CLINTON AV.—The Brown Weiss Realties sold to Carl Janke, of Boston, Mass., 2076 Clinton av, a 5-sty flat, on a plot 42x120, and also 451 East 171st st, a 5-sty house, on a plot 50 x100. In part payment the buyer gave a 5-sty apartment house, on a plot 50x100, at 119 Hemenway st, Boston, Mass.

GRAND BOULEVARD.—Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum resold the plot 95.39x129.41, at the northeast corner of Grand Boulevard and Concourse and 178th st. The buyer is a Roman Catholic church congregation which will erect on the site a structure to cost about $250,000. The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Co. was the broker.

GRAND BOULEVARD AND CONCOURSE.—Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum sold to the Catholic Diocese of New York the northeast corner of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse and 178th st, a plot of about 5 lots. The property was acquired a year ago by the sellers from the Church Extension Society of the Presbytery of New York. The transaction was made under a one-year contract of sale which would have expired this week. The property has a frontage of 129.6 ft on the street and 95.9 ft on the Concourse. Just below, on the southwest corner of 177th st, a new Presbyterian Church is nearing completion. The property is near the proposed station at Burnside av of the Jerome Avenue Subway, and within the past year there has been considerable building activity in the neighborhood. The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company were the brokers.

LONGFELLOW AV.—Kurz & Uren sold for Morton Green to a builder for improvement the northwest corner of Longfellow av and East 176th st, a plot 123x82x75.

MARION AV.—Kurz & Uren, Inc., sold for C. H. Werner to Matthias Haffen 2979 Marion av, a detached dwelling, on a plot 70x140.

PROSPECT AV.—The New York City Baptist Mission Society purchased from Mrs. R. Coffy a plot, 91x188, on Prospect av, 78 ft. north of Boston rd. In part payment property in Ritter pl, now occupied by the Grace Baptist Church, was given. It is understood that a new edifice costing about $40,000 will be erected on the Prospect av site.

ST. ANNS AV.—Benenson Realty Co. sold 773 St. Anns av, a 4-sty flat, on a lot 28x100.

Brooklyn.

CARROLL ST.—The Scandinavian Mission to the New York Home Missionary Society sold through J. D. H. Bergen & Son 158 Carroll st, on a lot 25x100. It will be used as an Italian mission house.

Loans on Concrete

Street talk says that it is difficult to obtain a loan on concrete buildings. Gossip, however, rarely covers all the facts.

Bankers should know that the risk on a concrete building lies only in the process of construction and hence in the ability of the contractor. They also know—or we can show them—that we have a clean record of economical, successful operation, which guarantees our buildings absolutely.

THIS METAL CEILING HAS CHARACTER

Beam Ceiling, Craftsman Style, in a Suburban Residence

A plain design—most effective as the "finishing touch." In Craftsman style, grained to match the effect of fine woodwork, it has all the advantages inherent to metal construction. No nails. All joints tongued and grooved. It does not shrink, swell or "craze." It is incombustible and does not harbor insects. Can be put up directly on wooden beams, flat tile arches or placed over plaster ceilings.

The real cost to you, of an ownership service, lies in its errors.

Each error costs youanywhere from $1.00 to $1000, in lost time and opportunity. We can furnish you with an almost perfect system. A really good service is very expensive to prepare and we cater only to those who want the BEST.

Write for seven exclusive features in the Real Estate Directory, any one of which is worth the full subscription price—more complete than ever. You should examine a copy at once.

A Directory of Commercial Organizations.

In response to a Senate resolution passed December last, the Department of Commerce has submitted to the Senate a list of the commercial organizations in the United States. This record, with a list of agricultural organizations, will be printed for distribution, provision being made for 1,500 copies for the use of the Senate. The list of commercial organizations was prepared by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, which for nearly two years has been collecting for use in its own work detailed information regarding such organizations, their functions, membership, income, etc.

The information thus compiled constitutes a directory of commercial organizations of the country such as has never before been prepared and it should prove of practical value to business men. In addition to the 1,500 copies to be printed for the use of the Senate, the list will be issued as a bulletin of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce (Miscellaneous Series No. 8). Copies of this bulletin will be sold for 15 cents a copy by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Neponsit Company Gets Award.

Justice Benedict, of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, last Tuesday rendered a decision confirming the report of the commissioners of condemnation in the matter of the city acquiring 248 acres of the land of the Neponsit Realty Co., at Neponsit, on the Rockaway peninsula for a public or seaside park. The property taken extends from the ocean to Jamaica Bay and the award is $1,316,458. The commissioners in the proceeding were William S. Cogswell, Clarence Edwards and John J. Goodwin.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

Figuring for "Professional Building."

Francis H. Kimball 71 Broadway, architect for the new "Professional Building" to be erected at the southeast corner of West End avenue and 72d street, on a plot 79x100 feet, thirty-five stories in height, is taking preliminary figures to determine the approximate cost, but final estimates will not be taken for some weeks yet. Work will not be started before October 1, and it is not expected that the structure will be ready for occupancy before April 1, 1914. The building is intended principally for the use of physicians, surgeons, dentists, chemists, oculists, architects and other specialists. Three stories will be under ground, the foundation being bedrock, while on the ground floor are six stores.

The floor plan shows eleven offices on a floor, eight of which are large and three smaller. The rooms are so arranged that they can be utilized individually or en suite. Four elevators will be installed of the plunger type, and two staircases are provided. It is possible that the top floor may be used for club purposes, with an elaborately equipped general operating room for the joint use of tenants. There will be a main court entrance for automobiles with a turntable on the ground floor, but no automobiles will be lifted to the upper stories. Pease & Elliman are the agents.

$600,000 Store and Theatre Building.

Thomas W. Lamb, 644 Eighth avenue, is preparing plans and will be ready to receive bids on the general contract about May 1 for a four-story store and theatre, 86x194 feet, to be erected at 201 to 215 West 123d street, at a cost of about $600,000. The People's Vaudeville Company, 260 West 42d street, Marcus Loew, president, Nicholas M. Schenck, secretary, and David Bernstein, treasurer, will erect the building.

Large Building for West 23d street.

The McKeon Realty Company, 430 West 32d street, contemplates the erection of a new building at 527 to 539 West 23d street. Although the exact nature of the improvement has not yet been announced, in all probability a large garage will be constructed there. Plans have been prepared but the name of the architect is withheld.

Lexington Avenue and 40th Street.

Hoggson Brothers, 7 East 44th street, owners, will start operations about May 1, for an office building to be erected at the southwest corner of Lexington avenue and 40th street, from plans by Goldwin Starrett & Van Vleck, 45 East 17th street. The number of stories has not been decided.

To Build in 25th Street.

A newly formed company in which Mr. A. Gordon, of 1133 Broadway, is interested contemplates the erection of a twelve-story store and loft building at 108 to 110 West 25th street, on a plot 40x82 feet. Definite information cannot be announced in this issue. No architect has yet been selected.

Stern Brothers Prefer Edison Service

A good way to decide which is the better of two methods is to ascertain what has been the experience of those who have tried both

A Case In Point

For instance, Stern Brothers, the large New York department store, have tried both Edison Service and a private plant. As a result, they are using Edison Service. This is only one of a great number of similar decisions on the part of large and small users of light and power. Why not look into this matter?

New Metal Column Catalog.

Catalog No. 11, issued by the Union Metal Manufacturing Company, of Canton, O., and with offices at 30 Church street, is available for architects and builders. The catalog is illustrated, giving considerable attention to the application of metal columns in suburban buildings. In addition to its standard sizes the company is now prepared to make up from specifications special columns to forty inches in diameter and thirty-five feet in length to sustain any specified load. The company is also turning out a special column for interior work, by rolling and fluting over a regular column one ply of 16-ounce copper, which is finished in either antique or verde antique.

Cornell Gets U. S. Contract.

The W. G. Cornell Company, of this city, Boston, Baltimore and Washington, has been awarded the plumbing contract for the new Boston Custom House, which will be the tallest building in that city, being approximately 500 feet high, which promises to dominate the Boston skyline for many years. The architects for this building are Peabody & Stearns, 53 State street, Boston, and the general contractors are Norcross Brothers, of this city, and Worcester, Mass.

The conspicuousness of his contract is symbolic of the importance to which the G. W. Cornell Company has risen in the few short years of its life. Starting as specialists in plumbing, heating, ventilating and electrical work, it has enlarged its offices in the Everett Building, Union Square, and upon the expiration of the leases of other tenants will ultimately occupy the entire fifth floor front of this building.

Almost half a decade ago this company began business with small offices in the building they equipped with plumbing under the architects, Goldwin Starrett & Van Vleck, and as sub-contractors to the builders, the George A. Fuller Construction Company. W. G. Cornell, the president, Edward Slosson, the vice-president, George W. Simmons, treasurer and secretary, are all experts in their line, and organized the company with the conviction that there is a place abreast of other departments of engineering for that of sanitation. With resources, equipment and wide experience in handling work of large character this company has been selected to make the largest installations in other cities as well as this, the most recent prominent buildings equipped being the Woolworth and Municipal buildings. Thompson-Starrett Company, builders; the Stern store, C. T. Wills, builders; the Bankers Trust Co., Marc Eidlitz & Son, builders; the Plaza-Copley Hotel, Boston, Geo. A. Fuller Co., builders; and the new Post Office, Washington.

The company's rapid growth soon made necessary the establishment of offices in Boston, Baltimore and Washington.

Continued increase in business here in New York has made the further expansion imperative and its facilities are now such as to enable it to render the most prompt and efficient service.

Wells Ironworks Expands.

The Wells Architectural Iron Company, of River avenue and East 151st street, has added a spacious drafting room to its plant, where it employs the best trained designers and draftsmen obtainable, the policy of the company being to have its work properly designed and planned at source of manufacture, not only for itself, but for its customers, thereby increasing its facilities for handling contracts for art metal work of any size.

The Wells plant is now completing the ornamental iron work for the Henry Phipps Clinic, Baltimore; railroad station at Jamaica, L. I.; Durand-Ruel studio, East 57th street; Park & Tilford warehouse, West 42d street, and the W. R. Grace building, Hanover Square. Among the recently completed buildings handled by this company were the 20-story hotel building, Philadelphia, Horace Trumbauer, architect, and the Samaritan Hospital buildings, Troy, N. Y., Geo. B. Post & Sons, architects.

Y. & T. in Own Building.

The Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company moved its general offices yesterday from 9 Murray street to 9 East 10th street, where they will be neighbors of the Record and Guide, which will be located at 113 East 40th street. This new location was selected by the company after long and thorough investigation, as the one best suited to meet the convenience of its customers. It is in the center of the up-town section of the city, midway between the two great railroad terminals, in the heart of the hotel district, and easily accessible from all parts of the city.

The site comprises a plot 50x100 feet, occupied by a twelve-story building, erected and owned by Yale & Towne and designed to meet their requirements. The entire ground floor is devoted to a series of exhibit rooms, which, when completed (about July 1st), will comprise the largest and most effective display of locks and builders' hardware which has ever been made, and which are designed to serve the convenience of architects and their clients, and of the firm's customers generally. In the basement, well lighted, is located the city salesroom, for the convenience of the local trade customers, and a large stock room. The company invites its customers to inspect its new building.

GARRY IRON & STEEL CO.

Chas. J. Dodge Establishes Local Show-Rooms and Warehouse.

One of the best appointed steel ceiling showrooms and warehouses to be found in the East is that which the Garry Iron and Steel Company, of New York, has recently opened at 521-523 West 23d street. The company, of which Charles J. Dodge, formerly of the Northrop-Coburn-Dodge Company, is the secretary, has its manufacturing plant at Niles, Ohio, and it was only recently that it started a selling organization here.

For twenty-two years Mr. Dodge has been in the steel ceiling business in this city, and in that time he has established a very wide acquaintance with architects and owners. The fact that a fireproof building was recently erected in the heart of the new steel ceiling center, namely, around 23d street and 11th avenue, prompted overtures between Mr. Dodge and the Garry Iron and Steel Company, of Niles, Ohio, with the result that a complete line of that company's products is now available in this market. In this connection it is interesting to note that Mr. Dodge is also the representative here of the Cleveland Economy Expanded Metal Lath, which was used throughout the new Grand Central Station and also in the McAlpin Hotel.

One of the distinctive features of the Garry Iron and Steel Company's products is the fact that it turns out a finished product which for excellence of execution should commend it highly to particular architects. The company is sending out engraved invitations to its customers to inspect its new quarters, which are fireproof throughout, and are arranged mechanically to facilitate quick handling of sheet metal of all kinds. The company is also issuing a new catalog illustrating every kind of metal ceiling manufactured by it.

JUDGMENTS.

Judgments are arranged alphabetically under dates filed. The first name on each line is that of the debtor, the second the name of creditor.

Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

D signifies judgment for deficiency.

* signifies not summoned.

† signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown.

Judgments against corporations will be found at the end of each day's list.

Cable Testing.

The largest hoisting cable in the world was recently put to a 364-ton test in the 800,000-pound testing machine used at the Fritz Engineering Laboratories of Lehigh University. The tests were conducted by Lehigh's civil engineering department in the presence of representatives of John A. Roebling's Sons Company, the manufacturers of the cable, and of the Spanish-American Iron Company, which has been using the big steel rope in the Pennsylvania Steel Company's mines in Cuba.

Special precautions were taken to prevent the operators of the testing machine from being struck by the shower of flying steel when the cable was torn asunder. Three tests were all highly satisfactory. A portion of the cable that has been in use for a year and a half withstood a pull of nearly 300 tons.

The construction of this cable was without precedent in rope-making. It consists of six strands, each of 19 wires twisted around an independent wire rope center, this center having six strands of 19 wires each, twisted around a hemp core. The finished cable was 7,810 feet long and weighed 125,300 pounds.

At the mines in Cuba cars with a capacity of 100,000 pounds of ore are lowered by means of this cable down an incline plane 5,800 feet long. Recently it was decided to ascertain the strength of the great rope after its year and a half of service, as compared with the strength of portions not worn, and three pieces from the main cable, each about 20 feet in length, were shipped to the Roebling works at Trenton, N. J. There special yokes were placed on the ends to make possible the tests in the giant Riehle machine at Lehigh University.

GIVING BUILDING CREDIT.

What the Builders' Exchange of Birmingham, Ala., Is Doing to Safeguard Contractors.

Some idea of the national movement now under way to regulate the extension of credit to building and material interest is obtained by a perusal of a resolution recently passed by the Builders' Exchange of Birmingham, Ala. After perusing the preamble of the resolution, the question seems to arise as to whether there is not room for a little more care in the extension of credits here. The shoe-string builder and the shoe-string dealer, while not as potent as they used to be a few years ago in local building and material circles, are, nevertheless, elements to be contended with and it seems that while the various trade organizations have been taking care in an aggressive manner of the sub-contractors, the builders and the dealers still apparently have little trouble in getting credit whether they have actual backing or not, and the result is that legitimate houses are forced to meet ruinous prices or reject business, and the general alternate is that the business is turned down, thus leaving the field to the shoe-stringer. The resolution which follows is published by way of illustrating how determined a stand the Birmingham Builders' Exchange has taken.

"Whereas, the giving of credit in Birmingham, as in the past, has been conducted in a loose, haphazard manner to men without any financial or moral standing, and this pernicious practice has become, and is, a menace of no small proportion to the legitimate contractor and building material men, bringing into the field men without ability or responsibility and leading to the demoralization of the entire building trades. As the duties and ideals of The Builders' Exchange are the protection and fostering of the mutual interests of its members, both individually and collectively, we deem it only just and equitable to curb this growing evil. Therefore, be it

"Resolved: That any person applying for credit to a member of this Exchange shall be required to give satisfactory financial and moral responsibility before opening an account. Upon failure to do so, a probationary term of six months on a cash basis shall be offered him with the understanding and promise that if the applicant at the expiration of the above mentioned term and condition has developed ability, character, etc., to do a legitimate business in any branch of the building trades, credit will be extended him at the discretion of the individual dealer."

Financing a Terminal Railroad.

Subject to the approval of a contract yet to be made, the Public Service Commission for the First District has authorized the New York Dock Railway to issue $500,000 in capital stock, of which $450,000 is to be preferred and $50,000 common stock. The common stock is to be owned by the New York Dock Company, which does a railroad terminal business in Brooklyn, and for some years has operated a railroad in connection with its business.

The New York Dock Railway was organized by the New York Dock Company interests for the purpose of operating this railroad, which crosses certain streets in Brooklyn and therefore had to have a franchise from the city. In granting the franchise the Board of Estimate and Apportionment assessed the company $6,250 for the previous use of these streets. The new company asked the commission to allow this payment to be charged against its capital, but the commission, acting on the opinion of Commissioner Milo R. Maltbie, refused to allow this, holding that the payment was in the nature of a fine for previous illegal operation and therefore not properly chargeable against the capital account of the new company. The proceeds of the sale of the new stock will be devoted to the following purposes:

Property to be acquired from the New York Dock Company, $383,100; new barges and lighters, $33,300; new railroad construction, $22,000; corporate stock deposited with the city, $5,031; payment to the city for local franchise, $5,000; organization expenses, $3,917; legal expenses, $26,904; working capital, $20,746; total, $500,000.

None of the stock can be issued, however, until the New York Dock Company has made a contract for the transfers or lease of its property to the New York Dock Railway. Such a contract has been prepared, and the commission is now holding hearings upon it.

Waterproofing Concrete.

The Imperial Waterproofing Co., Ltd., consolidating the Illinois Damp Proofing Company and the Imperial Waterproof Company, of 111 Broadway, is issuing a very complete and comprehensive catalog illustrating some of the prominent buildings in different parts of the country in which its waterproofing compound has been used. Space does not permit of a detailed list of all the buildings enumerated, but there is no doubt but that the scope of the work shown in the catalog is evidence sufficient to convince any architect that if variety of uses amounts to anything the Imperial Waterproofing Company's product at least deserves consideration. The compound is incorporated in concrete at the time of the mixing both in the walls and in the floor, and it is claimed that it will remain water tight against any head of pressure. It is also adapted for use in brick and masonry construction.

The Scotch Quarrying Industry.

Consular Agent William P. Quann states that although granite in the rough is produced in many parts of Aberdeenshire and other counties of Scotland, the city of Aberdeen is the center of the Scotch quarrying industry and the only place in Scotland where polishing is done to any extent. The average annual output from the yards is about 20,000 tons, mostly tombstones.

Heavy Electric Station Loads.

That the use of electricity is ever increasing is demonstrated by the continued installation of generating equipment in nearly all power stations, as well as by the steady growth in the number of generating stations in all parts of the country. In the more congested centers of population the increase is no doubt more rapid than elsewhere and the large cities of the country show a constantly increasing output with each succeeding year. The connected load on the system of the New York Edison Company in New York City now exceeds a half-million kilowatts, and is growing at a rapid rate.

The largest instantaneous load carried by any central station in the world has probably been experienced by the Commonwealth Edison Company, in Chicago, as this company supplies not only a large lighting and power load, but also sells a large amount of energy to the electric railways of the city. Each year sees a new maximum load on the lines of this system during the short days of December. While in a city like New York the maximum load, being determined largely by the number of lamps being supplied, is likely to occur upon a dark afternoon, the condition of maximum in Chicago is, on the other hand, determined by the weather conditions, since the consumption of energy in the electric heaters of the street cars is then added to the peak of the lighting load. The maximum so far in the present season occurred on December 11, a day upon which a cold wave was experienced in the city of Chicago. On this day the load reached the value of 232,950 kilowatts, a record which exceeds any heretofore experienced. The energy consumption during the 24 hours of the calendar day was 2,925,500 kilowatt-hours.

The power output noted above is carried partly by storage batteries which are used to cut down the peak load on the generators. However, the generating units are sufficient to carry such a load for a short time, since it is but in excess of their normal capacity, which is in the neighborhood of 225,000 kilowatts. This will soon be increased by additional generating units in the new Northwest power station.

Tests of Large Brick Piers.

Crushing tests of brick piers many times larger than any tested previously were made recently by the Bureau of Standards on the new 5,000-ton testing machine erected in the Pittsburgh laboratory of the bureau. Heretofore it has been known, from a number of tests on small brick piers (12x12 or 12x16 in.), that the compressive strength of brickwork is much less than that of single brick. But how far this conclusion would apply to larger bodies of brickwork was not known, i. e., whether the larger piers would prove to be weaker, or stronger, or just as strong as small piers. The recent tests were made to give information on this question.

When brickwork is subjected to compressive load, the bricks first break in bending instead of in direct compression, and the result is to form long, vertical cracks in the mass, passing through the end joints of one course and the breaks in the brick of the next course. In this condition the brick mass is little more than an aggregation of slender vertical columns 4 ins. square. Further loading produces a result which might be expected: the pier bursts or spalls. This result, which previously has been found for piers of small lateral dimensions, is now found also for large piers.

The crushing strength of the large piers tested is substantially the same as that of small piers (in pounds per square inch), and the manner of failure is the same.

The two piers tested were 48x48 in., by 12 ft. high. They were laid up directly on the table of the testing machine, and were tested at about one month (the second pier laid up after the first one was tested). One pier was laid in 1:1 cement mortar, the other in 1:3 lime mortar. The former was tested for modulus of elasticity when 16 days old (the test being confined to moderate loading so that the strength of the pier would not be affected); 15 days later, or at age 31 days, it was tested to failure. The lime-mortar pier was tested for modulus of elasticity and also to rupture at age of 25 days.

The cement-mortar pier failed at a load corresponding to 2,917 lbs. per sq. in.; an ordinary small-size pier of the same brick and the same mortar would be expected to show a strength of 3,000 lbs. per sq. in., in the Bureau's experience. This means that the strength of a large pier and a small pier is the same.

The lime-mortar pier failed at 757 lbs. per sq. in. The same brick and mortar in a small-sized pier would be expected to fail at 900 lbs. per sq. in., in the Bureau's experience.

Vacuum Cleaning Systems.

The United Electric Company, of Canton, Ohio, is issuing to the trade, architects and engineers, a booklet describing vacuum cleaning systems. The rapid growth and development of the vacuum cleaning industry have led to many inquiries from architects and engineers for definite information and reliable data. Therefore, the tables in this handbook have been compiled from long established data and formulae, together with such modifications as have been found to apply to the transmission of air through piping systems at a high velocity, under the influence of vacuum, instead of direct pressure. The handbook is presented in condensed form.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS USED AND RULES FOLLOWED IN COMPILING RECORDS.

Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed omitting all covenants and warranty.

C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given. When the date of drawing is other than in the current year the stated year is given. When both the dates are in the same year the year follows the second date.

The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1912

T. S. preceding the consideration in a conveyance means that the deed or conveyance has been recorded under the Torrens System.

Flats and apartment houses are classified as tenements.

Residences as dwellings.

All Christian names, streets, avenues, states and months are abbreviated when possible, also in some instances names of Banks, Trusts and Insurance Companies.

The number in ( ) preceding the serial number to the right of the date line, at head of this page, is the Index number for the Checking Index.

The Star following names of street or avenue in the Bronx Conveyances, Leases and Mortgages indicates that the property recorded is in the annexed district, for which there is no section or block number.

NEW YORK, APRIL 26, 1913

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT IN NEW YORK CITY

A Study of the Principal Causes of the 98 Per Cent. Budget Increase Which Has Taken Place in the Last Ten Years—Remedies Suggested.

By HENRY BRUERE, Director, Bureau of Municipal Research.

NEW YORK CITY'S gross funded debt is $1,122,690,042.75. Its annual interest and debt redemption bill, as shown in the 1913 budget, is $54,977,381.34. Its budget is rising toward the $200,000,000 mark, and its taxes continue to increase. Since 1903, as indicated by budget appropriations, the expenditures of the city and county governments including State taxes have increased from $98,119.031.10 to $192,711,441.16, or 98.43 per cent. In this time the population of the greater city has increased from 3,781,423 to 5,372,983, or 42.09 per cent. Obviously the outgo of dollars is out of proportion to the income of population. Mere growth in the number of persons to be served by the government, therefore, does not furnish a complete explanation of why taxes increase. From 1908, the year when the budget-making and accounting reorganization began, the annual budget has risen from $143,572,266.17 to $192,711,441.16, a 34.23 per cent. increase. Here again, the rise in the cost of government has outsped the growth of population, which in this period was 21.49 per cent. If the average annual rate of increase in the past five years holds good for 1913, the 1914 budget will be something over $205,000,000.

A Business Administration's Expenditures.

Five years ago Comptroller Metz announced that the city could be put on a self-paying basis, were business methods adopted. Since then it has been repeatedly proclaimed by men in touch with city affairs that the waste in supplies and payrolls approximated from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year. With the conviction that this waste could be eradicated the present administration went into office pledged to business management. For the past three years this administration has made the city budget. What is the result? The 1911 budget, the first budget made by the present administration was $174,079,335.16. In 1913 it is $192,711,441.16, having increased $18,632,106, or 75 per cent. of the $25,000,000 estimated waste of four years ago. Questions such as the following inevitably come to mind:

Who Is Responsible?

Who is responsible for this increase?

Was it unavoidable?

Have the activities of government increased in proportion to these increased expenditures?

Is the city now run on business lines?

Will city expenditures continue to grow?

These questions and others of interest to taxpayers and citizens who wish efficient government, this and following articles will attempt to answer.

It is only by analyzing the budget in some detail that responsibility can be placed for increases in expenditure. Let us begin with the budget for 1913.

The present article is the first of a series of five, written by Mr. Bruere at the request of the Record and Guide. The purpose of the series is to discover why taxes are increasing out of proportion to the growth of population. If the causes of the disproportionate increase in taxes can be ascertained, there should be no great difficulty in getting the men of public spirit in the community to cooperate toward obtaining effective remedies.

Mr. Bruere's first article, the second installment of which will follow next week, analyzes the increased cost of government, locating (1) the divisions of governmental activity in which the principal increases have occurred and (2) the causes of these increases. It emphasizes the important fact that the concentration of fiscal responsibility supposed to exist in the city administration is more apparent than real, as the Board of Estimate has "more or less jurisdiction" over only $85,000,000 in a budget of nearly $193,000,000.

The second article will discuss what will be shown to be a principal factor in the rising cost of government—the mounting bonded indebtedness of the city. The third article will describe present efforts under way to eliminate waste and to obtain a dollar's worth of service for a dollar's taxes, and results already obtained from them. The fourth will deal with obvious next steps for taxpayers to insist upon in bringing about greater efficiency and economy in city government. The fifth article will forecast tendencies in development of city activities, prospective undertakings and methods of financing them.

The budget is made up of mandatory and discretionary items. The mandatory items are those fixed by act of Legislature or those representing binding legal commitments, as the debt charges. An illustration of expenditures compelled by statute is the product of the three-mill tax which the city must impose for educational purposes. The discretionary part of the budget consists of items which the board may deny, but never does; as, for example, minimum allowances for running the necessary business of the city, and of items providing for the extension of activities or the enlargement of working forces.

By all odds the largest group of expenditures in the entire budget is discretionary in its origin, but becomes a mandatory charge upon the city once the initial step is taken, namely, charges for the payment of interest on and for the redemption and amortization of the city debt. The growth of the city debt charges explains approximately one-third of the growth of the total budget, as is indicated by Table I.

The Corporate Stock Budget.

In the 1913 budget the debt charges amount to $54,977,381.34, or 28.53 per cent. of the total. Problems involved in the city's $1,000,000,000 debt, of which the annual debt service appropriations furnish only a part, are so numerous that they will be treated in a separate article. It may be said here, however, that the present enormous debt service appropriation results largely from an utterly chaotic method of initiating and financing public improvements during previous administrations. One of the first steps taken by the present administration was the establishment of a corporate stock budget which, for the first time in the history of the city, coordinated public improvement authorizations with the actual borrowing capacity of the city. In 1909 at one time the outstanding authorizations for the issue of corporate stock amounted to $180,000,000 as compared with a borrowing capacity of $3,000,000. This condition the present administration has sucessfully corrected.

Deducting city debt services from the total budget there is left $137,734,059.82. The next largest single item of expenditure is for educational purposes. The educational budget for this year is $35,206,846.96. Of this sum $24,614,587.29 or 69.91 per cent. is a mandatory charge representing the product of the three mill school tax. Since 1908 the discretionary part of the school budget has increased $7,735,994.34, or 270.84 per cent. A part of this increase is attributable to the fact that except in the purchase of supplies no one has ever attempted to apply scientific principles of administration to the schools. Studies made as part of the recent school inquiry show that there is considerable waste in school management. An expert engineer, after studying the heating plants of the various school buildings, reported that an annual saving of $350,000 could be effected if the department of education adopted as efficient methods in the operation of the school heating plants as prevail in the buildings under the jurisdiction of President McAneny.

Neither of the central responsible authorities of the government, the Mayor nor the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, has full power to correct these conditions in the schools. The Mayor may remove the members of the Board of Education on charges, but this is a poor remedy when the administration is given over to part-time volunteers. The Board of Estimate can only recommend to a school board wholly irresponsible to it and which never yet has been organized successfully to control the business of school management.

If you deduct the $35,206,846.96 of school appropriations from the net budget after debt service has been deducted, you have left $102,527,212.86. Further deductions must be made before you reach the field of responsibility of elective officials; $7,947,031.96 must be taken out for State taxes, for economy in State administration, while largely governed by representatives of the people of New York City, is not in any way subject to the control of city authorities.

In the nature of a mandatory impost on New York taxpayers, the sum of $6,234,661.86 is included in the budget for county purposes. Nominally, the Board of Estimate has power to regulate expenditures of county offices, but practically the Legislature exercises this control. In 1912 Albany added $250,000 to the cost of county government exclusive of the Bronx County Bill, which if held constitutional will mean possibly $1,000,000 more in 1914.

In addition to these items, there are numerous others of a mandatory character, as, for instance, the city's contribution to the police pension fund, which for 1913 amounts to $1,264,538.34.

Has Jurisdiction Over 85 Millions.

With the foregoing elements eliminated there is left approximately $85,000,000 as the part of the budget over which the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, individually or collectively, has more or less complete jurisdiction. This jurisdiction is a collective jurisdiction in the sense that the board determines appropriations. It is an individual jurisdiction of the several members of the board in that they have individual responsibility for administering their respective departments.

The Mayor is the so-called responsible head of the city government. Popularly the Mayor is regarded as less responsible for city expenditures than the Board of Estimate and Apportionment which appropriates all funds. Neither Mayor nor Board of Estimate may in fact be held fully responsible because the powers of each are circumscribed. The Mayor has full power to compel economy in certain departments, has partial power in others, and only a moral influence over a considerable proportion of expenditures. Properly exercised this moral influence can be made very powerful. Indeed, it may be made to extend to every branch of the service whether under elective officers or not, for in New York the Mayor's office is one of commanding position. Thus the Mayor has control over 54 per cent. of the expenditures for city purposes through his power of appointment and removal. Tucked away in this sum are numerous items of a quasi-mandatory character, but practically all is subject to such standards of administration as the Mayor may prescribe.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has power to deny certain appropriations but no power to supervise their expenditure.

The Borough Presidents together are responsible for administering only 4.58 per cent of the annual budget expenditure for city purposes. The Comptroller is directly responsible for administering only .87 per cent.

Locating the Increases.

What have been the increases occurring in these different fields of expenditure since 1908? This question can best be answered by presenting figures in tabular form. Table II shows in summary form the increases in budget appropriations for the current expenses of the various city departments, bureaus and offices, grouped according to official responsibility.

Honoring Efficient Public Officers.

A notable gathering of citizens gave Mayor Gaynor and the members of the Board of Estimate, the Public Service Commissioners, William R. Willcox and Seth Low a complimentary dinner at the Hotel Astor last Monday evening, in celebration of the successful termination of the subway negotiations. The Mayor spoke for over an hour, and there were speeches by President McAneny, Judge McCall and Seth Low.

Five hundred citizens filled the great banquet hall, and a large proportion of them were men prominently identified with the real estate and building interests of the city. The following sat at the guests' table:

Justice Alton B. Parker, Mayor Gaynor, Mr. Prendergast, Mr. McAneny, Mr. Steers, Mr. Miller, Mr. Connelly, Mr. Cromwell, Mr. Mitchel, Mr. Willcox, Mr. Low, Mr. McCall, Mr. Maltbie, Mr. Cram, Mr. Eustis, Mr. Williams, Mr. Parker, Justice McLaughlin, Justice O'Brien, Justice Pendleton, Mr. Towne, Father Chidwick, Mr. Rea, Mr. E. M. Bassett and Mr. James Speyer.

The committee of citizens who tendered the dinner to the officials included:

Robert E. Dowling, William Berri, Louis B. Bright, John D. Crimmins, Edward C. Blum, John Claflin, George B. Cortelyou, William A. Day, Thomas Dimond, Samuel W. Fairchild, John H. Finley, Robert Goelet, William E. Harmon.

Clinton R. James, Darwin P. Kingsley, William H. McIntyre, Daniel P. Morse, Thomas M. Mulry, William W. Niles, E. H. Outerbridge, Francis K. Pendleton, Herman Ridder, Isaac N. Seligman, Robert E. Simon, Olin J. Stephens, George R. Valentine, Felix M. Warburg and James L. Wells.

Henry S. Black, Edward B. Boynton, Elisha Sniffin, Howard Carroll, F. W. Conn, Joseph P. Day, Robert W. De Forest, P. Henry Dugro, Charles E. Finlay, Austin B. Fletcher, Joseph P. Grace, William F. Havemeyer.

Bryan L. Kennelly, Henry Morgenthau, Harry J. Luce, Theodore F. Miller, Frank A. Munsey, Morgan J. O'Brien, Charles A. Peabody, Samuel Rea, Allan Robinson, William F. Sheehan, R. A. C. Smith, James Speyer, Henry R. Towne, William J. Van Clief, Archibald R. Watson.

The sentiment expressed in the following words from the Mayor's address was reiterated by the several guests of honor: "This testimonial is an adequate compensation to all of us for what we have gone through in the last three years."

TRUTH IN THESE FIGURES.

The Loft District Below 14th Street Has Only 13½ Per Cent. of Vacancies.

The exact state of affairs in the old textile manufacturing section between Canal and 14th street has been ascertained by a careful canvass under the direction of the real estate firm of Spear & Co., of 713 Broadway. For two months two men were engaged in the arduous work of visiting every building in the district and noting the number of floors either occupied or vacant. Over thirteen hundred owners were communicated with either by letter, telephone or personal interview.

They found 1,365 loft buildings in the district, which is bounded by Crosby street on the east and by West Broadway on the opposite side. These buildings contain five to twelve stories each and 7,567 rentable lofts. The stores and basements were considered in the calculations as one.

The investigators counted 979 vacant lofts, or 13½ per cent.—less than one vacant loft to each building, on the average. It is interesting to note in the table of statistics which Spear & Co. have sent out in their bulletin that the streets in the old silk district, namely, Prince, Canal, Greene, Grand, Broome, Wooster and Mercer, have the highest percentage of vacancies.

It is argued from these figures that they disprove the current belief that the district is almost deserted. It is true that rental rates have fallen, but on the whole the district has withstood the tremendous northward migration surprisingly well.

Reason for Optimism.

In conclusion Spear & Co. state: "One cannot help but feel optimistic about this section. It is important that all people feel more hopeful, and that they stop decrying conditions, because there is no real reason. This is a great field for operators and investors. There should be no fear on the part of mortgagees placing loans on property in this district at present-day values."

MAKE REAL ESTATE OWNERSHIP DESIRABLE

How the City Can Promote Its Own Interests—Stop Harassing Owners and Find Other Sources of Revenue.

By SAMUEL STRASBOURGER, Former Commissioner of Taxes and Assessments

REAL estate owners and tenants are all taxpayers. The city depends on its taxpayers for its income, and if the city continues to treat its taxpayers so as to exterminate them, it will be compelled to seek elsewhere for its income.

Another source from which the amount of income now produced by real estate is to be had would be difficult to find. The city will, therefore, promote its own interests by making the ownership of real estate desirable and attractive to investors.

To do this one of the first requirements will be to stop legislative baiting and harassing. Only such men should be endorsed for legislative office as will pledge themselves not to introduce or vote for any measure unfair to real estate interests or ownership.

Taxes on real estate should be reduced by providing other sources of income for the city, and here I wish to emphasize the importance of having this income from other sources collected for the benefit of the locality from which it is procured. A serious defect and weakness is that much of the income obtained in the city is applied to the benefit of the State at large. The personal property tax law should be made more effective, so that personal property will pay to the city its fair proportion of the expenses of city government.

The wholesale central purchasing system suggested by Comptroller Prendergast should be quickly adopted. Increases of salaries for city employees by the State Legislature should be prohibited, and candidates for legislative office should be pledged not to support such. This is one of the greatest evils from which the city has suffered.

Reform in Condemnation Proceedings.

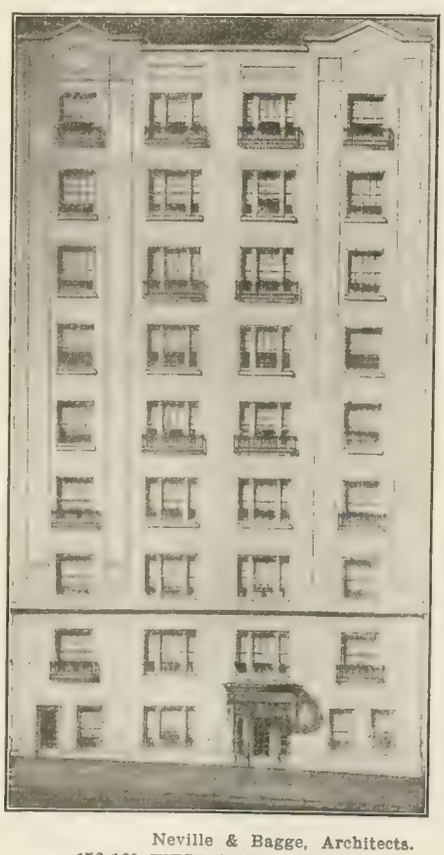
No real estate should be acquired by the city for public purposes unless the price to be paid be approved by a commission named in each case, which commission should consist of seven members to be appointed by the Supreme Court and selected as follows: Each of the following shall name one Commissioner: The Judge by whom the appointment is made, the head of the department for whose needs the property is to be acquired, the Chamber of Commerce, the Real Estate Board, the Board of Trade and Transportation, the Bar Association of the City of New York, and the Merchants' Association.

Unless such commission by a vote of five-sevenths should approve an award made in condemnation proceedings, the award should be opposed when application is made to the court to confirm the commissioners' report.

Another direction in which large savings could be made is in the cost of public improvements. In most instances, if not in all, it will be found that the costs of public buildings erected by the city is much greater than the cost of such buildings would be if erected by private parties. This expenditure might be controlled by commissions similar to the commission plan suggested in the acquiring of land for public uses.

The payment to these commissioners should be regulated so that the expense would be nominal. The purpose being to obtain the services of men who would consider it a duty and an honor to serve the city and who would serve in a spirit of civic pride.

Hold Tenants Responsible.



An important reform would be to impose certain duties upon tenants so that they would be directly responsible to the various city departments, and directly subject to punishment and penalties, instead of, as at present, holding the owner liable for conditions in rented premises over which he has no control, and over which the tenant is in absolute control; particularly such cases as the obstruction of fire-escapes, and the proper care of the inside of premises.

Another suggestion is to amend the law so that firemen and inspectors in the Tenement House, Building and Health departments can be required to do police duty in a modified form, so as not to interfere with their regular duties.

No doubt many other remedies can be found that would make the ownership of real estate more desirable and, therefore, more valuable, and of direct benefit to the city at large, without sacrifice or injury to anyone.

No Use to Complain.

Complaining of the condition of real estate in regard to its marketability will not improve conditions; the causes of the evil must be found and remedied. Advertising the undesirability does not relieve the situation, but only aggravates it. Most real estate today, from the standpoint of rentals, is a profitable and desirable investment. The petty annoyances to which the owner is subjected is the objection. These annoyances can be largely overcome, and the interests of the tenants and the public can still be safe-guarded. Real estate owners are their own worst enemies. They talk too much of the undesirability of owning real estate, instead of going about in a systematic and businesslike way to improve conditions and eradicate the evils which afflict it. No merchant who has goods for sale decries his wares in the way that real estate owners do their property.

Opening of the Woolworth Building.

The new Woolworth Building, the highest in the world, was officially opened on Thursday night with a dinner in honor of the architect, Cass Gilbert. The President of the United States turned a switch at Washington which lighted the thousands of electric lights throughout the building.

F. Hopkinson Smith, after inviting the audience to stand on the sidewalk some day and "look up until you got the roof of your mouth sunburned while gazing at the Gothic tower piercing the blue," referred to Mr. Woolworth's rise from the farm to a position among the country's great business men. Mr. Woolworth declined to take much of the credit for the big building to himself, giving the major part to others, including the architect, Cass Gilbert, who declared that the $13,500,000 monument to the genius of his "sympathetic client" was a structure unique in New York in that "it stands without mortgage and without a dollar of indebtedness." Other speakers were Louis J. Horowitz, William Winter and Patrick Francis Murphy.

Among the guests were: Judge Warren W. Foster, Charles M. Schwab, President John H. Finley of the City College, Collector William Loeb, Jr., Lewis Nixon, J. C. McCreery, Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, R. A. C. Smith, John W. Alexander, George Gordon Battle, Rene Bache, John Barrett, Col. William C. Church, Robert E. Ely, C. Grant La Farge, Herman A. Metz, Police Commissioner Waldo, Chief Magistrate McAdoo, Charles E. Perkins, James Speyer, W. R. Willcox, Timothy L. Woodruff, Robert Sterling Yard, Capt. Albert Gleaves, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, and Dr. George L. Kuntz.

A Fast-Growing Section.

Ridgewood Heights is the fastest growing section on Long Island. For five years many German families have been going there from the old Williamsburgh and Bushwick sections. While few two-family houses are now being built either in Brooklyn or Queens, hundreds are being erected and marketed promptly in Ridgewood Heights. The opening of the Williamsburgh Bridge made such an active market for property in Williamsburgh that the Germans took advantage of it to make a profit. A large number have gone to Bay Ridge, but the principal stream is toward Ridgewood, where they constitute ninety per cent. of the population. Situated within the limits of Queens Borough, the new section can be reached in thirty-five minutes from Park Row.

LIEN LAW AMENDMENTS.

Bill Now Before the Senate Explained by the Author.

The following are the important changes covered by the proposed amendments to the Lien Law as passed by the Assembly:

The right to file a lien is given to architects, engineers and surveyors, and it is further extended to cover any construction attached or annexed to the land, whether the attachment is permanent or removable. By extending the right to file a lien to fixtures which go into a building and which are now largely the subject of conditional bills of sale, because no lien can be filed to cover the cost of installation, it is probable that there will be a considerable limitation in the filing of conditional bills of sale.

The bill provides a plan of composition between a builder and his creditors. If a deed in trust or a trust mortgage be given for the benefit of creditors, and creditors having claims for at least three-quarters of the amount of total debts for labor and materials, accept the terms of such trust deed or trust mortgage, upon an application to the Court, the Court must cancel any mechanic's lien filed by non-assenting creditors or the Court may modify the terms of the trust deed or trust mortgage and upon the acceptance of such modification by three-quarters of the creditors the liens shall be discharged.

A Simple Method.

Here we have a simple method whereby settlements may be made between a builder and his contractors without encountering the usual chaotic conditions due to a few small lienors blocking the reorganization unless their demands for payment in full are met. Practically all of the foreclosures of building loan mortgages are the result of such tactics on the part of a small minority of a builder's creditors. If this amendment becomes a law, there should be no justification for a foreclosure of a mortgage on a new building.

The large number of foreclosures which have taken place in the last year and the great number of finished buildings upon which it is impossible, by reason of liens, to place permanent mortgages, may well be the cause of the present stagnation in the sale of real estate. Investors are always timid and there is no greater deterrent to the sale of property than the knowledge that similar buildings in the same neighborhood will be offered under the hammer and bid in by mortgagees at ridiculous prices.

Frauds in the sale of new buildings will be prevented by the provision requiring purchasers of buildings sold within four months after completion to file with the County Clerk a statement in writing showing the parties to the contract, a description of the property to be sold and the day fixed for closing of title, at least ten days before the closing of such title. An opportunity will thus be given to contractors, if the situation is one that calls for action, to take measures to protect themselves.

Where a Lien Has Preference.

A lien is given a preference over assignments made by a contractor or subcontractor, of payments due or to become due from an owner or contractor, where the assignment is not given to secure moneys due for work done and materials furnished on the premises affected by such payment. In most of the recent failures by contractors, banks have turned up as the assignees of all payments due to the exclusion of contractors and material men. The foregoing amendment should prevent similar transactions.

The time to file a lien is extended to four months instead of ninety days. It may only be filed for the amount actually due on the contract instead of the face amount. No good reason has ever been given why a person could file a lien without having done any work or furnished any materials, but on the other hand, the lien may include the value of materials actually manufactured for use on the building even if not delivered, a provision which formerly did not exist.

No lien may be filed unless there has been a default in payment to the lienor or in the event of the builder's or contractor's insolvency and the nature of the default or other ground for the filing of the lien must be stated in the lien. The lien must be verified by the lienor, or if the lienor is a corporation, by an officer having knowledge thereof and the affidavit must set forth that the facts are true so far as they are within the knowledge of the lienor and so far as they are derived as information from others; that he has made a careful examination and inquiry as to the truth thereof. This will prevent the filing of liens upon data furnished over the telephone and thereupon sworn to upon information and belief.

The Priorities.

The priorities of liens is abolished. All contractors and material men stand on the same footing. There is no greater reason for a preference in the building business than in the mercantile business. The existing law has been an invitation to file mechanic's liens because of such priority and the filing of a lien even if unwarranted, usually precipitated an avalanche without any inquiry or investigation as to the reasons. Many contractors have been able to levy blackmail through the threat of liens and many a run has been started through the panic that followed the first lien.

The holder of a mortgage that is subordinated to a building loan mortgage must state the time when the principal sum shall be payable in his mortgage, and he cannot receive payment prior to such time without making himself liable to the contractors. The reason for this provision is that in some cases, where purchase money mortgages have been subordinated to building loan mortgages, the contractors have furnished materials or performed work in reliance upon the fact that the entire building loan mortgage would be available for the payment of their claims, only to find out, when it was too late, that a secret agreement existed between the builder and the land operator to pay off the subordinated mortgage out of the building loan payments.

Dower Rights.

The lien is extended to cover the dower right of the wife of an individual builder. It will be possible by this provision to obtain a good title on a mechanic's lien foreclosure as against a builder using his own name. There are a number of other changes which affect the procedure and renewal of liens.

We believe that the foregoing changes will help to improve conditions existing in the building trade. Something will have to be done to meet the situation. The equities are with the contractors. It should be borne in mind that the ground mortgage at the time of its execution is a lien only on the land. It automatically extends to the improvements as they go into the building operation, whether they are paid for or not, and for every dollar that is unpaid to the contractor the land operator on a foreclosure adds one dollar to the value of his mortgage.

J. CHARLES WESCHLER.

THE WEEK AT ALBANY.

New Law Exempts Buildings Under Construction From Taxation.

Assembly Bill 1231, introduced by Mr. Kerrigan, has been signed by the Governor. This bill is important to the Tax Department and the public. It makes clear that the department, through its employes, acting on its behalf, may enter upon real property and into buildings at all reasonable times in performance of its duties.

Hereafter "a building in course of construction, commenced since the preceding first day of October, and not ready for occupancy, shall not be assessed." This means that a building commenced now and not ready for occupancy on the first of next October will not be assessed for 1914; a building commenced prior to the first day of October is not assessed on the first of October following, but the following year if the building is not completed it will be assessed for what it may be worth at the time, regardless of the fact that it has not been completed.

The bill has been recommended by such well-known real estate men as Robert E. Dowling, William H. Chesebrough and Clinton R. James. They are satisfied that it will remove many occasions for friction and difficulty and will exert substantial encouragement to builders to commence their operations earlier than would otherwise be the case. The bill deals with a few other matters of some importance to the Department of Taxes but of no interest to the general public.

Reorganizing State Architect's Office.

A bill was introduced by Senator White on Monday, reorganizing the office of the State Architect, to be known as the Department of the State Architect. The bill authorizes the following: A State Architect at $15,000 a year, who shall hold office for five years; a First Deputy State Architect at $10,000 a year; a Second Deputy at $7,500 a year; a Third Deputy at $5,000 a year; a Secretary at $7,500 a year; an Auditor at $7,500 a year, and five confidential inspectors at $2,500 a year.

The department is to have the custody of all the plans, specifications, apparatus and records heretofore in the custody of the Capitol Comissioner, and the plans, specifications and architectural records in the custody of the officers or boards in charge of all State institutions. The State Architect is to let all contracts and prepare all drawings and specifications for the construction of all new buildings erected at the State's expense and for the alteration or improvement of existing buildings, and to supervise such construction and alteration. He must prepare standard forms of contracts. Jurisdiction over the erection, alteration and improvement of State buildings is to pass from the board, department officer or institution in charge to the State Architect as soon as the act takes effect. Contracts must be let to the lowest bidder who gives adequate security except that all bids may be rejected when the State Architect deems the lowest bid excessive. Duplicate specifications must be filed in the office of the department and in the office of the State Comptroller and are to be at all times open to public inspection. No bids may be withdrawn or cancelled until after the contract has been awarded. No payments are to be made for work done or materials furnished in the construction or alteration of State buildings until the bills or estimates have been certified by the Architect and approved by the State Comptroller. The Comptroller is given full power to pass upon all bills and estimates presented for payment and may make investigations to determine whether or not he will approve and pay them. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the bill are repealed.

Central Purchasing Agency.

Assemblyman Caughlan's bill (Pr. 2236, Int. 1933), which provides for a central purchasing agency for the departments of the City of New York, was severely criticised by Borough President Cyrus C. Miller in a letter addressed to Assistant Corporation Conrad Edward J. McGoldrick, representing the New York City administration at Albany. Storehouses, he pointed out, would mean the purchase of costly real estate, the expense of numerous employes and useless trucking of goods, which should be taken directly from the manufacturer to the place of use. Instead of a purchasing agency Borough President Miller suggested "the creation of a supply bureau which could prepare specifications for the standardization of the various things used by the city. Every three months it could advertise for the supplies needed for the next quarter year. A list of the supplies and the names of the successful bidders could be sent to the various departments. The approximate amount of every class of such supplies would be the average used by all the departments during three months for a period of years past. Whenever a department needed any such supplies it could order them directly from the manufacturer or dealer whose name was on the list, and get them directly without the expense and delay of passing the requisition through a central purchasing agency. By this method the benefits of buying by wholesale and through open competition would be gained by the city, while the expense entailed by a central purchasing agency would be avoided. No storehouses, no trucking, no long list of employes, no bookkeeping, no delays, no red tape." This is practically the method followed by some large real estate firms in buying supplies for buildings under their management.

J. Berre King.

The death of J. Berre King, this week at Cranford, N. J., removes from building material circles in this city and vicinity, one of the most prominent men in the trade. Born on the twenty-ninth of September, 1854, he was educated in Providence, R. I., and started in business in 1876, at that time organizing and starting the firm of J. B. King & Company, manufacturers and dealers in plaster, and continued to be active in the business until the last three years, when owing to illness he left most of the firm's affairs in charge of his two brothers, Jerome A. and George R. King, who always had been associated with him.

J. Berre King was a member of the Building Material Exchange of which he was one of the founders, his certificate being No. 5 and that of his brother Jerome's being No. 6. He was also a member of the New York Yacht Club, the Metropolitan club, the Downtown Association and of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants.

Mr. King died suddenly on Tuesday evening at Hampton Hall, Cranford, where he had lived for more than a year, hoping there to find rest and ultimate recovery from a nervous disorder of long duration. His wife and daughter are abroad, and one of his sons is in Harvard, while the other in business at 17 State street where the company's offices are located.

—The Center Street Loop, on which tracks are being laid, will be ready for operation in July.

CHIMNEY SMOKE.

Richard Deeves, the Builder, Submits to Arrest for a Principle.

To maintain a principle, Richard Deeves, one of the oldest, best known and most highly respected builders of New York, suffered imprisonment, procured his release on bail and successfully defended a prosecution instituted by the almost omnipotent Health Department of this city.

Twenty-seven years ago he built a home at 58 West 83d street, a handsome four-story, twenty-five foot front house, and has resided there ever since.

Two years ago a Mr. Polstein, operating under the name of and as president of the Hennessey Realty Company, tore down several buildings adjoining Mr. Deeves' home and erected in their place a nine-story apartment house.

Realizing from his practical building experience the effect that such a blanket would have on his flues and the probable annoyance to Mr. Polstein's tenants, Mr. Deeves spoke to him about these flues and later wrote to the Hennessey Company asking them to place hooks in their wall to which flues could be attached to connect with his chimneys. These suggestions were ignored, but instead, the builder had the temerity to open windows in his wall right over the Deeves roof.

Experience finally taught Polstein that the smoke did annoy his tenants, as Mr. Deeves had foreseen, and in the summer of 1912 he wrote Mr. Deeves demanding that he stop this smoke annoyance. In view of what had gone before Mr. Deeves naturally resented this.

Health Officer Called In.

Then the power of the Board of Health was invoked, theoretically in the name of a tenant. The board sent a violation notice to Mr. Deeves, who consulted his lawyers, Thornton & Earle. They wrote to the board for precedents and in reply were referred by the Corporation Counsel to the Sanitary Code. This not appearing to cover the case, they wrote the Corporation Counsel asking to be referred to any court decision. The answer to this was a summons to appear in a police court.

No two of the authorities at the Health Department agreed as to the remedy. Dr. Lederle thought to carry Mr. Deeves' flues to the center of the building would be sufficient, the Assistant Corporation Counsel wanted these flues carried completely across the building and the sanitary superintendent was not sure that anything short of carrying flues above the new building would satisfy the department.

In the police court the magistrate was compelled by statute, without even a hearing, because it was a Health Department case, to hold the defendant for trial at the Court of Special Sessions. The procuring of the bail bond took some time, during which Mr. Deeves was under arrest. Magistrate Harris stated from the bench that he hoped Mr. Deeves would carry the case to the Appellate Division.

The trial at Special Sessions was delayed because at the time of his arrest Mr. Deeves was suffering from appendicitis for which he was operated on at Roosevelt Hospital in December.

Magistrates Forker, Deuel and McInerney, sitting at the trial at Special Sessions, made this unnecessary by deciding that Mr. Deeves, the owner of a four-story private house, using it in a reasonable way, and having fires for cooking, could not be compelled to carry his chimneys five stories above his roof or fifty stories above his roof

CITIZENS' CAMPAIGN.

Meetings to be Held at the Real Estate Exchange—Signing the Declaration.

The committee of citizens which last week issued the Declaration of Principles in behalf of the real property interests of the City of New York has arranged with a committee of the Auctioneers' Association for the use of the Real Estate Exchange room in Vesey street for public meetings. Messrs. James L. Wells, D. Phoenix Ingraham and Lewis Phillips acted for the association. A vigorous campaign will be started in due time in behalf of the principles set forth in the Declaration, as printed last week in the Record and Guide.

The Declaration is being numerously signed in all the five boroughs and by the most substantial citizens. A name has not yet been selected, but Mr. Lewis Phillips has suggested one, "the Conservation Party," whose object is to conserve the resources of the city, lighten the burden of taxation and make real estate ownership more desirable than it has been. Among the new signers of the Declaration are:

President Black of the United States Realty and Improvement Company, President Kelsey of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., President Paul Starrett of the George A. Fuller Company, the Chesebrough Building Co., President James of the New York Title Insurance Co., President Boynton of the American Real Estate Co., William E. Harmon, of Wood, Harmon & Co., President Dowling of the City Investing Co., Edward M. Buckley of Spencer, Trask & Co., owner of the Bowling Green Building; Clifford Potter, Benjamin Mordecai, Oakley Thorne, John D. Crimmins and other big operators;

Thousands have signed in the various boroughs.

A meeting was held on Thursday at the office of Horace S. Ely & Co., over which William H. Chesebrough presided, which was attended, among others, by representatives from practically every real estate owners' and taxpayers' organization in all the boroughs of the city. Delegates were there from all these associations, including the Allied Real Estate Interests, the Board of Brokers and the United Real Estate Owners.

Addresses were made by Messrs. Henry Morgenthau, Robert E. Dowling, E. A. Tredwell, Allan Robinson, Dr. Abraham Korn, Jos. S. Schwab, Robert E. Simon, Dr. Geo. W. Brush and Edward P. Doyle, and after a most harmonious meeting, in which everybody expressed the belief that the movement would prove to be a success, and that the various organizations throughout the boroughs would line up solidly in support of it, the Chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of not less than ten and not more than thirty, from each borough, to continue the work of organizing the taxpayers and voters, such committee also to provide a more complete platform for the new association.

Among the gentlemen present at the meeting were Alfred E. Marling, Dr. Geo. W. Brush and De Hart Bergen of Brooklyn, Emanuel G. Bullard and F. W. Scott of Queens; Joel S. De Selding, David Clarkson, Irving Ruland, George T. Mortimer, Charles H. Schnelle, Frank Demuth, John William Jones of the West Side Taxpayers Association, of Manhattan, Edward P. Boynton and Robert E. Simon of The Bronx, and Dr. Abraham Korn, Jos. S. Schwab, Arthur G. Muhlker and Charles W. Eidt of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, and Sigmund Feust, President, South Bronx Taxpayers' Association.

BUILDING MANAGEMENT

Conducted by Raymond P. Roberts, Building Manager for the American Real Estate Company.

UNITS OF COST.

As Applied to Operation, and as Means of Comparison for Economical Management.

Contributed by the
CHARLES F. NOYES COMPANY.

It is customary to figure cost of operation on the square foot of either the rented or rentable area, or as a percentage of the gross rents, in which method the total cost of operation per square foot, of rented or rentable area, becomes a useful unit. When the costs of the various parts of the service are required, the square foot of rented or rentable area is misleading.

The following calculations are not intended to be a formula for calculating the cost of operating buildings nor are they as broad as they can be made. They merely illustrate a particular case. They may, however, be of some value in showing the necessity of keeping careful data regarding quantities and costs in connection with the operation and the necessity of careful supervision. During the past year cases have come to the attention of the company where from one to six of the classified items have been double what they should have been, and among the cases referred to most every item, in one instance or another, has been found double what it should have been.

In order to know whether or not a given building is operated at a cost which is commensurate with the service required, a careful analysis of the various items, which in the aggregate make up the total cost of operation, must be made.

The operation of a building may appear to cost a reasonable amount in the aggregate, but this does not mean that certain elements of the service are not maintained at costs very much higher than they should be.

The logical and natural course to pursue in making a correct analysis of the cost of operating any given building is:

1. To decide carefully the service requirements of the building in question.
2. To know what the cost of the various components of the service should be.

Service Required.

The service must be in keeping with the class of occupancy. A building which can afford and does deliver a higher class of service for the same rentals is more desirable than other buildings in the neighborhood charging equal rentals. The maintenance of proper service at a low cost therefore has its effect, directly as a financial profit to the owner shown in net earnings, and indirectly as a financial profit to the owner by enabling the owner to keep the space rented. Not much is to be said on the subject of what service a given building in this city requires, except that it should be equal or better than that given by other buildings of the same type in the neighborhood. An experienced and progressive real estate agent, given a certain type of building in a certain location, could quickly decide what should be the necessary requirements as to service. He must, in order to succeed in his management, have a fairly well designed building to work upon. For instance, he cannot provide artificial daylight, nor can he make five elevators do the work of eight and keep everybody happy. Bad conditions can, however, in most cases be improved by careful study and work.

Cost of Service.

In order to determine whether the cost of operating a given building is within reason, or in order to compare the cost of operation of various buildings of the same class, it is essential that proper units be selected upon which to base these costs. It would, for instance, be disastrous to say that the cost of cleaning a building of a given area and occupied partly by loft tenants would be the same per square feet as that of cleaning a building of the same size occupied entirely by office tenants. A statement frequently heard in connection with the cost of elevator service is that "An elevator costs about so much per year for power." As a mater of fact, the amount that power may cost per elevator may vary anywhere from $5 to $100 per month or more, depending upon the load carried, amount of travel, type of machine, condition of machine, cost of electric or other power, efficient operation, etc. It is readily seen that the elevator is not the proper unit upon which to base the cost of power for itself.

Our experience has shown that the following units are the most useful and practicable in connection with figuring the cost of the various parts of the service. Certain allowances, however, must be made for each individual case. Given two buildings of the same size and type, having the same equipment and the same service requirements, the total cost of each portion of the service may be compared with good results.

Specific Items.

Cleaning: The cost per square foot of floor space actually cleaned is the most logical unit. This may be further subdivided into cost of labor and cost of cleaning implements and materials per square foot.

Elevator Service: A convenient unit upon which to figure the cost of elevator service is the cost per square foot of the space actually served, and this cost should include and may be subdivided into cost of labor, power for operating, repairs and maintenance. A better unit, however, to use for computing cost of labor, power, repairs and total cost is the car mile travel. Where electric current is purchased or supplied for power the variation in cost of power per car mile is affected not only by the consumption of the motors themselves, but by the cost per unit of current, and this must be kept in mind.

Electric Current Production: The cost per kilowatt hour of current produced is the proper unit.

Electric Current Consumption for Lighting: It is convenient in many cases to figure the consumption in kilowatt hours per year per square foot of space lighted which at the cost of production per kilowatt hour establishes the cost of electric current for lighting per year per square foot. This cost is subject to wide variation, depending upon the kind of lamps installed, hours of service, character of occupancy, etc.

Electric Current Consumption for Elevator Power: The consumption of current for elevators may be figured on the basis of kilowatt hours per car mile, which at the rate current is produced establishes the cost of electric current per car mile. This figure is subject to wide variations, and it is impracticable to compare the cost per car mile travel unless the conditions are known and allowances made.

Incandescent Lamps: The installation being known and the amount of current consumed for lighting purposes, a good basis to figure cost of incandescent lamps upon is the cost of the lamps per kilowatt hour of current consumed. Allowance must be made, however, for the price paid for lamps, and where arc lamps are used as well as incandescent lamps care must be taken that proper amount of current is charged to the former. Where arc lamps are not metered a convenient basis to figure on is percentage of lamp renewals.

Water: There is probably no unit to base this cost upon better than the square foot of gross area, when due allowance is made for number of fixtures installed, number of occupants in building, type of plumbing fixtures, etc.

Coal.—(a) Where building is heated only, a fairly accurate unit upon which to figure coal is the cubic foot of volume, when allowance has been made for exposure, hours of service and type of equipment.

(b) Where electric current is produced in addition to heat, the most useful unit is the kilowatt hour, after proper allowance has been made for the amount of coal required to heat the building.

(c) Where elevators or other machines are operated by steam-pumps, it then becomes necessary to determine how much coal should be charged to this item, how much to electric current and how much to heating. The practical way of figuring the cost of coal for hydraulic elevators is to deduct from the total consumption of the plant an amount of coal which is equal to the amount required to heat the building under similar conditions with a low pressure plant (this can be estimated very closely), then preferably by test, to ascertain the approximate ratios demanded by the elevators and the electrical apparatus. After the proper percentage chargeable to the elevators is ascertained the car mile unit is the best to figure on.

Classification of Accounts and Unit Costs.

All Quantities in Connection with Cost of Producing Light and Power:

Labor, coal, ash removal, water, engineer's supplies, repairs to boilers, engines, dynamos, etc., may be figured on kilowatt hours, car miles or other units after due allowance has been made for heating. Further study of the plant, however, is necessary in order to determine whether economies can be made in this connection, and careful records as to load, coal, water, ashes, oil, supplies, repairs, etc., are essential for intelligent and economical operation.

A subdivided or classified system of accounting is necessary in order to be able to ascertain the yearly cost of the various items. The following table is a record taken from our books for a first-class 12-story office building of the following dimensions and description:

Area of lot	10,800 sq. ft.
Total gross floor area, including basement	113,000 " "
Total gross floor area above ground floor	90,900 " "
Total rentable area, including basement	89,675 " "
Total rentable area above ground	73,535 " "
Total rented area, including basement	82,990 " "
Total rented area above ground floor	68,000 " "
Total volume above ground	1,537,000 cu. ft.

Occupancy: Real estate, commercial and professional offices.

Elevators: Three vertical cylinder hydraulic elevators, 2,500 lbs. capacity, 400 ft. per minute.

Private Plant: Furnishes light, heat and power for entire building and operates from 6 A. M. to 11 P. M.

Finish of Interior: Floors in offices are concrete, and a large portion are covered with carpets or linoleum. Floors in halls and toilets are of terrazzo tile. All trim throughout is quartered oak. Stairways white marble.

Windows: There are about 600 outside windows aside from about 1,500 panes of inside glass of various sizes:

Number of People Handled by Elevators from and to Ground Floor per Day; About 13,000
Plumbing: There are 212 fixtures using water, as follows:
Public Basins, hot and cold water			20
Private basins, cold water only			110
Urinals			24
Toilets			56
Shower bath			1
Barbershop, doublin basin			1
Total			212
Number of Occupants in Building: 700.
Classified Operating Expenses:
Labor, Engineer's Department			$3,248.88
Labor, Janitor's Department, including all cleaners and watchman			7,827.24
Labor, Elevator Department			3,380.00
Coal			5,322.99
Removal of ashes and rubbish			284.22
Water (actual consumption given, as bills do not cover period)			753.90

While the above subdivision of the expenses made may be further carried out, in handling a large number of buildings we find that the items above referred to give an excellent means for analyzing the cost of operation.

From the above data we have computed the following:

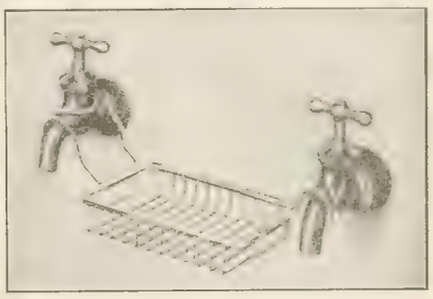
Yearly Unit Cost:
Area actually cleaned	68,000
Cost of Janitor's labor per square foot of space actually cleaned, including salaries of night watchman and window cleaners	$0.0889
Cost of cleaning labor per square foot of space actually cleaned, exclusive of salaries of night watchman and window cleaners $\frac{$7,827.24 - $1,872.00}{88,000 \text{ sq. ft.}}$ =	.0677
Cost of cleaning supplies per square foot actually cleaned	.0057
Cost of heating (estimated): Coal $1,600; Fireman, 7 months 350; Repairs 145 =	$2,095.00
Cost of electric current per KW. hour, including proper proportion (.44) of labor, coal, ash removal, water for plant, engineer's supplies, repairs to plant after deducting allowance of $2,095 for heating building, were power and light not supplied .44 ($3,248.88 + $5,322.99 + $284.22 + Est. water — $294 + $656.42 + $222.91 — Est. $2,095) ÷ 209,900 $= \frac{$3,491.14}{209,900}$ =	.0166
Cost of elevator power per car-mile, including proper proportion (.56) of items as above after allowance of $2,095 has been made for heating .56, $3,248.88 + $5,322.99 + $284.22 + Est. water = $294.00 + $656.42 + $222.91 — Est. $2,095.00) ÷ 15,900 $= \frac{$4,443.27}{15,900}$ =	.279
Cost of elevator service, including operators' salaries, power and repairs, per square foot of space rented above ground floor $\frac{$3,380.00 + $4,443.27 + $573.77}{68,000 \text{ sq. ft.}}$	.1234
Cost of elevator service per car-mile.	.527
Consumption of electric current for light and about 13 H. P. in motors = in K. W. Hs	209,900
Estimated consumption of motors per year, in K. W. Hs	22,600
Electric current consumed for lighting only, K. W. Hs	187,300
Electric current consumed per square foot of space lighted (2,388 Tungsten lamps, 41 arcs), 187,300 ÷ 113,000 = per year, in K. W. Hs	1.66
Cost of water per square foot gross area, including that used for plant $753.90 ÷ 113,000	.0067
Cost of coal per KW. hour of current produced after heating and elevator allowance has been made Est. $.44 \frac{(5,322.99 - 1,600)}{209,900}$ =	.0078
Cost of coal per car-mile travel for elevators after heating and electrical requirements have been met Est. $.56 \frac{(5,322.99 - 1,600)}{15,900}$ =	.131
Cost of building repairs per sq. ft. gross area	.008
Cost of plumbing repairs per sq. ft. gross area	.0022
Cost of plumbing repairs per occupant	.349
Cost of plumbing repairs per fixture	1.15
Cost of water per occupant after allowance of $294.00 has been made for power plant	.657
Cost of water per fixture	2.17
Cost of lamp renewals, per cent. of installation	66%.
Total cost of operation, exclusive of superintendence, management, improvements, alterations and fixed charges (insurance, taxes and interest), per square foot of rented area equals $25,865.79 ÷ 82,990 =	.3118

NOTE.—In the above calculations the cost of running the steam house pump has not been figured separately and is included in the cost of electric current and elevator power.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Efficiency and Ventilation.

Can you tell me whether there is any department in the City or State from which I can obtain data showing the relationship between efficiency and ventilation in industrial or commercial buildings?

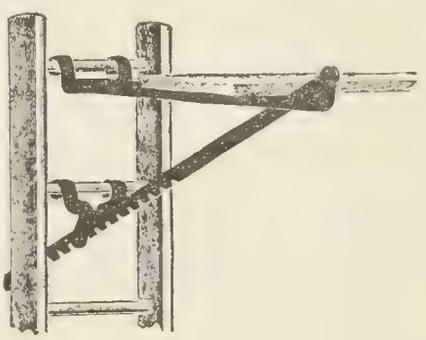


Answer.—The report of the New York State Department of Labor carries out examinations of factory air at stated intervals and publishes the results. Some of these reports show that out of 215 workrooms examined at seasons when the out-door temperature was 70 degrees or less, 71 per cent of these at temperatures of 73 degrees or over and 29 per cent at temperatures of 80 degrees or over. For further information on this subject we refer you to Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, of the College of the City of New York.

USEFUL APPLIANCES

Novelties, New Appliances of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described With Regard to Advertising Consideration.

A New Soap Rack.



The Art Brass Company, of 299 West 134th street, is putting on the market something new in the way of a soap rack. Its distinctive feature rests upon the fact that it fits any pair of faucets in sinks or in the laundry trays, is handy and utilizes space which usually goes to waste. It may be used for soap, dish cloths, brushes and other things. It has the advantage of being sanitary. It is inexpensive and has nothing about it to wear out.

A Quick Adjusting Ladder Bracket.

In buildings where there is always more or less ceiling or wall work in progress, especially in hotels and commercial structures, the time consumed in rigging up scaffolding is considerable. There is a device on the market manufactured by B. P. Hummelbaugh Manufacturing Co., of Elyria, Ohio, which is illustrated herewith. The distinctive feature of this device is that it is reversible, thus doing away with the necessity of changing the entire scaffold when a shift of position is necessary. It weighs only seven pounds and is strong enough to guarantee it against breakage in as much as it is made on high grade steel.

A Quick Rope-Splicer.

Every builder having to do with scaffold work and hoisting in general, also building managers who are troubled with oil-rotting idler guys in elevator shafts have long sought a quickly operating device for splicing rope in such a way as to make it absolutely secure. In this day when employers are liable for accidents befalling their employees they cannot afford to take chances, and for that reason it would appear that the tension adjusting coupling being introduced by the C. W. Hunt Company, of West New Brighton, this city, would be worth investigation. The coupling is so made that it will not slip over sheaves.

The Board of Aldermen might obtain some valuable information concerning the effect of high taxes and other matters of public policy if, instead of merely passing an ordinance forbidding city employees to reside outside the State, it made a thorough investigation of the reason why so many persons on the city's payroll have thought it expedient to live in the suburbs.

A bill introduced at Albany by Senator Patten at the request of Borough President Connolly of Queens would enable the city to credit property owners with the cost of legally authorized street pavements constructed by private contract. At present the acceptance of the city of such pavements does not relieve property owners from assessments when the pavement is worn out and the city itself puts down another.

The Board of Estimate on March 6 authorized Borough President Miller of The Bronx to cause to be removed all building encroachments beyond the street lines on Third avenue from the Harlem River to Fordham road, on Washington avenue from Third avenue to Fordham road and on Tremont avenue from Webster avenue to Boston road. After a public hearing on March 25, the Borough President on April 15 issued a notice that the encroachments in question must be removed within thirty days of that date. At a conference of property owners, held last Tuesday in the office of Albert E. Davis, it was resolved to call a meeting for next Monday evening at Muller's Bronx Casino with a view to organizing property owners to test the legality of the Board of Estimate's resolution. If there is any real doubt about the position taken by the board toward building encroachments, it is rather curious that the big property interests along Broadway and Fifth avenue did not undertake to settle it.

The Taxpayers' Rebellion.

The attempt which is now being made to form a more comprehensive and representative organization of the taxpayers of New York has been meeting with a great deal of success. During the past week the accessions have been very large, and it is evident that the new association will be supported by practically all the large property owners of New York. It is necessary, however, that the association should represent more than the large New York taxpayers. It is being organized at the present moment because a political campaign is approaching which will result in the election of a mayor and a board of estimate, who will govern New York for four years. It is absolutely necessary that the question of municipal expenditures and taxes should be made an issue in this campaign and that public opinion should be fully informed as to the grave dangers of the existing situation, and that no candidate should be elected to any responsible office who is not pledged to the exercise of the most rigid economy.

In order to accomplish this result the new association will need two weapons. It will need money to spend so that the necessary publicity work can be effectually performed, and it will need to control so many votes that the election of any candidate who proves to be indifferent to the necessity of economy will be compromised. For this reason a large membership is needed all over the city, but particularly among the small property owners in the outlying boroughs. It is men of this kind who have always remained indifferent to the attempts to organize New York taxpayers, but without their co-operation the political effectiveness of the association will be very much diminished. As soon as the association is fairly on its feet a systematic attempt should be made to secure the support of this class in the community, and if the attempt is vigorously and intelligently made there is no reason why it should not be successful.

A city can begin to economize, particularly in its capital expenditures, without doing any damage to the public service. The past fifteen years have necessarily constituted a period of heavy investment in permanent improvements. When the various municipalities of the old metropolitan district were consolidated into Greater New York an immense amount of constructive work had to be done in order to bind these scattered districts together. The intervening water courses had to be bridged and tunneled. The long distances to be traversed and the immense concentration of traffic required the building of subways of unprecedented capacity. In these and in many other respects New York needed a thoroughly modern equipment, which could not be provided unless the city was willing to appropriate enormous sums for their purchase.

But as a result of the work of the past fifteen years the same necessity no longer exists, for these huge capital expenditures. Of course much remains to be done by way of taking care of the needs of a constantly increasing population. New school houses must be built, new parks purchased and laid out, and additional street improvements must be undertaken. But it remains none the less true that the very expensive constructive work has been done or has been arranged for. No new bridges are necessary. The subway problem is settled. Provision has been made for a water supply sufficiently large to meet the increase in population during the next two generations. The time has come when the amount of capital expenditures can be very much diminished without injuring the growth of the city or doing anything to cause its population inconvenience and loss. A period of quiescence and recuperation should follow after this period of costly but necessary expansion.

All that real estate and its owners need is a little breathing space. If it could be relieved of any increase in taxes for three or four years a wholesome adjustment to existing burdens, heavy as they are, would soon take place, and real estate would again begin to increase in value. Population and business are increasing steadily and the increase will have its former effect on real estate values just as soon as the enlargement of the tax-rate is checked. As soon as prices begin to increase the city will again be in a position to undertake a more liberal policy of improvements, because it will have larger taxable assets from which to pay for them. But as long as real estate values are stationary or diminishing, rigid economy is obviously imposed, because under such conditions an increase in taxation must be derived from capital rather than from income. The present rate of expenditure is nothing short of suicidal and must necessarily be checked. Property owners will have an opportunity to check it during the coming electoral campaign, and they will not have another such opportunity for four years.

An additional indication that the present system is breaking down is furnished by the constantly increasing prices which the City of New York is obliged to pay for the money it borrows. Time was when a bond of the City of New York bearing three per cent. interest could be sold at par. At present it seems doubtful whether a bond bearing four and a half per cent. interest could be sold at par. This does not mean that investors do not expect that New York will not meet its obligations. It merely means that New York has issued more of its securities than the money market could well absorb, and from this point of view, also, economy is imposed upon the city, particularly as regards capital expenditures. It must borrow less for a period long enough to restore its credit at least to a four per cent. basis, for a continuance of past profusion would impose an intolerable burden on the future prosperity of the city.

The Amusement Center of the Metropolis.

It is good news that certain members of the Public Service Commission, including the chairman, seem to favor the location of the express station of the Broadway subway at 42d street. If any other action is taken a serious mistake will be made, which will be the cause eventually of an immense amount of inconvenience to the public. There is only one argument against such a location of the express station that can be considered sufficient, if true, and that is the argument originally advanced, that the situation of the station at 42d street would involve insuperable difficulties of planning. We understand, however, that this argument is no longer advanced. An entirely practicable plan has been prepared that will provide for the handling of the necessities of all the passengers on the various lines without congestion or inconvenience.

The plan proposes to create an underground plaza at the lower end of Times Square which will permit the freest possible movement of traffic in every direction, and which will be furnished with an abundance of outlets to every part of the square. An arrangement of this kind does not cause congestion. It relieves congestion by providing a really sufficient safety valve. Of course no arrangement which the subway engineers can make will diminish the concentration of traffic which necessarily results from the fact that so many thousand people will want to reach or leave destinations in and about Times Square at the same time. A location of the express station six blocks farther north will not in the long run appreciably diminish it. The fact will remain that by far the larger number of passengers on the express stations will want to get off at 42d street, rather than 48th street, and that all of these people will have to change from an express to a local in order to reach their destination.

The only practicable alternative is that of fairly facing the necessarily enormous concentration of traffic at this point and of providing for it at any necessary expense. And there can be no doubt that the provision will have to be made on an unprecedented scale. The number of passengers using the existing station do not afford the slightest indication of the number of passengers that will be carried to and away from this point after the new system is completed. Quite apart from any increase in population the improvement in the means of communication will stimulate the patronage of the places of amusement in and around the square. No form of business is capable of being so completely centralized as the business of providing for popular entertainment; and after the new system is complete many thousand people all over the metropolitan district who now patronize local theatres and restaurants will yield to the superior seductions and greater brilliancy of the larger resorts in Manhattan.

THE WEEK IN REAL ESTATE.

Large transactions comprised the bulk of the dealing in the real estate market during the week, with a number of ordinary transactions making up the total. A notable sale was that of the new 13-story apartment house at the northwest corner of Park avenue and 82d street. It has been taken over by a new corporation. The Fullerton-Weaver Company, which built this house, has made a number of distinct improvements on Park avenue. The company is now erecting a fine apartment house at the southeast corner of the avenue and 66th street and before many months it will improve the northwest corner of the same streets with a large apartment house. These buildings accentuate the fine improvements that began in Park avenue several years ago and which give promise of extensive continuance. Another sale that attracted attention was that of the dwelling at 21 West 53d street, by Mrs. Florence C. Eno Graves. The block on which this dwelling stands is one of the choice residential blocks south of Central Park; and it is not likely that business will capture the same for a long time to come, inasmuch as the owners of property there have agreed to maintain the character of the block intact until 1925. Taken as a whole there was very little investment feature to the dealing of this week. Some fine apartment houses changed hands, but exchanging was a phase of the dealing. Probably the best speculative transaction of the week was the sale of a large plot in the Dyckman tract for improvement with apartment houses. The Nathan Hale apartment house, at a Fort Washington avenue corner and which was given in payment for the old Academy of Music site in Montague street, Brooklyn, a few weeks ago, was sold during the week and other property was given in payment.

A mortgage loan for $105,000 on the property at the southeast corner of Sixth avenue and 47th street calls attention to the improved quality of real estate in that thoroughfare. The owner bought the property in 1907, for $91,000 at auction. It is a 4-story building, on a lot 22.6x70. Of course, the numerous modern improvements in the intersecting streets, together with the general northward march of business on Manhattan Island, has had much to do with the increment that is shown in this instance.

The sale of 451 to 455 Pearl street, near William street, marked a transaction of which there are very few in that part of the city. Several weeks ago there was a sale and resale of an old building in New Chambers street, which was an innovation in the vicinity. The latest sale would seem to show prospects of considerable activity to come consequent on the selection of the new civic center nearby. The leasing of Dolan's old restaurant site on Park Row, adjoining the southeast corner of Beekman street, for a term of 60 years, to Thompson, a restaurateur of Chicago, was another notable downtown transaction. The old building has been razed and a 3-story structure is replacing it. Park Row is one of the best thoroughfares in the city for an all night restaurant business and the fact has a great deal to do with strong rentals there for that class of trade.

No Law for Chimney Smoke.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

With reference to the prosecution of Mr. Richard Deeves by the Health Department of this city, it seems to me an outrage that, in order to have such a question determined it was necessary for Mr. Deeves to be subjected to all the ignominy of appearing in a police court, and being held in bail; and while in the police court, pending the signing of the bail bond, that he should have been subjected to arrest.

In my interview with the representative of the Corporation Counsel's Office permanently assigned to the Department of Health, he informed me that there had been no written opinion by any court on this subject. That in most cases, if not in all cases, the requirements of the department had been complied with. It is evident from our experience that criminal prosecution is employed to procure a civil remedy, and we are not at all surprised that owners spend the few hundred dollars necessary to comply with these unlawful requirements of the Board of Health, rather than subject themselves to the ignominy of arrest and trial in a criminal court.

THORNTON EARLE.

New York, April 23.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

Concerning the Publication of the Judgments and Municipal Improvements.

With the current number, the Record and Guide discontinues the publication of the judgments and satisfied judgments filed in the County Clerk's office. The considerations which led to this step are in themselves interesting as evidence of the notable change which has been taking place in the real estate business under the influence of the general introduction of tall buildings.

When the real estate business was essentially a brokerage business, even the biggest of the men engaged in it were as a rule satisfied to keep tabs on the credit standing of a few "names," which could be done by glancing over the judgments and other "records." Today, when every real estate house of any consequence has in its charge the management of a number of big and costly buildings, for the financial prosperity of which it is responsible, the sort of credit information that used to be sufficient is no longer adequate.

Placed where they must themselves pass on the desirability of intending tenants of valuable space, real estate men subscribe to the service of commercial credit houses. In other words, credit records have been specialized out of modern real estate offices, and the attention formerly given to them is given to, for example, such expert and highly technical records as are described by the Charles F. Noyes Company in our Building Management Department this week. The discontinuance of the judgments and satisfied judgments will enable us to give more space to matters of practical value.

Another departmental change in the Record and Guide which, we hope, will increase the usefulness of the paper affects the news relating to municipal improvements. The publication of this in full was undertaken before the Borough Presidents now in office had instituted radically new methods of publicity with respect to local board meetings and calendars. The Information Bureau, originated in The Bronx by President Miller and copied in the other boroughs, justifies us in replacing the detailed index method of treating public projects with more readable and, under existing circumstances, more valuable descriptive news summaries.

BOARD OF ESTIMATE.

Filtration Project Reported On.—Roebling Street Assessment Reduced.

Comptroller Prendergast announced at the meeting of the Board of Estimate, Thursday, that the sub-committee of engineers to which was referred the application of Commissioner Henry S. Thompson, of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, for a bond issue to cover the cost of constructing a filtration plant at the Jerome Park reservoir, has completed its report, and, that the matter would be in the hands of the board by Friday. The committee, it was learned, favors the construction of the filtration plant, which will cost, with the necessary connections and the acquirement of necessary real estate, in the neighborhood of $7,500,000. A minority report will be presented, however, which will question seriously the necessity of constructing a plant at all.

The board took steps to have the New York City Railways Company resume operation of a trolley line across the Madison avenue bridge to 138th street and Mott avenue, which the company discontinued when the board notified it that the line was being operated without a franchise. H. P. Nicolls, chief of the franchise division of the board, submitted a petition from 300 property owners declaring the service necessary.

Roebling Street Assessment.

A committee reported on the appeal of Brooklyn women for relief from the assessment for the widening of Roebling street for the Brooklyn approach of the Williamsburgh bridge, recommending a reduction of the tax on abutting property from 10 per cent. to 3 per cent. Property owners appeared before Mayor Gaynor a few weeks ago in support of a bill which had been put through the Legislature placing the cost of the improvement on the city at large.

The Mayor said that he would veto the bill because it struck at home rule, but that the property owners should have appealed to the Board of Estimate. He appointed Borough Presidents Steers, Connolly and Miller a committee.

The committee, with President Miller dissenting, reported to the board in favor of an assessment of 25 per cent on the city, 20 per cent. on Manhattan, 52 per cent. on Brooklyn and 3 per cent. on the abutting property owners. This will reduce the average assessment on the latter class from an average of $34.43 per foot to between $8 and $9 a front foot. The cost of the proceeding was $830,253.60, of which local property owners, under the original assessment figures, would have had to bear $83,025.36.

The Board also selected a site at the new Seaside Park at Rockaway for "Smiling Joe's" $250,000 hospital.

Court House Plans in Competition.

The architectural plans submitted in competition for the new court house are on exhibition at the Fine Arts Building in 57th street—every one of them, including the winner—so that the public can see what the problem was which the three members of the jury had to decide. Take the Lowell plan away, and it might have been a very difficult matter to choose between the American skyscrapers and the Greek temples which predominate among the other designs.

With only one round building among them all, and with a site which a round building will fit as no other ever would, it is not at all surprising that the judges chose Lowell's. It was the chance in a million for a round building, a chance which American architects had long been waiting for, in order to design an American coliseum. When the opportunity came they forgot. "If I had only thought," said they all. Lowell was the one who did not forget.

Beautiful buildings are included among the designs—tower buildings like Butler and Morris's, Murchison and Greeneley's, and Sire and Kaufman's, massive Roman buildings, like York and Sawyer's, buildings with a university feeling like Griffith & Wynkoop's, and those after the order of the Municipal Building. Walker & Gillette, Trowbridge & Livingston's, Cass Gilbert's, Lafarge & Morris's, George B. Post & Son's, Arnold W. Brunner's, Magonigle's and the rest—all are chaste conceptions creditable to New York.

Central Purchasing Agency.

Comptroller Prendergast has asked for a hearing by the Committee on Affairs of Cities in the Senate and Assembly on the Cullen-Coughlin Bill, which provides for the establishment of a central purchasing department for the City of New York. He has been assured that such a hearing will be given. The Comptroller has been informed that the only opposition to the bill has been entered by the Police Department of the City of New York. The reason given for the opposition by the Police Department is that the establishment of the central purchasing agency "would be an over-centralization which would not operate in the interest of efficiency." The bill has the support of the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Association, and practically all civic organizations which are interested in the improvement of New York City's business methods.

Chimney Smoke.

simply because some adjoining owner pleased to erect a nine-story tenement house or a skyscraping office or loft building alongside.

This is a very important decision; but there should be some statute or provision in the building code to cover the situation, just as there is now a rule for supporting adjoining buildings when excavations go ten or more feet below the curb; so in erecting a new building provision should be made for maintaining the draft of flues on lower properties.

New Buying.

There is significant buying along the lines of the new subways. Lexington avenue is the favorite section, but the Bronx and Brooklyn branches are showing a more vigorous disposition to discount coming big transit readjustments.—R. E. Board of Brokers' Bulletin.

—Home mortgages are among the soundest investments. Usually the home owner will not let go until he is torn loose by adverse circumstances of the severest kind and when the other fellow walks the floor—you don't have to.—R. E. Board of Brokers' Bulletin.

—The number of dark public halls in tenements in New York City was reduced from 17,093 to 13,579 last year. The number of tenement rooms without windows was reduced from 50,500 to 23,788.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Administration's Whip Hand Over Politicians and Big Business in Tariff Debates Keeps Up Optimism—Building Outside of New York Active.

Prices Holding Firm, Despite Light Demand, Owing to Low Mill Supplies and Shortage of Steel.

CONDITIONS which have depressed the New York building material market for the last three months are changing. The first indication of this shift in temperament was discovered when it was shown that the steel companies were in receipt of orders sufficiently large to give April a fair showing from the East in building requirements, notwithstanding the delay caused by floods. Another reason for a more optimistic sentiment among building material interests was found in the continued demand for lumber, which, contrary to steel, reflects the building temperament of the suburbs. In Newark there was reported to be a slight shortage in brick supply, which is also the case of certain kinds of lumber, notably spruce and oak. Throughout East Jersey there was an advance of fifty cents a thousand for spruce lath and select common brick was reported to be slightly stiffer, although here in New York the demand was so light as to make current prices of $7 to $7.25 weak at top.

Consumers of building materials have doubtless been waiting for the recent depreciation in the eastern building field to bear prices, but the supplies at the mills are so low that no decrease in prices seems likely, even though the market fails to continue the strengthening tone it revealed this week. On the floor of the Building Material Exchange there was a decidedly optimistic sentiment, based largely upon the fact that the administration's tariff revision program, calls for prompt action and that there seems to be good grounds for expecting this business disturbing matter to be safely out of the way by the time the building season gets its full momentum. Construction interests here believe that the money market will continue to hold firm so long as Washington shows a disposition to hold a whip hand over politicians and big business interests.

In considering the much-talked-of depression in building material circles during the first quarter of 1913, it is significant that the total contemplated expenditure for construction of buildings under permits issued in various cities for the first quarter exceeds that of any previous year. Of 139 cities reporting in March 88 showed increases, but owing to the large decreases in New York and Boston the total of all is only $84,129,150, as against $86,256,800 last year. The falling off is slightly greater as compared with 1911, and the decline from 1910 reaches over $10,000,000. For Greater New York the comparison is between $17,905,881 and $27,049,988, with the bulk of the loss in Manhattan. The cities outside of New York, 138 in number, show a total of $66,223,000, against $59,206,812 in 1912 and $70,538,776 in 1911. The cities of Elizabeth and Newark are among the 22 in the middle section showing greater activity than was recorded a year ago.

All the sections or groups show an aggregate prospective outlay for 138 cities, exclusive of New York, of $156,000,000 for the three months of 1913, as against $136,509,463 in 1912, and a total of a little in excess of $140,000,000 in 1911. New York's results for the corresponding period are $43,804,100, $52,200,557 and $40,461,336.

BRICK KILNS RESUME.

Several North River Plants Reopen for 1913 Season—Demand Light.

WHILE there are numerous barge loads of brick at various docks consigned to dealers, the movement of this commodity into buildings is moderate. On Tuesday of this week there were 73 boat loads of brick available in the wholesale market where they were bringing from $7 to $7.25 in a dull market. Three plants, one at Dutchess Junction, and others at Haverstraw, resumed operations this week and are using about the same capacity as last year or about one-half the maximum output.

The outlook for the season is for a moderate demand although conditions may change in this respect when the steel mills begin to throw back some of their capacity now largely devoted to railway fabrication under forced orders and the effect of pending tariff revision on building materials can be gauged. If the administration's plan for speedy action on this measure is consummated it is probable that the brick market will attain a normal pace by about the middle of July.

There is a fair supply of brick in sheds up the river still available to take care of the market's requirements for the next six weeks or until new brick begins to come into the market.

Official transactions for North river common brick during the last week with records covering the corresponding week last year follow:

Newark reported a little shortage in the supply of brick this week, although there had been no change in quotations of $8.25 per yard for ordinary run of brick. For select Hudson rivers the price ran a little higher. The general demand for brick was moderate.

STEEL FABRICATORS ACTIVE.

Local Interests Expect Subway Requirements to Fill Depletion Here.

SHOULD there be, for any reason, a depletion of steel orders during the next few months in this market, the steel requirements for the subway probably will make up for any possible shortage, according to views expressed by steel mill representatives this week. Fabricators supplying this market said this week that they were busy and that April shipments probably will exceed specifications booked. The lull that was reported during the last two weeks has given way to new orders and in the interim they have had an opportunity to catch up with some of their back orders.

Wire interests report a continuance of very satisfactory conditions, specifications being made in good volume and regularly. In the immediate vicinity of New York there is a falling away in building contracting of 25 per cent., as compared with this period last year, but in the West there is a slightly improved outlook; crop conditions are encouraging and are stimulating improvements.

The Record and Guide was asked this week regarding the possible effect the action of the steel companies in throwing much of their capacity into railroad bridge fabricating to take care of the demand for new bridges in the flooded districts will have on the building material situation. This cannot have any possible effect upon current business because most of the steel as used in buildings in this district during April and May has already been fabricated. There is a possibility, however, that building orders to be delivered in June and July may be subject to slight delay, but there is sufficient reserve capacity to take care of all requirements even should subway contracts develop between now and then. Prices are not expected to advance, but iron pipe may move up should certain conditions arise.

The wire trade, which experienced an unexpected advance of $1 a ton just before the floods, reports, the new prices much more generally upheld them heretofore. In sheet steel, shading of $1 a ton was reported in the heavier lines.

LATH GENERALLY HIGHER.

Prices of All Lumber Hold Firm Despite Light Demand.

THE lumber market showed the stiffest attitude of all departments in building materials this week. In Newark the price of spruce lath has advanced fifty cents a thousand. Here in New York the wholesalers report lath in scant supply with very few cargoes afloat. Strong prices will probably continue to rule for some time to come. Cargoes are being sold from $4.40 to $4.50 for good standard slab lath. Some shipments have moved at figures stronger than these. Spruce in general is strong. Random spruce is quoted at $22.50 for narrow and short up to $27 and $28 for large sizes.

The Penobscot River mills are already starting up, the largest plant on the river, that of the Eastern Manufacturing Company, having begun sawing on Monday, April 7, while all of the other mills on the river will be in full operation on or before May 1. Local commission houses are inclined to believe that if Eastern rivers hold to a good driving stage, bringing the logs now in the rivers down to the mill booms, there will be a fair average supply, even if the demand holds up to the high pressure of one year ago.

Hemlock is quoted at $24.50 base price for Pennsylvania stock at local points, and at these figures there appears to be no pressure to sell on the part of the mills and no special enthusiasm for buying on the part of the mills and no special enthusiasm for buying on the part of the yard men. They are not inclined to place round lot orders, preferring to wait until the exact relation between supply and demand defines just what the market is to be when the full tide of spring buying starts in. Very little hemlock is coming this way from the East by vessel, as the demand throughout New England for the past year has been sufficiently strong to keep all Northern and Eastern products at mill points well cleaned up.

North Carolina pine has passed through another month of strong demand and moderate production, so that the mills are still well oversold, particularly on rough stock. Shipments that had been delayed by scarcity of vessels are now coming forward freely, as the mills find no difficulty in securing an adequate supply of tonnage, as many of the small coasting vessels have come out of winter quarters and are seeking charter.

Long leaf yellow pine is moderately active, and the mills are showing some tendency to meet the views of buyers in the matter of price, and this may result in starting some shipments in this direction that would have come long ago but for the high range of prices prevailing, coupled with vessel rates that range from $1.50 to $2 per 1,000 above normal figures.

White pine is moderately active and very firm in the selling price, the box grades being particularly strong and in scant supply, both in the West and in Canada.

Plain and quartered oak, mahogany, good native birch, Western maple and wide poplar being most in the limelight, with Tennessee red gum perhaps making more progress toward general favor than any other class of stock.

Wholesalers kept the wires hot between this city and New Orleans this week to ascertain the volume of damage done by the breaking of the levee between Vicksburg and Greenville and the districts in Sharky and Isaquena counties. It is feared that all hardwood lumber mills in Washington and Warren counties were also damaged. No definite word was received regarding the extent of the lumber damage, but most of the districts in the lower Mississippi Valley had much hardwood lumber in pile, which, it was feared, has either floated off or has been soaked with water and mud. If this proves to be the case sharp advances in hardwoods may be expected.

BETTER INQUIRY FOR LIME.

Outlook for Plaster Market Considered Better.

THE general market for lime and plaster seems to be stronger in tone, prices being held firm. The diminished volume of new construction work during the first quarter now gives promise of little more strength, but whether this is temporary or an indication of increasing activity in this department none of the lime interests were prepared to say this week. Reports from the kilns are to the effect that about the same capacity used last year is being worked at present, but some agents here are inclined to look upon the future market with considerable optimism because of the splendid building movement in the West.

PORTLAND CEMENT EASY.

E. B. Goode, Jr., Takes Local Management for Lehigh Company.

CEMENT is easy and quotations are generally held firmly. The mill stocks are a little heavier than two months ago, owing to the temporary falling off in demand in New York and vicinity and the tie-up of freight following the recent floods did not help matters much in this particular.

One of the recent developments in the local distributing market was the appointment of E. B. Goode, Jr., as manager of the New York office of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, of 261 Broadway, succeeding in that department H. A. Brocas, the well-known lime man, who, following the death of Hiram Snyder, temporarily assumed the sales management of both the Kelly Island Lime & Transport Company's and Lehigh Portland Cement Company's products in this territory. The development of both of these commodities under Mr. Brocas' management was so great as to make it impractical for him to continue the management of both departments, hence the elevation of Mr. Goode, who was formerly a salesman for the Lehigh Company. Mr. Brocas will continue to manage the New York office of the Kelly Island Lime & Transport Company, at 103 Park avenue, while the offices of the Lehigh Cement Company will be continued as heretofore in the Smith-Gray Building at Broadway and Warren street.

THE WEEK'S REAL ESTATE NEWS

Brokerage Sales, Auctions, Foreclosure Suits, Building Loans, etc., Together With Brief Personal Items.

Apartment Houses Formed the Bulk of the Week's Dealing.

Our news columns show extensive dealing in apartment houses throughout the upper half of Manhattan this week. There were signs of approaching summer lethargy. The Bronx contributed a large corner property to the week's total of dealing. Brooklyn still continues active and private dwellings and two-family houses appear to be in good demand there. Staten Island was the scene of a large sale, a famous old hotel having been bought together with extensive riparian rights on the harbor.

The total number of sales in Manhattan this week was 40.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 13 against 14 last week and 21 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 27 compared with 18 last week and 23 a year ago.

From The Bronx, 17 sales at private contract were reported, against 13 last week and 26 a year ago.

The amount involved in the Manhattan and Bronx auction sales this week was $900,230, compared with $1,445,765 last week, making a total since January 1 of $1,926,772. The figure for the corresponding week last year was $1,926,772, making the total since January 1, 1912, $16,800,438.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

Manhattan—South of 59th Street.

PEASE & ELLIMAN rented "Wind Sweep," the beautiful country place belonging to Mrs. W. R. Houghtaling, at Sharon, Conn. to Harry G. Costello.

W. BURLING COCKS and Samuel Willets leased the William R. Farquhar place at Hempstead to J. Randolph Robinson.

DE BLOIS & ELDRIDGE leased to Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, the Colonel George R. Fearing estate, known as Shelton Place, corner of Narragansett av and Annandale rd, Newport, R. I.

PEASE & ELLIMAN leased for F. R. Coudert his cottage at Oyster Bay, L. L., to a client for the summer season.

JOHN F. SCOTT rented for Mrs. Le Grand L. Benedict her country place on Hollywood Crossing, Cedarhurst, L. I., to Charles Palmer.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

MALCOLM E. SMITH has been appointed agent of 120 West 94th st.

DOUGLAS L. ELLIMAN & CO. have been appointed agents of 122 and 124 East 82d st.

WM. E. FINN is the buyer of 49 West 68th st, a dwelling, which was sold recently by Mrs. Elizabeth D. Greene.

MAYER S. AUERBACH, Real Estate, formerly of 71-73 Nassau st, has moved to 30 East 42d st.

ERNEST M. VICKERS, POLIZZI & CO., negotiated the sale of the tenement house at 335-37 East 118th st for A. Baur, who took title last Wednesday.

THE ROFFLER CONSTRUCTION CO. is the buyer of the dwelling at 52 East 78th st, reported sold recently by Mary R. Haines, who gave the property in part payment for the Aronare Apartment house at 504 to 510 West 111th st.

THE J. ROMAINE BROWN CO. was the broker in the sale for the Simbar Realty Corporation, Meyer Solomon, president, of half the block front on Fort Washington av at the northwest corner of 161st st, to the Hilliard Construction Co., Irving Judas, president.

ALFRED B. STONE has succeeded to the real estate business of his father, the late Burke Stone, who for many years was the leading broker in Bronxville, Westchester County. Burke Stone died about two weeks ago. The firm name now is Burke Stone, Incorporated.

MILLER, M'MANN & DONLEY were the brokers in the lease of the property at 306 Madison av, for Jos. H. Mahan to Chas. McPherson, for a term of 19 years and 3 months. Mr. McPherson represents the Johnson-Billings-Brady syndicate.

THE LEASE closed in the latter part of 1911, whereby the firm of Einstein, Wolff & Co. agreed to take over the 12-sty loft building erected by Mrs. Louisa M. Gerry on the cite of the old Hoffman House annex was recorded on Apr. 18 and shows that the lessees will pay a rental of $83,250 a year for the property. The lease is for 20 years from last February.

THE VYSE ESTATE PROPERTY OWNERS' ASSOCIATION will hold a public meeting on May 5, at the Superior Theatre, 172d st and Southern Boulevard, for the purpose of urging the establishing of a subway station of the Lenox av branch at 172d st, Bronx. It is desired that all property owners interested in this part of New York City, whether members of the association or not, will attend. The point mentioned is the center of a rapidly growing section and the nearest station is from 5 to 6 blocks either north or south of that point.

EDWIN GOLDSMITH has become a member of the real estate firm of A. L. Mordecai & Son, who have removed their offices from 135 Broadway to 30 East 42d st. The firm will retire from the brokerage branch of the business and confine their activities to the buying and selling of real estate and building on their own account and under contract for others. The offices of the following concerns with whom the Mordecais are associated have also removed their offices to the 42d st address: The Allendale Building Co., the Allenel Construction Co., the Montana Construction Co. and the Realty Mortgage Co.

BONDHOLDERS in Henry Corn's defunct Real Property Holding Co. have incorporated at Albany the 84 Fifth Avenue Corporation and the 110 Fifth Avenue Corporation, each with a capital of $5,000, to take over the properties of those locations. The incorporators recently acquired several of the properties of the Improved Property Holding Co. which were sold in foreclosure proceedings. The parcel at 84-90 5th av, northwest corner of 14th st, consists of an 11-sty loft building on plot 103x100. A 10-sty building 158.4x92 occupies the site at 110-112 5th av, northwest corner of 16th st.

THE 1913 LAND TAX bills have been completed by the Finance Department and are now ready for distribution. Payments, however, cannot be made before May 1, when the first half of the bill or the whole tax may be paid, thus receiving a rebate on the second half, which is not due until November, at the rate of 4 per cent. premium. Failure to pay the first half of the tax during May, however, will add interest on the amount due from May 1, at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum.

DUPONT TAKES TITLE.

Equitable Site Is Now His in Fact.

T. C. Dupont, of Delaware, who is the head of the company that bought the site of the old Equitable Building, bounded by Broadway, Nassau, Pine and Cedar streets, took title to the same yesterday. The transaction was closed in the office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, at 165 Broadway, when Mr. Dupont paid over $8,000,000 in cash and securities. A mortgage for $20,500,000 accompanies the transfer. It is the largest mortgage ever recorded in connection with a single plot in this city. A 30-story office building will be built on the Equitable site. The mortgage bears interest at the rate of 4 per cent. a year. When the building is completed the total property will represent an investment of $30,000,000. The title stands in the name of the Equitable Building Company.

The Thompson-Starrett Company has the contract to erect the building. The Equitable Building Company was incorporated at Albany during the week, with a stated capital of $400,000.

Assessment Area to be Enlarged.

William Vincent Astor and Richard Howland Hunt have petitioned the Board of Estimate for relief from assessment in the matter of the proceeding title to White Plains road, from a point near old Unionport road to a point near Thwaites place, and to the area between Bronx Park East and White Plains road south of Bear Swamp road, Borough of The Bronx. A hearing will be held on May 29.

Engineer Lewis reports that this proceeding was authorized on December 30, 1909, and was amended on May 4, 1911. It relates to about one-half mile of White Plains road, which here has a width of 100 feet. The petitioners allege that the street is designed to correct an error in the original plan and that a width of 60 feet would be ample for the needs of the abutting owners; that the assessment district includes a smaller area on the westerly side than on the easterly side, with the effect of relieving from assessment land owned by the city within the limits of Bronx Park; and that the street was laid out in order to secure an improved alignment for the rapid transit system.

Both petitioners cite the White Plains road proceeding in the section north of Morris Park avenue, where, under the provisions of the rule adopted in 1902, the City assumed 40 per cent. of the expense. Neither of the petitioners refers to the proceedings relating to those portions of the street between Morris Park avenue and the East River, where the entire expense is to be assessed locally. It is understood that the policy of the Board does not permit of placing a portion of the expense upon the city at large in cases other than where the improvement is unmistakably of a metropolitan character, and that this feature does not apply to the improvement now under discussion.

Engineer Lewis says it might be practicable to recognize local benefit in this case to a greater extent than heretofore planned, and he recommends that, after giving a public hearing, the assessment district be enlarged to include a greater area.

Property Valuation in Great Cities.

The total assessed valuation of taxable property in 184 cities having a population of more than 30,000 each was $26,059,387,438 in 1910. Of this total, $17,491,117,653, or 67.2 per cent., was in eighteen cities which have a population of more than 300,000. The assessed valuations in some of the largest cities are shown as follows (a report from a United States Census Bureau):

New York, $8,322,958,952; Chicago, $848,994,536; Philadelphia, $1,458,851,880; Boston, $1,409,479,723; Jersey City, $241,561,118. Real property: New York, $7,044,192,674; Chicago, $603,022,875; Philadelphia, $1,457,108,534; Boston, $1,118,992,100; Jersey City, $184,481,409. Personal property: New York, $312,644,825; Chicago, $208,607,727; Philadelphia, $1,743,346; Boston, $278,471,478; Jersey City, $16,347,760. Other property reported: Chicago, $37,363,934.

Basis of assessment: New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Jersey City, 100 per cent.; Chicago, 33 per cent. In order to make a comparative calculation, therefore, it is necessary to multiply the above totals for Chicago by three.

Strengthening the Banking Standard.

By a decision of the Court of Appeals handed down the question of the liability of stockholders of a defunct banking institution, which has been argued in the courts for the last thirty years, has been finally settled. In accordance with this decision, all stockholders of institutions which are liquidated through the State Banking Department are liable to depositors for a full 100 per cent. of the amount of stock at par held. This ruling, it is expected, will have far-reaching influence in strengthening the banking standard of New York State.

1913 Tax Bills Payable.

Half the real estate taxes and all the personal taxes are payable in May. If the second half of the real estate tax is paid at this time, a rebate at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum is granted until Nov. 1, when the second half will be payable. On June 1 interest will be charged at 7 per cent., from May 1, on unpaid taxes due in May.

Suburban Long Island.

The striking feature of the suburban real estate situation just now is the number of new municipal improvements of the City of New York that are having a direct influence on Long Island real estate. To the casual observer it would seem that the city's course was invidious in its favoritism to the suburban area of Long Island east of the city line; but as a matter of fact the city is entirely indifferent in the premises. It is simply carrying on great municipal projects to increase the quick accessibility between Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens; and while Nassau County may go hang, so far as New York City is concerned, the fact is every transit improvement between the three boroughs mentioned redounds as well to the benefit of Nassau County.

Every new subway route in Brooklyn and Queens will make all parts of those boroughs more accessible to the Long Island railroad stations in Brooklyn and at Jamaica; and consequently prospective residents in the suburban area will have their desire to live in well populated parts of Nassau County quickened. The level parts of this county, especially, will be aided inestimably because the most important divisions of the Long Island Railroad pass through those parts. The vast level stretch extending from Rockville Centre, on the Montauk division to Hempstead, on the main line of the railroad is undergoing a growth and development that prophecy failed to foresee a decade ago. The Long Beach division, too, is through its electrical operation, reclaiming for homeseekers hundreds of acres between Oceanside and the beach. A new station is about to be erected at Oceanside and many new houses are in course of construction.

Among the great contributing causes to the steady activity of the Long Island real estate market are the plan to build a 160-foot wide boulevard from the city line through central Long Island to Montauk Point; the projected subway routes through Brooklyn and Queens: the plan to run cars between 10th avenue in Manhattan and Jackson avenue in Long Island City, by way of the Queensboro Bridge; and the imminent operation of the loop between the old Brooklyn Bridge and Manhattan Bridge. All of these improvements mean a wider distribution of population and an indirect benefit on the adjoining suburban county, which is Nassau.

The New South American Market.

Investigations made at the direction of Secretary Knox indicate that after the Panama Canal is open the American manufacturer can sell at least $50,000,000 worth of goods each year to the countries of the west coast of South America more cheaply than the people of those countries are now purchasing the same articles from Europe. This list includes cotton and woolen goods to the amount of $17,000,000, machinery, carriages and hardware and similar articles, $14,000,000, and coal and coke, $11,000,000; pharmaceutical articles, chemicals, print paper, shoes, canned goods, furniture, cigarettes, cigars and mineral waters.

A great deal of this trade will of course come to New York, and together with the new domestic trade from the West, via the New York State Barge Canal, and the stimulation from subways, start a most remarkable era of real estate prosperity in this country.

Rational Utilization of Coal.

Power for April contains on page 445 an article by F. E. Junge on the subject of the rational utilization of coal, in which he states that inferior grades of coal, which would hardly be worth transporting to industrial centers are used in Germany at the mouth of the mines in coal ovens by producers. The gas is used in gas engines for producing high tension electric current and innumerable byproducts are obtained from the tar residues. The article describes the practice followed abroad and it gives interesting details to show the wonderful economic results obtained by these processes. It is an article that any one at all interested in industrial economics will read with a great deal of interest.

The New United States Income Tax.

The tax is to be collected through the internal revenue division of the Treasury Department, which now collects the taxes on tobacco, cigars, liquors, oleomargarine and similar objects of internal revenue. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue will have direction and supervision over the collection of the income tax. He likewise has been in charge of the collection of the corporation tax for the past four years. Mr. Cobell, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has found that the corporation tax was the easiest of all taxes to collect.

The Commissioner will be required to issue forms and regulations for the collection of the income tax, and these regulations will indicate in everyday language, and very specifically, just how and where the tax must be paid and upon what it is to be paid. The regulations will indicate clearly who are to make returns and pay the tax direct to the Government and those whose incomes are not to be returned by themselves, but which are to be collected at the source.

The tax will be payable at the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue in the district where the individual paying the tax resides, providing the individual pays his tax direct.

That portion of the tax which is to be collected at the source must be paid in the district in which that source of payment resides. Corporations will pay to the Collector of Internal Revenue in the district where they are situated.

Payment at the source must be made in the case of all income which have a fixed annual basis. This is provided for in the paragraph of the bill which says that "all persons, firms, corporations, copartnerships, companies, joint stock companies, or associations and insurance companies, in whatever capacity acting, including lessees or mortgages of real and personal property and others having control of the payment of interest, rent, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensation, remuneration, emoluments, or other fixed or determinable annual gains, profits, and income, exceeding $4,000 for any taxable year, other than dividends on capital stock, who are required to make and render a return in behalf of another, as required by the income tax law, shall deduct and withsold from such annual income such sum as will be sufficient to pay the normal income tax proposed to be imposed."

The income must be fixed and determinable, and must extend over the period of an entire year, in order to be collectible at the source.

LAW DEPARTMENT

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

One of our clients asks that we ascertain from you whether he is liable for a commission under the following circumstances:

A owns a building in this city and up to February 1st employed B as agent to manage the property, paying him 2½% for the performance of all duties as agent. While agent, B renewed the store lease at $1,200, made a new lease for one loft, one year at $660, and renewed the 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th lofts for one year at various rents, leases beginning February 1st, 1913 and ending February 1, 1914.

Two days before February 1, 1913, A decided to change agents and withdrew the property from B's charge. B now sends a bill for commission for 2½% on all leases as though made by an independent broker.

Will you kindly inform us if A is liable for commission in this case or if B's services were the ordinary duties of his agency for which he was paid. It may have some bearing on the matter that B sold the property to A about 6 months ago and that he remained as agent since July or August last.

B had no written contract, but was employed verbally in the usual way to take charge of the property.

Answer: We believe it is the custom of the real estate trade to include all commissions to which an "agent" is entitled in the agreed upon collection commission, and this custom is sanctioned by the courts.

The claim for a brokerage, implied when a stranger to the property and the owner effects a letting, is merged into the fixed arrangement, when arising between "agent" and "owner." But this is only a presumption, or custom, at the most, throwing the burden of proving it not the intent of the parties upon the agent. —Editor.

Who May File a Mechanic's Lien.

The right to file a mechanic's lien is personal and non-assignable. In deciding the case of the Tisdale Lumber Company vs. the Read Realty Company, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Second Department, made these remarks concerning mechanics' liens:

"This action was brought to foreclose a mechanic's lien which was filed by the plaintiff as the assignee of Joseph B. Tisdale. The lien was claimed for materials Tisdale had sold to the defendant Cooper, and which were used in the construction of buildings upon lands of the Read Realty Company. It appears that Cooper has also filed a lien upon the same premises, and in his answer he demands that his lien be foreclosed.

"The right to file a mechanic's lien is a personal right limited to the person performing the labor or furnishing the material, and is not assignable. The transfer of the claim in suit therefore did not carry with it the assignor's right to acquire a valid lien. This has been the construction given to similar statutes for many years. The language of the statute limits the right to acquire a lien to persons performing the labor or furnishing the materials, and it must be construed in accordance with its terms; and the contention of respondent that the Legislature by using the words 'and includes his successor in interest' in the first subdivision of section 2 of the present Lien Law intended to permit a lien to be filed by an assignee cannot be sustained.

"The language defining the term 'lienor' is as follows: 'The term "lienor" when used in this chapter means any person having a lien upon property by virtue of its provisions, and includes his successor in interest.' A 'successor in interest' within the meaning of this term as used in the statute is one who succeeds to lienor's rights under valid notice of lien already filed, by assignment or otherwise. In other words, the assignor must have an existing lien before he can have a 'successor in interest.'

"The suggestion that Tisdale had an 'inchoate lien' and that plaintiff is his 'successor in interest' is without merit. There is no such thing as an 'inchoate' mechanic's lien."

Covenants.

Where a tract of land is divided into building lots and a plan exhibited, showing the prospective purchasers of the streets and lots thereof, and such purchasers are induced to buy the lots by and in reliance upon representations, either public or private, that all conveyances would contain protective restrictions of a designated character and purpose, it is held in Sanford v. Keer (N. J.) 40 L. R. A. (N.S.) 1090, that the restrictive covenants inserted in the conveyances of the lots in accordance with these representations, constitute a general or neighborhood scheme, and may be enforced between the lot purchasers inter se.

MORRIS PARK AT AUCTION.

Will Be the Largest Real Estate Auction Sale in History.—Will Begin May 31.

The action of the Banking Department of the State of New York, in authorizing the sale of the Morris Park Race Track, has cleared the way for what will be the largest real estate auction sale in the history of this or any other city.

The property, comprising 3,019 city lots, or about 260 acres, is to be sold on the premises by Joseph P. Day and J. Clarence Davies, beginning May 31. Some idea of the size of the property and what its sub-division and development will mean to The Bronx, may be gathered from the fact that it measures nearly a mile from north to south, and over half a mile from east to west —nearly half the size of Central Park. Its total street frontages on the thoroughfares already established by the city amount to about 14 miles. For weeks a force of several hundred men has been at work opening and grading those streets on which this work had not already been done, and before the sale these improvements will have been completed throughout the property, and title to every street ceded to the city.

Other Big Sales.

Some further idea of the size of this offering is to be had from comparison with other large auctions. The Ogden Estate sale in 1907 covered 1,000 lots in the West Bronx and extended over three days. The former Dyckman Estate sales, including practically all of what is now the Dyckman section, probably ranked as the largest, in the aggregate, of any auction of Manhattan and Bronx property, but those sales were spread over a period of three years, so that the sale of Morris Park, on several sucessive days, will easily take first place in point of magnitude in the history of realty selling.

Banking Claims.

The interest of the Banking Department of the State of New York, in the Morris Park sale, concerning which there has been not a little curiosity, is due to the desire of the Banking Department to convert speedily into cash the assets of the defunct Carnegie Trust Company and Northern Bank. A large part of these assets are tied up in the Morris Park property, and while these might be converted into cash by methods of private selling, Superintendent Van Tuyl has felt that the quick realization possible under an auction sale, will be more advantageous to all parties concerned.

At the office of the State Banking Department in New York City yesterday, it was said that there was no justification for the impression widely current that the connection of the state's name and the use of the state seal in connection with the Morris Park sale involves any ursurpation of authority—although the practice of addressing the people of the state in reality auction announcements has apparently become popular within the last fortnight. The decision to sell the Morris Park property under the hammer, the Banking Department says, has the approval of the Supreme Court and was reached only after a long consultation on the part of the state authorities and counsel for the various interests in the defunct financial institutions. The announcements concerning it have been made with the full endorsement of Governor Sulzer and Superintendent Van Tuyl, and with the approval of Attorney-General Carmody, George W. Egbert, Deputy Superintendent of Banks in charge of the Carnegie Trust Co. in liquidation; Frank M. Patterson, counsel for the Superintendent of Banks as liquidator of the Carnegie Trust Co.; Charles A. Horne, Deputy Superintendent of Banks in charge of the Northern Bank of New York in liquidation; Breed, Abbott & Morgan, attorneys for the Superintendent of Banks as liquidator of the Northern Bank of New York.

Without Reserve.

Messrs. Davies and Day in speaking of the sale yesterday, emphasized the importance of the foregoing facts.

"They mean," said Messrs. Davies and Day, "that the sole object of this sale is to convert real estate into cash and that every lot in Morris Park must be sold to the highest bidder. If there has ever been a sale of real estate to which the phrase 'absolute and without reserve' can be attached, this is it, and when desirable real estate is offered openly under these conditions, it is beyond the power of anyone to estimate the buying power back of the New York real estate market.

"There have been big sales in the past, but sales of this character have always ended with this buying power unexhausted. That, briefly, is why we have felt confident in taking up the vast undertaking involved in this offering of over 3,000 lots."

Real estate interests in The Bronx have heard with satisfaction the definite announcement that Morris Park is to be sold. With transit improvements now in operation, and others about to be made, the sub-division of this immense tract lying directly in the line of the growth of The Bronx, will have a highly beneficial effect, not only upon this property itself but upon a great deal of surrounding property and the whole area beyond.

Transit Facilities.

A glance at the map will serve to emphasize the importance of the phase of the situation. The two great transit arteries which now traverse this territory, are the New York, Westchester & Boston R. R. and the six-track Harlem River branch of the New Haven. Between the Morris Park stations of these two lines lies the Morris Park property, in effect a barrier, in its present shape, to the development of the territory beyond. Similarly with regard to the extensions of the present subway system, soon to be built up White Plains avenue and out Southern Boulevard and Westchester avenue. On the White Plains avenue road there will be a station within two blocks of the Morris Park property. Furthermore, taking the area between these two lines immediately beyond the Van Nest and the Westchester Village sections, it will be seen that over half of it is within the boundaries of Morris Park, so that the subdivision and opening up of that property to builders will have a stimulating influence over the whole of the intervening district between these two new lines.

Another illustration of how the uncertainty as to Morris Park's future has blocked the expansion of The Bronx is afforded by the Morris Park avenue trolley line which comes to an abrupt end at the westerly boundary of the Morris Park property. Now that the rapid development of the old race track is assured in connection with the coming auction sale, this trolley line is to be extended. Arrangements are now well advanced for the extension of the line through Morris Park avenue to Williamsbridge road. This will probably be done within the next month, placing the whole of the Morris Park property in direct communication with the subway terminus at West Farms.

A New Railroad Station.

Other important transit improvements which are to be a direct result of the decision to sell Morris Park, will be the opening within a few days of the completed but never used Morris Park station on the New Haven's six-track line and the hastening of work on the connection between Westchester & Boston R. R. and the subway at 180th street near Bronx Park. Plans of the Public Service Commission make the connection between the two latter lines one of the extensions authorized under the dual subway system. This connection will, in effect, make the station at Morris Park on the Westchester & Boston a station on the present subway, wholly independent of the benefit which that section will derive from the new lines on White Plains avenue and Westchester avenue. The opening of the Morris Park station on the New Haven's six-track route will give that section direct connection with the whole of the east side elevated system.

These provisions of the transportation companies to anticipate what they feel will be the increased requirements of that part of the city only strengthen the impression of the casual visitor that Morris Park is ready to be added to the built-over district of The Bronx. To the south and west the built-up section comes to the boundaries of the property, and had it not been for the conditions surrounding the ownership of this tract for the last ten years, it is safe to say that its broad expanses would have been dotted with buildings before this.

When the elder Morris bought these 260 acres, then far out in the country, he must have had an eye to their future availability for something besides horse racing; for builders agree that it would be difficult to find in the five boroughs land better suited to their purposes. The elder Morris must have seen that this vast tract, not only level, but also high and well drained, had all the natural characteristics fitting it to become part of the greater city. Most of the transit facilities which it now enjoys were then not even on the map, but its location with relation to what were then the chief thoroughfares of that part of Westchester County and the knowledge that the growth of the city has been steadily to the north must have been determining factors with him—and he had the whole of what is now The Bronx and Westchester to choose from.

The 3,000 lots in Morris Park will be sold singly, and if past auction sales may be made a basis of judgment there will be plenty of buyers who will recognize the possibilities of this property fully as keenly as did the Morrises.

Subway Extension Asked.

Because of the protests of Jacob A. Cantor and others that they had spent considerable money in improving their property on Lexington avenue south of 42d street on the supposition that a subway was going through there, the Board of Estimate conference committee and the Public Service Commission will hold a public hearing next week on the question as to where the Lexington avenue subway shall be diverted into the present subway in Park avenue.

They propose that the Lexington avenue line be carried down that thoroughfare as far as 33d street and through that street to a connection with the Park avenue line.

West Side Tracks.

The special committee appointed by the Merchants' Association to consider the Board of Estimate committee's report on the relocation of the New York Central tracks on the West Side of Manhattan, has made an inspection of the route covered by the plan, and on Monday held a conference with property owners.

The committee consists of Mr. Walter Stabler, chairman; Mr. George B. Francis, Mr. William E. Cleary, Mr. William Crawford and Mr. Francis L. Pruyn. The details of the plan were explained by the Board of Estimate's engineers.

Broadway Subway Construction Soon.

The Broadway subway contracts of the New York Municipal Railway system will be advertised next week. They have been delayed for five days in order to give the Broadway merchants a chance to arrange dumps along the route which will obviate interruptions to traffic during the three and a half years of construction.

Chairman McCall told some of the merchants they could not have more than five days, as the Commission is very anxious to get to work on this part of the Broadway line.

The Fifty-ninth street sections are not yet ready to advertise, but, as this part of the line is to be only double-tracked, it will be finished before the Broadway main line.

It is expected the Whitehall-Montague street route, which will include the downtown Brooklyn-Manhattan tunnel of the New York Municipal Railway, will also be built in about two and a half years. Contractors have informed the Commission it will take less than three years at any rate, by the improved methods of construction now possible to employ.

Terminal plans at the Battery present the greatest engineering difficulties on this line, but they have been about worked out by the commission and B. R. T. engineers.

Part of the work on the Canal street spur of the Broadway line is now being done. The B. R. T. has bought the building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Canal street and is preparing to construct the track connection there, which will ensure a through train service for Brooklyn people via Manhattan Bridge to the uptown theatre and shopping districts of Manhattan. The plans are so elaborate here the cost will overrun the first estimates. The B. R. T. stands this expense.

Damage Awards Confirmed.

The report of the commissioners in condemnation proceedings of the awards of damages, amounting to about $3,200,000, for land required for the passage of the Fourth avenue subway through Fulton street, between Ashland place and the Flatbush avenue extension, was this week confirmed by the Supreme Court. The three commissioners were ex-Judge William B. Hurd, Arthur Somers and Eustace Conway.

About thirty separate damage parcels are involved in the awards now confirmed. The two largest awards were to the Realty Associates, owners of a building and corner plot at Fulton street and the Flatbush avenue extension, for which they were given $826,250, which represents an increase in value of about 100 per cent. in a very short time. The next largest award was to former Supreme Court Justice Josiah T. Marean, who owned a building at 627 Fulton street, ocupied by Silsbe's restaurant. He will receive $234,631.11.

Exclusive Feature

OF THE

Real Estate Directory

Our Cumulative Bulletin obviates all labor of posting records, and gives a complete transcript of the deed including a description of the property.

We can't explain all the advantages of the Cumulative Bulletin in this announcement, but a sample copy will give you the idea—one will be sent free on request.

There are six other exclusive features of THE REAL ESTATE DIRECTORY, any one of which is worth the full subscription price.

The Real Estate Directory is more complete than ever. You should examine a copy at once.

The real cost to you, of an ownership service, lies in its errors.

Each error costs youanywhere from $1.00 to $1000, in lost time and opportunity. We can furnish you with an almost perfect system. A really good service is very expensive to prepare and we cater only to those who want the BEST.

Write for seven exclusive features in the Real Estate Directory, any one of which is worth the full subscription price—more complete than ever. You should examine a copy at once.

Superintendent of Buildings.

MODIFICATION—SECTION 96, BUILDING CODE.

In re Application No. 501, Alterations 1913; premises, 718 Fifth avenue, southwest corner 56th street and Fifth avenue.

In the alteration of a five-story fireproof building occupied as stores in the first and second stories and bachelor apartments on the upper three floors, it is proposed to construct an elevator shaft extending from the basement floor to the under side of the third floor. The enclosure walls of this shaft are to be of brick eight inches thick, and the top of this shaft is to be closed up with a reinforced 4-inch cinder concrete slab. The installation of the elevator in this shaft is to comply in all other respects with the requirements of the Building Code and the Elevator Regulations.

A modification of section 96 of the Building Code is requested and hereby granted, to permit this form of construction, inasmuch as this elevator is to be used only by the tenant occupying the first and second floors, and to require the shaft to be carried up to and through the roof would result in the unnecessary loss of floor space on the upper floors. Furthermore, no additional fire hazard will be incurred.

DATED, New York, March 19, 1913.
(Signed) RUDOLPH P. MILLER,
Superintendent of Buildings.

APPROVED:

Acting President of the Borough of Manhattan.

BULLETIN NO. 11—1913.

MODIFICATION—SECTION 125—PLUMBING & DRAINAGE REGULATIONS.

In re Application No. 551, New Buildings, 1912: premises, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 Vanderbilt avenue, 51-53 East 42d street and 52 East 43d street.

In a six-story store and office fireproof building, it is proposed to substitute for the open shafts required by section 125 of the Plumbing and Draining Regulations for the ventilation of interior toilet rooms, a mechanical system of ventilation, same consisting of metal ducts leading from each toilet room to an exhaust fan on the roof, the ducts and fans being carefully designed to produce a positive circulation of air. All the mechanism is under the care of a competent engineer whose duty it is to look after the entire mechanical equipment of the building.

A modification of section 125 of the Plumbing and Drainage Regulations is requested and hereby granted to permit the substitution outlined above, inasmuch as the ventilation of the toilet rooms under this system will be equally as good as that required by the Regulations.

Dated, New York, Feb. 18, 1913.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

Architect for New Parish House.

Charles C. Haight, architect, 452 Fifth avenue, is preparing tentative plans for a twelve-story parish house to be erected by the Church of the Holy Communion, of which the Rev. Dr. Henry Mottet is pastor, on the easterly part of the church's property at the northeast corner of Sixth avenue and 20th street. The building will cover a frontage of about 80 feet with a depth of 60 feet, taking in 47-49 West 20th street. Two of the upper floors will be occupied by a gymnasium and adequate provision will be made for other branches of educational and social work. The estimated cost is placed at $500,000.

New Restaurant to Replace Dolan's.

Francis Hustace, of Montclair, N. J., now owner of Dolan's restaurant property at 33 Park Row, adjoining Beekman street, 23x85.11 feet, is having plans prepared by H. R. Wilson & Co., of 111 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, for a four-story store and loft building to replace the three-story structure now occupying the premises. John R. Thompson, of 186 North State street, Chicago, is the lessee, and in all probability will open a new restaurant there. The site is now being cleared.

Broadway and 181st Street Taxpayer.

The Estate of Robert E. Westcott, 33 Wall street, will soon start the erection of a two-story taxpayer, 100x150 feet at Broadway and 181st St., from plans by Townsend, Steinle & Haskell, Broadway and 34th street. The first story will be used as a moving picture theatre, and the second floor for offices. The architects will call for bids on the general contract about May 15.

Had Erected 19 Buildings

A certain great office and loft structure was recently completed, and is using Edison Service for its light and power. The owners had erected 19 large buildings previous to this; so their experience was very extensive

Proof of Superiority

When owners with so wide an experience decide in favor of Edison Service, is it not conclusive proof that it must be the best method?

New "Tapestry" Literature.

"Through the Home of Tapestry Brick" is the title of Brochure No. 28, of exceptional merit, that is being issued by Fiske & Company, of the Arena Building. The book depicts in fine color photography the attractive rooms in the top floor of the Arena Building where Fiske & Company have their offices. Each room shows a different application of wire cut brick and the description of it by Arthur G. Byne is exceptionally interesting.

Another booklet, No. 29, just published, shows the application of tapestry brick in the tap room of the Hotel Belvidere, and also in the entrance lobby of the Otis Elevator Company in this city, as well as the ramps in the Grand Central Station. It also gives several suggestions all in colors of the applications of decorative brick in floors, walls and ceilings. Copies will be sent upon request.

Moves to 40th Street.

The Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company has moved its general offices from 9 Murray street to 9 East 40th street. This new location was selected by the company after long and thorough investigation, as the one best suited to meet the conveniences of its customers. It is in the center of the up-town section of the city, midway between the two great railroad terminals, in the heart of the hotel district, and easily accessible from all parts of the city.

The site comprises a plot 50x100 feet, occupied by a twelve-story building, erected and owned by Yale & Towne and designed to meet their requirements. The entire ground floor is devoted to a series of exhibit rooms, which, when completed (about July 1st), will comprise the largest and most effective display of locks and builders' hardware which has ever been made, and which are designed to serve the convenience of architects and their clients, and of the firm's customers generally. In the basement, well lighted, is located the city salesroom, for the convenience of the local trade customers, and a large stock room. The company invites its customers to inspect its new building.

Increase Drying Kiln Capacity.

The Weisberg-Baer Company, manufacturers of high-grade interior wood work, window frames, sash and doors, of Boulevard and Orchard street, Astoria, has added a 3-sty brick factory to its plant which contains a most modern kiln operated by a Sturtevant blower equipment and giving an additional drying capacity of 200,000 sq. ft. of lumber every ten days. A 500 horsepower Watts-Campbell engine has also been installed to operate the company's new wood-working machinery, which puts the company in a position to handle a much larger quantity of the better class of apartment house work.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS USED AND RULES FOLLOWED IN COMPILING RECORDS.

Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed omitting all covenants and warranty.

C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given. When the date of drawing is other than in the current year the stated year is given. When both the dates are in the same year the year follows the second date.

The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1912

T. S. preceding the consideration in a conveyance means that the deed or conveyance has been recorded under the Torrens System.

Flats and apartment houses are classified as tenements.

Residences as dwellings.

All Christian names, streets, avenues, states and months are abbreviated when possible, also in some instances names of Banks, Trusts and Insurance Companies.

The number in ( ) preceding the serial number to the right of the date line, at head of this page, is the Index number for the Checking Index.

The Star following names of street or avenue in the Bronx Conveyances, Leases and Mortgages indicates that the property recorded is in the annexed district, for which there is no section or block number.

NEW YORK, MAY 3, 1913

A MODERN TYPE OF OFFICE CONSTRUCTION

The Architects' Building Is an Interesting Solution of the Problem of Achieving Good Light and Economy of Upkeep Through Simple Means.

FOR obvious reasons, one is justified in expecting to find correct modern practice in design, construction and equipment exemplified in the new Architect's Building, opened this week, at Park avenue and Fortieth street. The building is owned by a corporation composed of eminent architects and engineers, and it was erected under their personal supervision for their own use. It is a co-operative investment, the property of Architects' Offices, Inc., of which Burt L. Fenner, of McKim, Mead & White, is president, Andrew J. Post, of Post & McCord, treasurer, and Benjamin W. Morris, of La Farge & Morris, secretary, their associates on the board of directors being Kenneth M. Murchison, Arnold W. Brunner, Charles Ewing and William S. Post. The corporation was formed through the initiative of Ewing, Bacon & Henry, a prominent firm of engineers and real estate managers, which has the new building in its charge and which, besides, is a member of the co-operative corporation. From inception to finish, the Architects' Building is, in a sensee, a joint product, for every matter of importance connected with it has been passed upon by the board of directors; and it will therefore, no doubt, be widely studied as an authentic expression of progressive tendencies in office building construction and management.

When appraising the merits of a building it is essential to have in mind the practical conditions which had to be met. Those that governed in the case of the Architects' Building may be inferred from the following remarks by Mr. Fenner: "At the time the firm of McKim, Mead & White moved into its present offices, it was assumed that this part of Fifth avenue, below Twenty-third street, would long remain the center of a high-grade business district. Since then, however, there has been a strong uptown movement of the better class of retail shops, clubs, hotels, and residences, and this end of the avenue has become congested with manufacturing establishments. In addition to finding ourselves isolated in an undesirable neighborhood, we have had our light partly shut off by the erection of an adjacent tall building.

"We began several years ago to look for suitable quarters uptown, but most of the new buildings there are loft structures, and what we required were the environment and the facilities offered by a first-class office building. Just as we had become thoroughly convinced of the fruitlessness of our search, we were asked to join a group of men in the architectural and engineering professions, who, like ourselves, had failed to discover appropriate quarters uptown, in an enterprise to erect and maintain a building on a more or less cooperative plan.

"The corporation organized to carry out this project, acquired a site that is centrally situated, that commands abundant light and that is in a vicinity where land values are sufficiently high to act as a barrier against the encroachment of factories. The chief purpose of the members of the corporation was to obtain roomy, well-lighted offices in a thoroughly fireproof and sanitary structure, at a yearly cost which should not exceed the rents they had been paying for inferior accommodations. They also saw that in occupying offices in a building owned and operated by themselves they could control the service and make it exactly what they themselves desired it to be rather than that which an outside landlord might choose to make it.

"In planning the building it was necessary to consider the financial conditions, as well as the professional demands, of the owners; for professional men are not capitalists, and the funds at the disposal of the corporation were limited. In the development of the design and in the choice of materials and equipment, the architects, Ewing & Chappell and La Farge & Morris, and the engineers, Ewing, Bacon & Henry, were guided by the necessity of avoiding needless expense and making every dollar count, which conditions, we believe, have been fully met in the completed building. Even with additional funds, I doubt whether we should have changed any essential feature in the construction of the building."

THE ARCHITECTS' BUILDING.

Conditions Which Determined the Design.

From what Mr. Fenner has said, it will be seen that the practical considerations which had to be met by the design were these: The offices had to be uncommonly well lighted, and the building had to be in every essential respect a high-class structure, yet the investment cost was not to exceed the minimum required to impart dignity and character to the building, and, finally, as low a maintenance cost was to be achieved as would be practicable without sacrifice of quality in service.

In a general way, the objects aimed at were quite the same as those which it is intended to accomplish in any typical modern office building planned as an investment to produce a reasonable return rather than for the adventitious purpose of advertising the business prosperity of some corporate owner, a fact which makes the design of the Architects' Building particularly instructive. It shows what relative commercial value expert opinion, uninfluenced by the whims of clients, attaches to each of the more important features of a building. For example, the entrance hall is commonly exalted beyond its functional value in relationship to other features. That in the Architects' Building is simplicity itself, but it is undeniably appropriate to its purpose, both in appearance and in arrangement.

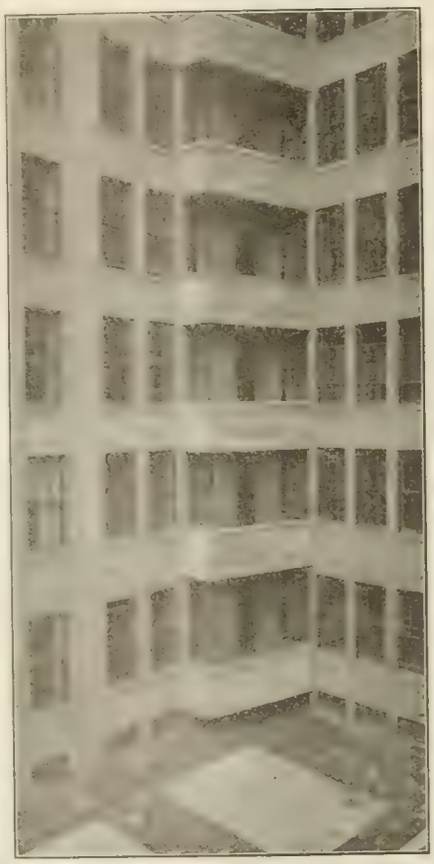
Before entering upon an explanation of how the practical conditions which governed the design of the building were met, perhaps one more preliminary statement may not be out of place. There are probably few buildings—indeed, the present writer knows of none—in which so much attention has been given to the details, however small, that insure efficiency and economy of service as in the Architect's Building. A single such detail may be instanced here, out of its proper context, by way of illustration. Thus, the building, although it has a complete heating plant, is to be heated with exhaust steam from an adjoinning building, its own plant being reserved for emergencies.

An Advantageous Site.

The site of the Architect's Building is at the northeast corner of Park avenue and Fortieth street. Its dimensions are 98.9 by 151 feet. To readers of this newspaper, it would be superfluous to discuss the advantages of the location with respect to transportation.

The light controlled by the site is abundant. On the easterly side are low residences, which are not likely soon to be displaced, because the opposite side of Fortieth street is protected against business construction by the "Murray Hill restriction," which also serves to exclude tall structures over against the southerly front of the Architect's Building. Park avenue, as is well known, is an exceptionally wide thoroughfare. Finally, the adjoining structure on Park avenue has a court of about 30 by 80 feet, abutting the north line of the Architect's Building toward the rear. By placing a court of the same dimensions opposite this, the Architects' Building has obtained a light reservation equal in width to an ordinary street for its interior rooms above the ground floor, the stores, according to custom, covering the entire ground area.

The ample light commanded by the plot has been utilized to the utmost in designing the building. The stores have a ceiling height of not less than 18 feet in the clear, while the clear height of the offices is 12 feet, instead of the usual 10; and the window openings are correspondingly large. By the simple device of framing the bottom of the wall girders level with the bottom of the beams and allowing their excess height to project upwards into the wall in the space beneath the window sills of the story next above it was possible to arrange the window heads practically flush with the ceiling; it is remarkable how effective this device is in admitting good light to a maximum distance and at no increase in expense.



Architectural Treatment.

The endeavor to flood the interior of the building with light has been made the governing motive in the architectural treatment. The facade, in warm tones of granite, limestone and brick, is suggestive of the genial effulgence of sunshine on wide floor spaces and in generous corridors. The detail is simple, the functions of the building are frankly expressed, and lines and proportions are good. The steel in the construction was figured to carry an additional load of four stories, and this has somewhat affected the design by making it necessary to keep the cornice very flat. The unobtrusiveness of the cornice, however, is in harmony with the leading architectural motive, as it serves to emphasize the idea of illumination.

Floor Plan Insures Maximum of Light and of Rentable Space.

In planning the interior of the building, the purpose of securing a maximum of light was correlated with the purpose of insuring economy of service. The two were achieved largely through identical means. For example, the floor plan was so arranged as to serve both purposes.

The building has a fire tower, two stairways, six passenger elevators, a freight elevator and a freight lift. The fire tower, which opens on the court, one of the stairways, the freight elevator and the passenger elevators are all placed together near the center of the building. Backing up against the elevator group on each floor, are the toilet rooms and the janitor's closets. Adjacent is a commodious shaft which contains the service pipes and is roomy enough to permit mechanics to work freely in it. By this grouping together of utilities, it has been possible to furnish outside light to all offices and to give the smallest of them a width of 20 feet. No typical office has fewer than three windows, while the southeast corner office on each floor has ten. The arrangement of columns, windows and corridors enables changes in partition walls to be made with little difficulty, an important consideration to the renting agent and building manager.

The fire tower is reached by balconies at each floor. These overlook the light court and each may be entered from the building through a door and two windows. The building has two additional stairways enclosed in fireproof walls.

The freight lift, package chute and one stairway are near the southeast corner of the building, on Fortieth street. Incoming freight is there lowered to the basement, where it is transferred to the freight elevator, which communicates with all the floors. The moving in and out of tenants and the ordinary handling of freight are therefore accomplished independently of the main entrance corridor; and the freight elevator is so placed that it takes up no space of value from the renting standpoint.

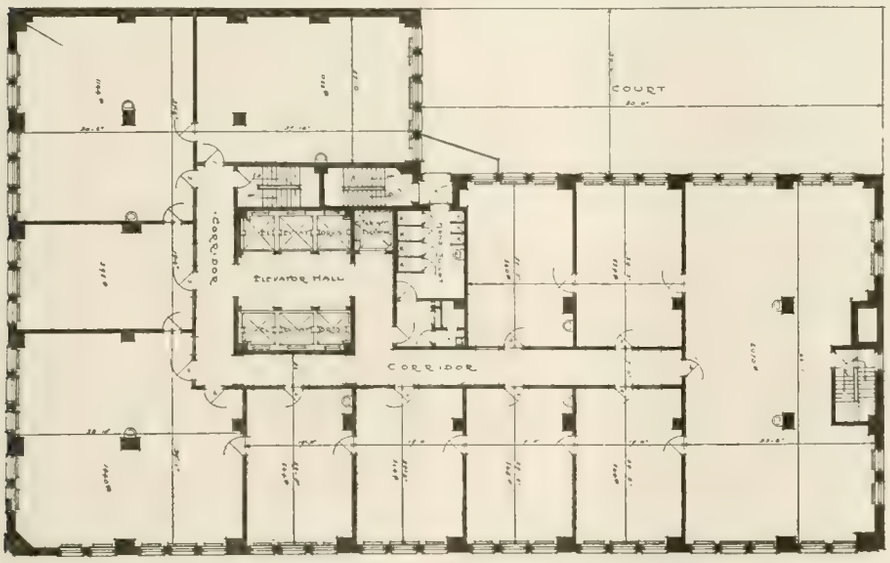
The street floor is laid out in two stores, the larger of which has two show windows on Park avenue and seven on Fortieth street. The rear of this store occupies the greater part of the ground area of the light court, where it has three skylights and clerestory windows. The smaller store, with a floor space approximately the area of an ordinary city lot, has two show windows on Park avenue and a similar arrangement of light openings in the rear. Every part of both stores is well lighted, and their ceiling height of 18 feet in the clear is sufficient to permit of mezzanine floors. A proportionate amount of basement space is reserved for each store.

The second floor, like the first, is fitted with show windows. Those on the Park avenue front will be conspicuous from the viaduct which it is proposed to construct from the upper driveway of the Grand Central Station over Forty-second street and which will come to level in front of the main entrance to the building, not, however, occupying the full width of Park avenue.

The entrance hall, in the center of the Park avenue front, extends about one-third the depth of the building. On the left hand or northern side of the lobby is a glazed recess for the customary cigar stand. The recess, being in effect an interior store, there is no encroachment upon the lobby space and customers of the stand must turn aside from the lobby to make their purchases. The recessed booth is an important feature, as it prevents congestion of the entrance hall.

The passenger elevators, arranged three on each side, run the height of the building, three of them going to a penthouse, that covers a large part of the roof. The penthouse, which, besides having extensive window openings on all four sides, is furnished with skylights, has been rented to two tenants.

Another interesting example of conservation of rentable space is the manner in which storage rooms have been laid out for the preservation of records. The least valuable floors in the matter of rentals are the fourth and fifth. On each of these floors a number of rooms, enclosed in fireproof partition walls, have been recessed into offices that are to be let to tenants requiring smaller offices than the typical unit. The rooms have no other opening than a door giving on the corridor. They are quite independent of the offices, which have their own corridor doorways. Their effect is merely to make some of the offices on the fourth and fifth floors less roomy and of greater variety in area than the corresponding offices on those floors where the square foot rentals are higher. The storage rooms are rented at better figures than the same space would bring as an extension of the adjoining offices.



Construction Details.

The care with which the interior plan of the building was adapted to the purpose of the structure and the possibilities of the site has resulted in netting about 10,000 square feet of rentable space on each typical office floor, the superficial area of the site being 14,913 square feet. This is a remarkable achievement when one considers the reservation made for the court and the abundance of well-diffused light obtained.

In the construction, as in the design and plan, of the building, the dominant notes are serviceability and economy in upkeep. Rock was found a short distance below the basement excavation level. It was a simple matter, therefore, to carry the columns down to bed rock on concrete foundations. The frame work is structural steel throughout, and none but fireproof materials has been employed in the construction of the building.

The floor arches are of concrete, with cinder concrete fill and smooth cement finish. The cement finish has been treated with the Master Builders' process, which eliminates the annoyance of cement dust. The floors of corridors are finished in terrazzo.

All trim of doors and windows is of hollow metal. No attempt has been made to disguise the metal with imitation wood finish. The metal work, including doors, is painted in a neutral green tint that is restful to the eye, that will harmonize with the usual colors of furniture and that will not readily show marks of ordinary usage.

Every office has "outside" light, and the three stairways, each enclosed in fireproof walls, furnish 35 per cent. more emergency exit facilities than are required by law.

Window sills are of slate and there is a base, 6 inches high, of the same material, around the rooms and columns. Finally, under every radiator, is a slate base, concealing the radiator branches. For the purposes indicated, slate is not only economical, but answers admirably, being both fireproof and non-absorbent, and is easily kept clean.

There are two vacuum cleaner outlets, one each at the extreme west and the extreme east side of the building.

The lighting fixtures are of the semi-direct and indirect type. Where required, as in certain of the architects' offices, special drop lights have been provided for illumination over drafting tables.

Economy of Upkeep.

The heat is distributed by means of the one pipe system with separate air lines running to the boiler rooms. As pointed out in an earlier paragraph, the generating plant, while complete in itself, will not be used, except for emergencies, arrangements having been made with the owners of the adjoining building to use the exhaust steam in their plant.

The hot water is also provided from the same source. With a double supply for heat and hot water, the building is secured against possible interruption of service. A Kewanee refuse destructor utilizes the refuse from the offices in the building as an additional source of heat or hot water. This, of course, is an advantage in the summer, when the regular boiler plant is not in commission.

The building is supplied with water from a roof tank, water being pumped to the tank by two electrically driven pumps, so arranged that either pump may be in service. There are two fire stand pipes in the building, connected both to the tank and the house pumps and having outlets on the street for connection with the fire engine.

The plumbing fixtures are of solid vitreous material and the basins are fitted with the most modern slow closing faucets. The toilets are equipped with the overhead tank system. There are men's toilets on each floor, with an additional women's toilet and rest room on the eighth floor. Several of the architects have a private toilet. Each floor has a janitor's room equipped with slop sink, broom closet and lockers.

Elevator Equipment.

The passenger elevators are of the Standard Otis Gearless Traction type with 2:1 roping, designed to operate at a speed of 450 feet per minute, with a capacity of 2,500 pounds. Those at the right hand side of the main corridor travel from the first to the sixteenth floor, an approximate distance of 200 feet. Those at the left travel from the first floor to the penthouse, a distance of 213 feet. All of the elevators are equipped with the Armstrong full flash signal system, having up and down lamps at each floor, and are arranged so that any one or combination of them may be used for express service, a switch on the controller providing for the discontinuance of flash signals between the first and ninth floors.

The elevators are fully equipped with automatic safety devices, including safety governors, wedge clamp safeties, limit switches, safety brakes, potential switches, emergency switches and Otis patented oil buffers. The buffers are located under the car and counterweight, and are provided to bring the car to a gradual and positive stop at the extreme limits of travel beyond the terminal landings. They have been proven capable of bringing a loaded car safely to the rest from full speed without discomfort to those in the car.

There are, as already noted, two Otis freight machines. One is of the Worm Gear Traction type. It is adjacent to the passenger elevators on the left side of the main corridor, and serves all floors from the basement to the penthouse on the roof. It is designed to operate at a speed of 300 feet per minute with a capacity of 3,000 pounds, which can, however, be increased to 5,500 pounds if heavy loads or safes must be carried. The other freight elevator is of the Drum type and is located in the receiving entrance at the rear of the building, on Fortieth street. It travels from the boiler room to a freight platform and has a rise of 17 feet 6 inches. It is designed to operate at a speed of 150 feet per minute with a capacity of 3,000 pounds. The platform is on a level with the average wagon floor, an arrangement which eliminates heavy lifting and which, for example, has made it possible to obtain a reduction in the ash removing contract. Elevator shafts and stairwells are all enclosed with fireproof doors.

With a pleasing exterior, in which the desired artistic impression is conveyed through the simplest of means; with a structural arrangement which throws the remotest interior open to the light; with a floor plan and a service equipment that yield a maximum of rentable space and insure a minimum of operating cost; and with a choice of constructive materials and fixtures aiming at serviceability rather than richness of effect, the Architects' Building meets in a notable degree the practical conditions outlined by Mr. Fenner.

In conclusion, it may be said that the care exercised in every other matter connected with the building is shown also in the letting of space. The tenantry is largely recruited from the architectural, engineering and allied professions or occupations, and no tenant is admitted without having been accepted by a vote of the board of directors.

Exceptional Renting Record.

The ultimate test of the merits of the building, as any investor will assert, is its ability to obtain tenants in competition with other structures of the same class. It has so happened that since the Architects' Building was planned a very considerable number of high-class office buildings have been put under construction in the Grand Central neighborhood. Yet the Architects' Building opens with a very nearly complete rent roll as regards office space, and perhaps a dozen intending tenants who were too late for the kind of suites they wanted have been "placed" by the agents, Ewing, Bacon and Henry, in nearby structures.

Several things have helped to insure this exceptional renting record. Firms that do business with architects and engineers were quick to see the saving of time made possible through being under the same roof with a group of men whom they were obliged to visit frequently, but the principal reason for the immediate success of the building is, without question, the quality of the accommodations and of the service offered, coupled with relatively low rents. Indeed, to sum up the achievements of the designers of the Architects' Building, the office rents of $1.50 to $2.36 a square foot represents a value which is probably unique in this town.

A contributory help was the promptness with which the construction contract was executed. For perhaps two months before the scheduled opening day it was possible to show prospective tenants through the offices. With reference to this phase of the building operation, Mr. Morris of La Farge and Morris, may be quoted: "The general contractors (the Fortieth Street Company —Irons and Todd) did a notable piece of work. Last September the site was a mere hole in the ground; by October 6 the first tier of beams were up, and on April 3 the first tenant moved in. Furthermore, we cannot speak too highly of the manner in which the contractors carried out the spirit as well as the letter of the contract and specifications." As a matter of fact, from whatever point of view the Architects' Building is studied, it conveys the impression of skilled workmanship.

The architects of the Architects' Building were Ewing and Chappell, 345 Fifth avenue, and La Farge and Morris, 23 East 26th street; the steam and electrical engineers were Ewing, Bacon and Henry, 101 Park avenue; the steel engineers were Eugene Stern and S. Reduced Rents in Old Bronx Apartments.

J. Clarence Davies says the percentage of vacancies in new-law houses near the subway or elevated stations in The Bronx will be small this year, while houses more than three blocks from a station will suffer. Old-law houses are well rented, but owners of these style houses have had to reduce rents to keep their tenants, and to obtain new ones.

"There is a perceptible demand for cheaper apartments, consisting of three, four and five rooms, while six to ten rooms are harder to rent, especially at former rentals," says Mr. Davies. General renting conditions in The Bronx are in a healthy state; there seems to be no desire of tenants to leave The Bronx for other boroughs.

A Good Year for Savings and Loan Associations.

The Metropolitan League of Savings and Loan Associations, comprising seventy-six Co-operative Savings and Loan Organizations in the greater city and contiguous counties, held its annual meeting in the offices of the Atlantic Association, Brooklyn, last Saturday night. The meeting was largely attended, and all the institutions belonging to the League reported progress. There was an increase in assets of $2,500,000 last year, and the number of depositors increased 15,000.

The following officers were elected: President, Walter L. Durack, 215 Montague street, Brooklyn; Vice-President, Charles Stuart Folsom, 14 Bible House; Secretary, Archibald W. McEwan, 2161 Bathgate avenue; Treasurer, Edward M. Cutler, 56 Pine street. Trustees for three years, George J. Beyer, M. V. Dorney and Martin S. Cohen.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT IN NEW YORK CITY

A Study of the Principal Causes of the 98 Per Cent. Budget Increase Which Has Taken Place in the Last Ten Years—Remedies Suggested.

———Article I, Part II———

By HENRY BRUERE, Director, Bureau of Municipal Research.

IN the first installment of this article I reviewed the growth of city expenditures, showing that since 1908 appropriations had increased in all departments except those of the Borough Presidents of Manhattan and The Bronx.

Table II printed last week showed that the ratio of increase in the Mayor's department outruns the ratio of increase in the Borough Presidents' offices by five times. As a matter of fact, during the present administration the most notable instances of economy have occurred in departments under the jurisdiction of Borough Presidents. This is in part due to the very low level of administration existing in those departments heretofore, brought to light by Commissioner of Accounts Mitchel and by citizens working through the Bureau of Municipal Research, but is also due to the fact that major emphasis was placed upon the need of economy at the very outset of the present administration of these offices.

The Department of Finance has effected economies, but its expenditures have increased because of additions to its expert force made necessary by the accounting reorganization.

For definite thinking it will be helpful to analyze still further the increases in the several departments under the jurisdiction of the Mayor. This analysis is shown by Table III—Comparative Statement of Budget Appropriations for the Departments, Bureaus and Offices Subordinate to the Mayor.

Many explanations may be offered of these increases. Thus, appropriations for weights and measures and the commissioners of accounts have increased because of a redefinition of the work of these two offices. Health work has been expanded. In part, the increases in these and other departments represent normal growth of activities on the old theory that extensions in work necessarily involve increased expenditures. Unquestionably, they also include a percentage of "slack" representing inefficiency of method and unnecessary employment. The opportunity for economy lies in the bulk of expenditures which furnish the background for these increases and not merely in the increases themselves. This bulk represents the cost of operating the municipal institution which has been built up through a process of slow accretion. It is governed by an accumulation of habits developed long before efficiency and public business were brought even into the same field of thought. It is to these major expenditures that attention must be given if important economies are to be realized.

Waste Admitted; Action Dilatory.

A few days ago Comptroller Prendergast published a report recommending the establishment of a central purchasing agency for the city. In this report he pointed out that under present conditions, when 125 different departments each buys its own supplies, great waste occurs because of disparity of prices and inequality of purchasing methods. The Comptroller showed that the practice of buying supplies on open market orders, as contrasted with competitive contracts, penalizes the city about 25 per cent.

The present article, begun last week, is the first of a series of five, written by Mr. Bruere at the request of the Record and Guide. The purpose of the series is to discover why taxes are increasing out of proportion to the growth of population. If the causes of the disproportionate increase in taxes can be ascertained, there should be no great difficulty in getting the men of public spirit in the community to cooperate toward obtaining effective remedies.

Mr. Bruere's first article, which ends with this installment, analyzes the increased cost of government, locating (1) the divisions of governmental activity in which the principal increases have occurred and (2) the causes of these increases. It emphasizes the important fact that the concentration of fiscal responsibility supposed to exist in the city administration is more apparent than real, as the Board of Estimate has "more or less jurisdiction" over only $85,000,000 in a budget of nearly $193,000,000.

The second article will discuss what will be shown to be a principal factor in the rising cost of government—the mounting bonded indebtedness of the city. The third article will describe present efforts under way to eliminate waste and to obtain a dollar's worth of service for a dollar's taxes, and results already obtained from them. The fourth will deal with obvious next steps for taxpayers to insist upon in bringing about greater efficiency and economy in city government. The fifth article will forecast tendencies in development of city activities, prospective undertakings and methods of financing them.

In 1911 $3,500,000 of supplies were bought on open market orders representing, if the Comptroller's figures are correct, a waste of $700,000. The joint legislative committee investigating the city's finances as long ago as 1909 reported in favor of establishing a central purchasing agency. The Ivins charter commission before and the Hammond charter commission afterwards made similar recommendations. But the Legislature failed to act because legislative inertia and the influence of contractors were greater than pressure in favor of the proposal brought by responsible city officials.

Public officials have from time to time said the waste in the city's payrolls amounted to $15,000,000 a year. This is probably a reasonable estimate, for the city's salary and wage list now aggregates $90,000,000. Yet due to Aldermanic obstruction, salary standardization recommended in 1910 was not seriously undertaken until 1913. The very first study made showed enormous inequalities in compensation. In one of the smaller departments if employees were paid equally for equal work there would result a reduction of $60,000 a year in the salary cost. The Comptroller and the Borough Presidents of Manhattan and The Bronx proved three years ago that it was possible to obtain increased service from their departments by an actual reduction in the number of men employed. The example of this demonstration has not been followed by other city departments. Thus, a certain bureau has for years made out a case to an easily persuaded because uninformed commissioner and to a more easily persuaded because less informed Board of Estimate and Apportionment that it required five men to do a certain piece of work. All during the present administration, and doubtless for years before, these five men have been "segregated" to this work. Recently, when clerks were urgently needed in another branch of the department an attempt to take them from this division met with violent opposition. This protest resulted in an analysis of work done by the whole group. The analysis based on statements of the division head and signed by him for submission to the commissioner showed that the maximum daily work done by the five men did not constitute a full day's work for two men.

In greater or less degree the same condition of over-supply of service and the performance of unnecessary work prevails throughout every branch of city government, except in the few offices where a careful measurement has been made of quantity and value of work performed by every member of the organization.

Available Relief.

There is no reason why scientific management in its broader sense should not be applied to city business. A recent preliminary study of methods of sewer construction in Philadelphia shows that merely by intelligent organization of work and eliminating delays and unproductive effort, the cost of construction can be cut 50 per cent. Similar readjustment of work in Manhattan has shown equal savings.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment by standardizing salaries and supplies and by establishing an efficiency division is taking the first steps toward method studies on a comprehensive scale. To push forward and utilize the work of these fundamental reforms will be the most conspicuous service opportunity of the next administration. For until we have an administration cohesively constructed and co-operatively determined to make its first business the elimination of waste we shall not have efficient government in New York City. Until this is done taxes will continue to rise and the tax rate creep steadily up.

Temporary declines in the tax rate sometimes occurring on the eve of municipal elections are meaningless, for the tax rate is only an approximate index of the city's expenditures. An increase in assessed valuations may serve to lower the rate without decreasing the amount of the taxpayer's bill.

Organization Obstacles to Efficiency.

Taxpayers who have supported citizen effort to bring about governmental efficiency in the past seven years sometimes ask the question why, in spite of improvement in municipal methods, taxes continue to increase? The first answer is that the effort has not been sufficiently complete. The second answer is that New York City is not so organized as to facilitate transition from disorderly to efficient business practices. It is easily conceivable that a Mayor's office might be so organized as to obtain adequate control over departmental expenditures, but it is hardly conceivable that any Mayor of New York City will ever be content to forego for the routine duty of supervising the business details of the city all the dramatic oportunities for public applause and popular approval which his office affords.

Costly Whimsicalities.

Taxpayers pay an enormous price for the diversion they receive from the philosophical or whimsical utterances of a chief executive. They pay heavily for official after-dinner speeches. They pay heavily for feverish ambition for political advancement which election to office seems to breed. The major cause of the slow progress of waste reduction and the resulting increase in taxes is a lack of a competent responsible governing body for the City of New York. If I had my way I should place responsibility for the administration of all city and county business upon the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. I would minimize the embarrassment of having a board appoint heads of departments by giving heads of departments permanent tenure subject only to removal on charge by a majority of the board. In case of removal vacancies would be filled by the board. My suggestion is not so much to establish commission government in New York as to concentrate responsibility.

This reorganization would help, but it is not a necessary prerequisite to economy. A determined, competent Mayor could place the city on a business basis. Since it may require some additional years of experience before New York will abandon its present form of government, if New York City desires efficient government, it is important that it employ a mayor who will make it his chief business to bring about efficiency. Notable advances in city efficiency could be made if the present administration for the remainder of the year and next year's administration make their primary business the business of working together for good administration.

The present group of officials in charge of city affairs have suffered obstructions in the form of subway negotiations, personal differences and political aspirations. A large part of the responsibility for obstructions placed in the way of constructive steps planned early in the administration must be borne by the Board of Aldermen, which with the Mayor's approval, repeatedly denied funds to make necessary preliminary inquiries. Part of the responsibility is taxpayers' responsibility whose representatives opposed these steps and gave countenance to the Aldermen's action.

Tax Bills Out of Proportion to Service.

Taxpayers will find their tax bills continuing to increase out of proportion to services rendered them by government until they insist that public officials devote the same persistent energy to putting the city on a business basis as they have recently given, for example, to the preparation of subway plans. Moreover, to obtain continuing effort in the direction of greater efficiency taxpayers must learn to applaud and encourage efficient administration as heartily as they now applaud and encourage the prosecution of public grafters.

New York's budget will pass the $200,000,000 mark, as its debt has passed the $1,000,000,000 mark, and the tax rate will continue to rise, unless management is made the prime business of city government. There is no other protection available to the taxpayer against the increasing tax bill. It is true that the Constitution limits the amount of taxes to $2 in $100, but in this restriction the amount levied for city debt purposes is excluded. But of the present tax rate of $1.81, 51 cents is imposed for debt purposes. With the present assessed valuation, therefore, the tax rate may increase about 17 times the average annual increase of the past five years before the friendly hand of the constitution intervenes.

Four years of persistent attention to problems of administration in New York City would not only bring relief to taxpayers but revolutionize the spirit of the army of city employees. There are in the city government now hundreds of men keenly interested in working out efficient administration. Some of the most important constructive work carried on during the present administration has been under the supervision of men long in city service, but previously denied opportunity to render service up to their best ability. The next administration will start with an advantage never before possessed by any administration, namely, a considerable body of city employees equipped for and devoted to executing a program of efficiency. If taxpayers wish efficient, economical government this is the time for them to make their plans for the next four years.

*Decrease.

NOTE.—The budget appropriations of the Borough of Manhattan from 1908 to 1913 have decreased 1.61 per cent. The budget appropriations of the Borough of The Bronx have decreased 23.47 per cent. in the same period.

I have no personal information of governmental efficiency in Denver, but I am convinced that if there were no interference by the Legislature, a group of efficient men co-operatively governing New York could render more service in 1914 with a budget of $10,000,000 less than the present budget than is now being rendered by New York's decentralized government. If there were no expansion in activities, and effort toward efficiency were continued, it should be possible to conduct the city's affairs for a number of years without increasing the total expenditure.

A Patriotic Contrast.

According to a press dispatch, a citizen of Denver recently offered to run the government of his city for a million dollars less than its present $6,000,000 budget. This offer was in patriotic contrast to those citizens who are indifferent to government problems or merely raise their voices in complaint. The offer was probably conservative because no American city has yet achieved a government that gives back in service an adequate return for funds expended.

Connection for Subway Systems.

Plans for the connection of the existing subway with the new subway in Lexington avenue have been changed by the Public Service Commission for the First District, so that the junction will be made south of 40th street instead of near 42d street as originally contemplated. The first plan involved the passage of the new subway under private property on both sides of 42d street, and it developed that the obtaining of easements would be very expensive. On this account the Board of Estimate and Apportionment refused to approve the first plan. The Public Service Commission then adopted a plan for a connection through 40th street. According to this plan, the route just touches private property where it cuts the corners of blocks at Park avenue and 40th street and Lexington avenue and 40th street. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has not yet acted upon this plan.

—Individual names, which almost disappeared for a time from the current records of building operations, seem to be coming more into view again, as in other days before the fever for syndicating and incorporating broke out among the smaller builders. For awhile one operator scarcely knew his brother by his corporate name. Certain old firms have through it all taken pride in calling themselves by their personal cognomens, and others have simply added the word "Company," or the abbreviation, "Inc.," so that their identity has never been hidden, and their works do honor them. Of course, there are good reasons for incorporating one's business, but why not let the old firm names stand out as of old?

—For several years there has been an increasing demand for apartments of two, three and four rooms. Some of the older houses, which contain large suites, are so planned as to permit of sub-division, and in some cases this has been done with gratifying results.

CITY BUILDING COSTS ARE FAR TOO HIGH

New Revision of Code to be Judged by Whether It Raises Costs or Not—Will be Ready by July First—Ernest Flagg Would Strike Out Unnecessary Specifications.

THE hearings on the proposed building code have closed and the Building Committee expects to have its report ready for presentation to the Board of Aldermen on July first. The new code will be embodied in this report, which will then be referred back to the committee by the board for the purpose of giving public hearings. When these are held the code will be put upon its final passage.

Alderman Herbst thinks the chances of its passage are good, as there is general agreement that a new code is extremely necessary. The Republicans have a clear majority of four in the Board of Aldermen, but the indications are that political lines will not be sharply drawn, if the new code is merely to be the sum of the unobjectionable provisions contained in the previous revisions. In fine, the public after six years of argument thinks it is full time that decisions should be rendered.

The real task of the committee now is to complete its editorial work by July first. If the report is delayed much beyond that date, it will have but little chance of getting safely past the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor before the close of the present administration. The Board of Aldermen takes a long recess during the summer, and when it reconvenes in September the political campaign will be on, to the exclusion of other matters. The Building Committee will devote next week to executive sessions in conference with the advisory committee of experts, at which final determinations will be reached for the most part.

A Specification Code.

From present appearance the new code will be a "specification code," in that it will clearly set forth what is lawful construction and leave little or nothing to the discretion of the superintendents of buildings. It will require the registration of all master builders, be they architects, contractors, or structural engineers, provided the Corporation Counsel's office renders an opinion that the Board of Aldermen has the constitutional power to enforce such a provision. As the most vital criticism against previous proposed codes was that it increased the cost of construction, it is expected that costs will be greatly reduced in the revision soon to come out.

Construction Costs Too High.

General admission is made by all authorities that the requirements of the New York building laws are not only far in excess of the requirements in European cities but also greatly in excess of what they ought to be here. This statement was definitely made at the last public hearing given by the committee in the present series, on Monday, by Ernest Flagg, the architect. Personally, architects and builders are said to be indifferent as to what the costs of construction may be, so long as higher costs do not retard building activity; because the costs are shifted first to the owners and finally to the ultimate consumer. But periods come ,as now, when the owners have difficulty in shifting the burden, and the consequence is that the real-estate sales market lags, taxes mount up and property owners rise up and protest against any further burdens, either in the form of construction costs, higher taxation or violation notices. At such a crisis a measure greatly increasing the costs of construction would scarcely be well received by the public, which once every four years has something to say about how the local government will be conducted.

Among real-estate men and builders these are considered the essential questions concerning the proposed new code —first, can it be finished in time? and, second, will it reduce or increase the cost of construction?

The fourth and last hearing by the Building Committee in advance of its report was given at its office in the Emigrant Savings Bank on Monday of this week, when the subject of terra cotta was considered. The National Fireproofing Company submitted a brief, which was essentially the same as it has submitted to former committees.

Ernest Flagg's Suggestions.

Mr. Ernest Flagg in the course of some remarks, said:

"Three hearings have now been held by your committee on the proposed Building Code; stone concrete, cinder concrete and brick walls have been considered.

"In regard to the two first mentioned items—stone concrete and cinder concrete—it seems to me a great deal of trouble could be saved and considerable advantage would accrue if these sections were stricken out altogether, and I respectfully suggest that that be done.

"In my judgment, items of this sort have no proper place in the law. They are not found in the building laws of European cities.

"Now, what I suggest is this: That these matters be dealt with precisely as we now deal with plumbing. That is to say, leave it to the Superintendent of Buildings to formulate the necessary rules which the users of those materials must follow; furnish blanks containing them to builders to be filled out just as the plumbing blanks are filled out, and issue no permits for buildings unless the plans and specifications conform to the regulations.

"I feel confident that a little reflection will convince you of the wisdom of this plan. If that system were applied wherever it can be applied, in the drafting of the law, not only would almost all the matters which have proved stumbling blocks in the past in drafting a code be removed, but the actual working of the law would be greatly improved, simplified and facilitated.

"A system of this sort would prove very much more elastic than the present one. New inventions, processes and engineering expedients are constantly being introduced and for this reason, if for no other, any hard and fast law which undertakes to provide a rule for every emergency, no matter how skillfully it may be drawn, will become out of date almost as soon as it is made.

A Comparison with European Laws.

"The building laws of European cities are usually much more general than ours. The details of construction in the use of materials are left in the hands of the administration, just as our plumbing regulations are. The proper sanitation of buildings is certainly quite as important as many of the other details of construction, and if our present method of dealing with these sanitary matters works well, why should not the same method be applied to other details? If this were done, I am sure most of the difficulties in the way of drafting a satisfactory code would disappear at once. Of course, there are many matters which cannot be dealt with in this way, and the regulation of wall thicknesses is one of them.

"In all the building laws of European cities which I have seen, the rules governing the thickness of walls occupy a chief place. In this matter European builders are much more conservative than we are. The wall thicknesses required are much greater and I am convinced that it is to this feature of the European building more than any other that is due the low fire loss in their cities."

Fighting Encroachment Orders.

An earnest body of taxpayers gathered in Muller's Bronx Casino, at 154th street and Third avenue on Monday evening, to protest against President Miller's order to remove building projections on Third, Tremont and Washington avenues. Spirited addresses were made by J. Harris Jones, Thos. D. Malcolm, Julius Trattner, August Oesting, B. Hartman, John F. Frees, Louis Meckes and others. A committee consisting of Julius Trattner, August Oesting, Thos. D. Malcolm, J. Harris Jones, E. Meyer, Chas. Wilhelm, August Lutz, F. A. Lowe, John F. Frees and Thos. Hicks, with the chairman ex-officio with full power to raise funds and engage counsel was chosen to issue and distribute literature and by every means within their power to protect the property owners from the alleged injustice which President Miller's order would cause.

Albert E. Davis was chairman, John F. Frees, secretary and Thos. D. Malcolm, treasurer. A considerable fund was subscribed and paid in at the meeting. A protest and appeal was adopted and directed to be sent to the Board of Estimate with a request for a hearing. Another meeting will be held at the same place next Monday night.

The appeal recites in part:

"We resent as a wicked libel against the honest taxpayers of this borough the attempt to make it appear that they have stolen from the City, as squatters, the space which their show windows, entrance steps and other projections occupy, when in truth and in fact they were placed beyond the building line by the City's invitation and under the signed permits of officials, charged with the same powers and duties and required to abide by the same laws and ordinances as those which the present administration has so flagrantly nullified and defied.

"We assert that these ordinances are authorized by Section 50 of the City Charter and have been sustained by the Courts and that a similar use of the streets in front of buildings is permitted in most large cities and has been from time immemorial."

THE WEEK AT ALBANY.

Last Week of the Session—Workmen's Compensation—Excess Condemnation.

During the earlier part of the week, much of the time of the Legislature was taken up with the direct nominations bill and other political measures. On Thursday morning, at the close of the night session continued over from the preceding day, the Senate passed a resolution providing for the adjournment of the Legislature at 1 p. m., May 3; and immediately afterward the five minute rule was adopted, which means that a Senator may speak only once and for five minutes only on each bill. Corresponding resolutions were presently voted in the Assembly. In the endeavor to close out the work of the Legislature in the remaining days of the week a mass of bills were passed which it will take some time to sift through in order to discover the measures that are of especial interest to the real estate and business professions.

An illustration of the hurried manner in which legislation has been conducted because of the desire to make up for lost time through the Stilwell trial was furnished by the enactment of certain bills introduced by Senator Frawley at the request of the State Comptroller's Department. The bills, which have been signed by the Governor, would make $110,000,000 outstanding State bonds bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. instead of 4 per cent if held by insurance and trust companies and savings banks. The purpose of the bills was to facilitate the flotation of new state bonds, and their effect in raising the interest rate on outstanding bonds was not contemplated. This feature of the bills was pointed out to the Governor by President Lawson Purdy of the New York City Tax Department, who explained that the bills would cost the State nearly $25,000 000 in fifty years without any consideration in return. The Governor, after a conference with the State Comptroller's office, decided that the Frawley bills were inadvisable and took steps to have them repealed.

The workmen's compensation bill, introduced by Senator Foley, at the instance of the State Insurance Department passed the Senate on Wednesday, despite strong opposition. The bill provides for compensation by a State administered fund, by mutual insurance, by self-insurance and by casualty companies. The provision relating to casualty companies had been bitterly assailed by the representatives of the labor unions at the committee hearings.

It is believed that the amendments to the condemnation law for taking private property for public use, known as the "Supreme Court with or without a jury" amendment and the "Excess Condemnation" amendment, which had passed the Assembly and were on the order of third reading in the Senate, were among the measures that will go to the Governor. These bills are Senate Pr. No 249 and Assembly Pr. No. 386. They will enable the city to avoid leaving unusable strips, gores and triangles along streets or parks, and paying consequential damages for the partial destruction of lots and then having no power to make the land usable along city improvements.

All persons who are acquainted with the expensive and roundabout method of condemnation now in use will welcome the plan to bring such cases before a court and have them adjudicated by an intelligent judge according to regular rules of procedure.

Section 7, Article I, of the Constitution is amended by these measures, to read as follows:

Section 7.—When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor, when such compensation is not made by the State, shall be ascertained by a jury, by the supreme court, with or without a jury but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law.

The legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or re-locating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased.

If these amendments are approved by the Governor, they will come before the people for voting at the next general election, and, if adopted, will be enacted into a general law by the next Legislature.

The following acts have been signed by the Governor:

Chap. 134—By Senator Peckham, amending section 47 of the Tax Law, in relation to payment of expenses in certiorari proceedings.

Chap. 128—By Senator Blauvelt, to amend section 12 of the Religious Corporations Law, in relation to the sale, mortgage and lease of real property of religious corporations.

Chap. 152—By Assemblyman Burr, repealing section 13 of the Decedent Estate Law, in relation to devises of real property to aliens.

Chap. 204—By Senator Ramsperger, amending section 351 of the Insurance Law in relation to inspecting water supply and apparatus for fire fighting

Chap. 205—By Senator Ramsperger, amending section 48 of the Insurance Law in relation to the contents of advertisements.

EVERYBODY'S SIGNING IT.

The Declaration of Principles—A Great Demonstration in Behalf of Municipal Economy.

The Declaration of Principles issued by the citizens' committee of which William H. Chesebrough is chairman, is being largely signed in all the boroughs. Among the names that have not already been printed here are:

Chairman Coggeshall and President Bright of the Lawyers Title Insurance and Trust Company; George R. Sheldon, Ernest Flagg, the architect; President Underwood of the Underwood Typewriter Company; Frederick Johnson, Leo F. Bing of Bing & Bing, and Lee & Fleischmann, builders of the finest apartment houses; Max Marx, the big land developer.

President Hegeman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which loans more money on city real estate than any other one institution; Bradish Johnson, William J. Dewitt, David A. Clarkson, former president of the New York Real Estate Board of Brokers; De Hart Bergen, president of the Brooklyn Real Estate Board; Lawrence B. Elliman, Henry S. Harper, Mr. Gaillard of McVickar, Gaillard & Co.; Joseph S. Schwab, an executive officer in the United Real Estate Owners' Associations; John M. Stoddard, John H. Judd, estate of Charles F. Hoffman, the Barney Estate Company, Edward P. Doyle and George Wenner.

Taxpayers Are Going to Have a Say.

William H. Cheesebrough, chairman of the temporary executive committee, has said that the time has come when the taxpayers propose to have something to say about how the city's revenues, collected from them, shall be expended. This is necessary not only to protect their equities in real property but also essential in safeguarding the city from the most serious financial consequences.

Without doubt, he said, the constant increase in taxes had been the principal, although not the sole cause, of the increasing rents. The rentpayer, while he had not always realized it, had undoubtedly suffered greatly from the burden of increased rent by reason of wasteful city government. And it might be that the rentpayer was so overburdened now that future increase in taxation might have more effect in breaking down values than in further increasing rents.

Mr. Chesebrough thinks it now possible to put a body of men in control of this city who will put political interests and all the interests of friendship aside to the extent of making themselves unpopular by keeping down the cost of city government. Until quite recently he had not thought this possible, but now the psychological moment has come. Until the last two or three years there had been no general appreciation of the danger to the city and to real estate owners.

It is yet early to start a political campaign, and the activities are confined to rolling up a monster list of signatures to the Declaration. Later on plans will be announced for meetings in all the boroughs, delegates will be chosen to a general city convention and organization effected to carry out the principles of the new party.

—From January 1 to April 24 there were 2,599 conveyances recorded in Manhattan as against 3,039 during the corresponding period last year. The assessed valuation of the properties transferred during the current year was $157,681,412, as against $247,483,345 last year.

LARGEST FACTORY.

The New Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company Building, Long Island City.

There is now being constructed at Thompson avenue and Meadow street, Long Island City, by the Turner Construction Company, New York, for the Degnon Realty and Terminal Improvement Company, according to plans and specifications by Mr. Wm. Higginson, architect, what is expected to be the largest single industrial building in the eastern part of the United States. When completed, this enormous factory will be occupied by the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company, a concern of national prominence, with large establishments in Boston and St. Louis.

The building, which is illustrated herewith, is 430x200 feet in plan, ten stories high, or a total of nearly 900,000 square feet of floor space. It is to be built almost entirely of reinforced concrete, though to keep the size of the interior columns as small as possible, structural steel shapes have been provided for the interior columns, up to the sixth floor line. This is necessary because the floor loads are extremely severe, as the following table will show:

2d, 3d, 4th and 7th floors—400 lbs. per square foot with large ovens on the seventh floor, which continue through to the eighth floor, weighing 350 tons each. Floors are designed according to the ordinary beam and girder construction. The floor finish to be maple, almost entirely throughout the building, except that a granolithic floor is specified in the driveways, in the basement and on the 3d and 9th floors and in front of the ovens.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of this building is the exterior, which is to be of a white glazed terra cotta and is to be largely illuminated with electric lights at night, some 4,000 sockets being provided for these lights. Standing as it does on the level plain at the back of Long Island City with nothing of equal or anywhere near the equal height in that part of the city, this new Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company Building will become a landmark for the Long Island portion of greater New York.

The foundations which are on piles are practically complete and the erection of the superstructure is to begin on May 1, as the contractors are under obligation to deliver the building to the owners, ready for occupancy, on February 15, 1914.

To get some idea of the magnitude of this building, it is only necessary to state that a preliminary order for nails amounting to two carloads has already been placed and that 1,500,000 feet B. M. of lumber for use in the forms alone have been ordered for delivery at the job site, and that between 7,000 and 8,000 tons of steel will be required; 40,000 yards of concrete will be placed, requiring over 70,000 barrels of cement, with corresponding quantities of sand and gravel. When the job is running at a maximum, there will be about 500 men employed by the contractors. The Turner Construction Company expects to make a record for speed, considering the size of the job, and is making every effort to have the building in every way worthy of the past record that concrete construction has made in the metropolitan district.

THE LOOSE-WILES BISCUIT COMPANY BUILDING.

SPRING RENTING IN 1913.

No Wholesale Moving Day Any More. —New Houses Favored.

The day of wholesale moving out of tenants on May 1 is a thing of the past, as the present day occupants of apartments have changed their habits and methods by the signing of leases expiring in the majority of cases in September instead of May.

For this reason the Spring Season is one in marked contrast to that of years ago and the prospect is for fewer vacancies this summer than last.

Mr. A. V. Amy of A. V. Amy & Co., of Seventh avenue and 115th street, has noted that the tendency of some people, at least in Central Harlem, to seek the newer houses wherein to live instead of the old established, large roomed apartment-houses, is on the increase, and it is purely a matter of individual taste which are the best, for there are few if any of the old apartment structures whose landlords or owners do not see the importance of keeping them up to the latest requirements of the day.

The better class of tenants seek the comfort and luxury combined in the smaller apartments, but in the larger apartments luxury is sometimes overlooked for comfort.

"Owing to the high cost of living there is a demand by some for hotel features in connection with apartment-house life, but this tendency is apt to be limited rather than extended," Mr. Amy said, "to those who are given to travel or live the greater part of the year in the country or surroundings adjacent to New York.

"The building operations of the future for this reason in certain defined locations will no doubt include accommodations to meet this demand."

—A new real estate boom has started in Brownsville, in anticipation of a subway extension. The first boom there resulted from the opening of the Williamsburg Bridge.

TENEMENT BUILDING.

First Quarter's Plans Fully Equal to 1912 Record for Like Period.

A comparison of the number of plans filed for new tenements during the first quarter of 1913 with the record for the like period in the previous year, compiled by the Tenement House Department, discloses that taking into account the city at large, there is somewhat larger activity in tenement building than last year.

Manhattan planned 59 as against 47; The Bronx, 129 to compare with 153; Brooklyn, 214 to compare with 242, while Queens planned 135 this year as against only 58 last year for the same quarter. In other words, Manhattan and Queens are doing better than last year. The total for the city is 537 buildings planned for the first quarter of 1913 to compare with 501 for the first quarter of 1912, and with estimated costs of $17,772,000 and $16,629,000 respectfully.

In Manhattan the value represented in this year's filings was $6,656,000, to compare with $5,285,000; and in Queens, $1,154,000, to compare with $60,000, the latter figure representing the estimated cost of all the tenements for which plans were filed during the first quarter of 1912. The following table has been prepared by the Tenement House Department:

1912, FIRST QUARTER.

	Manhattan.	Bronx.	Brooklyn.
No. of Plans...	36	91	156
No. of Bldgs...	47	153	242
Est. cost.....	$5,285,000	$6,246,000	$4,524,000
1913, FIRST QUARTER.
No. of Plans...	59	129	117
No. of Bldgs...	59	129	214
Est. cost.....	$6,656,000	$6,070,000	$3,892,000

Changing an Old Landmark.

The firm of Wilcox & Shelton, after thirty-one years in the same block, and twenty-five years in its present office, in 125th street, is about to move to a new location, at 2107 Seventh avenue, one door above 125th street. The firm of Wilcox & Shelton has been established for twenty-nine years with the present partners, who have seen most of the streets of all that part of the city north of Cathedral Parkway built up, and they have had a large part in the upbuilding. It is rare in the real estate field in our time for a firm to be so long established in the same neighborhood that its removal from the block becomes a matter of general comment throughout the city.

Dock Improvements at Long Island City.

The Board of Estimate will hold a public hearing on May 15, at 10.30 a. m., in Room 16, City Hall, relative to the application of the Dock Commissioner for authority to adopt plans for terminal facilities, etc., in that section of Queens Borough, bounded by Borden avenue, Van Dam street, Hunters Point avenue and the center line of Dutch Kills Creek. The plan includes water and car-float connections on Dutch Kills Creek, between Borden avenue and Hunters Point av.

A Thought from the Past but Good To-Day.

"Bear in mind that you may labor and toil in the whirl and excitement of business to build new warehouses and add to the city's wealth and to your own, but that while you thus build, ignorant negligent or corrupt men among your law makers can easily and steathily pull down."—Grover Cleveland to New York Chamber November 26, 1883.

BUILDING MANAGEMENT

Conducted by Raymond P. Roberts, Building Manager for the American Real Estate Company.

FACTORY FIRE DRILLS.

Mandatory Under a New Act.—An Efficient System Described.

[As a new state law makes mandatory the introduction of regular fire drills in loft buildings used for manufacturing purposes, an article describing as this does an efficient system of fire drilling should be valuable and timely to owners who may be puzzled by the provisions of the act.]

By Spear & Co.

A necessary accompaniment to any system of fire drill is the installation of a fire alarm in the building that will warn the tenants in what part of the factory the fire has started. The Legislature at this writing has not as yet formulated the specifications for the fire alarm system, but there is no doubt that the necessary feature, namely, indicating the location of the fire, will not be omitted.

The first step in the preparation of a fire drill is the appointment of a chief on each floor. He should be a person of cool judgment, one who is able to command the respect of the others on the floor. His primary duties are to see that there is sufficient aisle space, and that there are no obstructions to fire escapes and other exits.

Capable Monitors.

The chief selects a few capable assistants to assist him in the drill, and each assistant is assigned to an exit or stairway. Their duties shall be to see that the employees leave in an orderly and quiet manner, and that there is no overcrowding. When the signal to vacate is given by the chief, these assistants are to hasten to their respective exits and to station themselves, one on the inside, the other on the outside or stairside, of their respective exits. Upon the persons on guard at the exit an important duty devolves. The assistant on the stairside should be on the alert to see that none stumble on the stairs. It is the duty of the assistant stationed on the inside of the exit to open the door leading to his exit, when the chief gives the signal, and to remain there until every occupant has passed out. Before leaving he must be careful to notice that none has been left behind.

Where stair exits have sharp bends or turns and are not very well lighted, additional guards should be provided at such point.

Signal Bells.

On each floor there should be provided an additional bell apart from the electric gong, which should be under the sole charge of the chief. Upon the ringing of the house gong the chief will immediately pull the floor bell, which will be the signal for the employees to rise. Two rings will be the signal for the operatives to pick up their stools, chairs, or benches and place them on top of their machines. Three bells and the operatives form in either single or double file, and march toward the exits away from where the fire commenced. If double file is formed, their arms should be linked.

Under no circumstances should any person be permitted to leave the line for wearing apparel or any other article after the march has started.

On the formation of the line it should be the business of the chief to shut off the power of the machines.

After the employees have reached the stairways they are under instructions of the guards stationed there, and upon reaching the street the line should be led away from the building, and not be allowed to clog up the entrance or the sidewalk in front.

A competent person should be chosen and instructed in the use of auxiliary fire apparatus, such as hose on the standpipes in the halls. Many incipient fires that lead to serious conflagrations can be averted if quick action is taken.

Elevators are not deemed means of exit in case of fire, and should remain on the street level and await the arrival of the firemen. When conditions warrant, elevators may be used to carry down passengers. The elevator operators should be at all times under the orders of the engineer.

These fire drills should be conducted at frequent intervals when the employees leave for their lunch, or are ready to go home at the close of the day's work; also at rarer intervals, during some unexpected moment in the course of the day, so that the employees may be trained to go through the drill without knowing whether there is a fire or not.

The operatives should be made familiar with the rules for the fire drill by posters printed in different languages.

Signs indicating the location of all stairways, fire-escapes and other means of exit shoud be displayed in prominent places throughout the building.

Make Your Entrance an Asset.

In small stores where the entrance is but one of a synonymous row of little stores and cramped windows a touch of distinctiveness is possible by judicious handling of light and other things about the entrance. In a Northern town a small hardware man found himself so situated that his store was but one of a row of eight where every entrance and every window was of the same size and design. And just because only a few squares away there was a competitor of larger capital and better quarters it became necessary for him to attract attention and assist his chance customers to memorize his address and his name.

Accordingly he installed a soft light system in his display window which, while it did not make his store seem gloomy, at the same time gave his illumination individuality, and set him apart from the others in his row. To partly offset the softer light of his window and complete his idea of being original he attached to his ceiling and just inside his door the most brilliant cluster of electric globes he could obtain. The result was both pleasing and profitable, says a contributor to "Business."

The interior light set his glass door apart from the rest—a brilliant glass affair with his name and number easily read from considerable distance. For daylight hours he has placed across the entire door a round brass bar and to the right on the woodwork is a shiny brass plate enscribed "Push." The door swings both in and out. Every other door in the row has a catch and half of them are not in good working order.

Convention of Building Managers.

The sixth annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers will be held in Cincinnati June 10 to 14, in the south wing of Music Hall. Among the papers which will be read and discussed on this occasion will be one entitled "The Central Agency Compared with Individual Management in Operating Office Buildings," by Edward M. Willoughby of Willoughby & Co. of Chicago, who is president of the Chicago Real Estate Board.

A. L. Hawley of Seattle will speak on "Operating Costs of Rentals on the Square Foot Basis." J. E. Randell of Chicago will discuss the "Duties of a Building Manager During the Construction of a Building." Mr. Randell is the manager of the Continental and Commercial Bank Building, at Chicago, and is now engaged in erecting another bank building.

Clarence T. Coley, of the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, New York, will read a paper on the "Method of Determining the Proper Height of an Office Building." "Smoke Abatement and Furnace Operation" will be considered by Louis Kaiser of Cincinnati, founder of the Cincinnati Society of Combustion Engineers.

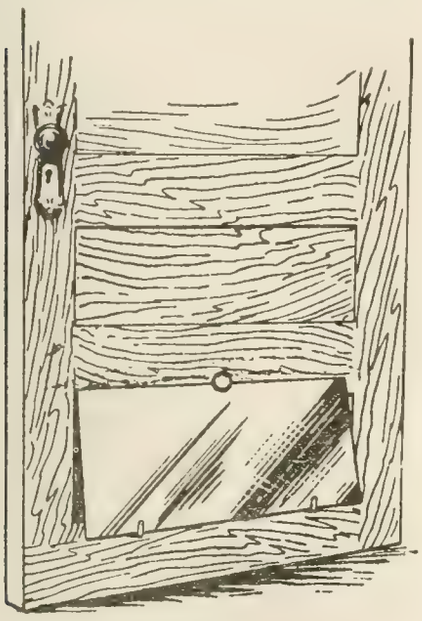
Besides the set addresses there will be fifteen minute discussions on "Metering Light to Tenants," "Painting and Decorating," "Painting Floors," "Vacuum Cleaners," "Fire Extinguishers," "Procuring Tenants by Advertising," "Profits from By Products," "Relation of Foot Traffic to Store Rents," "Lobby Tenants," "Elevator Safety Devices" and "Utilizing Roof Space."

Committees will report on Insurance, Plumbing, Government Buildings, Wireless Installation. R. P. Bolton, C. E., New York, will submit a report on the Basic Principle of Figuring Rentable Area in Office Buildings.

A Profitable Alteration.

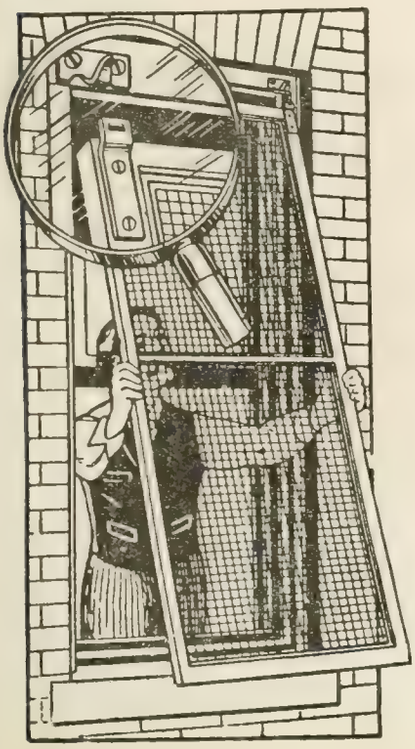
One of the most conspicuous examples of profitable alterations can be found on middle Broadway, not far from 78th street. The average rent obtained from the old seven-room flats was $50 a month, and the total rent roll for the several buildings was about $20,000. It can be readily seen that the income obtained was entirely inadequate to the present value of Broadway property.

The owner, not knowing what else to do, leased the houses to a practical real estate man, and the lessee immediately altered the buildings extensively. By removing all the avenue entrances and making one large entrance on 78th street the entire Broadway frontage was left available for stores. The old flats were sub-divided into suites of two, three and four rooms, with kitchens or kitchenettes. Good plumbing, electric lights, and other modern conveniences were installed. Within a very short time after the alterations were completed the apartments were entirely rented to an excellent class of tenants. The three-room apartments rent for as much as the seven-room flats did, and the entire income of the remodeled house is about $50,000, two and a half times the original amount.



Of course, the stores are capable of producing a much better return than the old ground-floor apartments, and exclusive of the stores there are fifty tenants, as against thirty before altering. The cost was considerable, probably in the neighborhood of $50,000, but the greatly increased income makes the property one of the most productive in the district.

USEFUL APPLIANCES



Novelties, New Applications of Familiar Devices and the Trend of Invention, Designed to Aid the Architect, Builder and Building Manager, Described Without Regard to Advertising Consideration.

A Mirror for Skirts.

Here is a wrinkle for the enterprising house manager. Prospective women tenants will not fail to appreciate a skirt mirror on the bottom panel of their boudoir door. Women are frequently desirous of knowing how their skirts hang, and the mirror gives them a perspective of their garment. A mechanic can frame these mirrors and screw them to the door panel at very small cost. In fact, any sash and blind company can supply doors with panels for the insertion of these mirrors in new buildings. A small thumb-screw may be affixed so that the skirt mirror may be pitched at any desired angle.

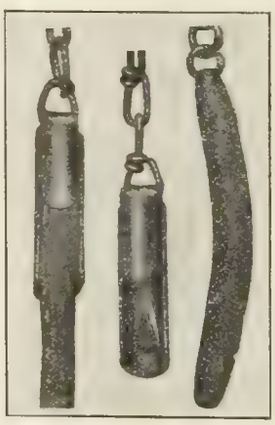
A New Screen Hanger.



The Phoenix Manufacturing Company, of 54 Center street, Milwaukee, has a new device for hanging window screens and fastening them. The fixtures make the sash usable all year round, in winter for storm windows, and in summer for fly screens and mosquito nettings. They have a special application in the perfection of out-of-door sleeping porches. It is claimed that these devices make the window non-rattling. They may be hung or removed from the inside.

Keeping Down Carpet Dust.

When the janitor runs his carpet sweeper over a rug or carpet in an office he generates a certain amount of dust which must be wiped off later. If the superintendent instructs him to place a piece of cloth one inch wide and twelve inches long saturated with kerosene oil in the dust box of his carpet sweeper he will not generate dust while he is sweeping.

A Sash Mouse that Meets a Need.

Handley & Cotterman, of 164 North Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill., are putting on the market a device for drawing sash cords through pulleys in window-frames. The device consists of a steel chain having a weight on one end and a fastener on the other. The fastener is made of one piece of steel, with a sharp point or spur for holding the end of the sash cord and drawing it through. The chain is made of steel, has no open links and cannot be pulled apart. The weight is made of lead and the proper shape to go through the pulleys readily. The total length is 59 inches and the weight only three ounces. This device is known as the "Han-Cot" sash mouse.

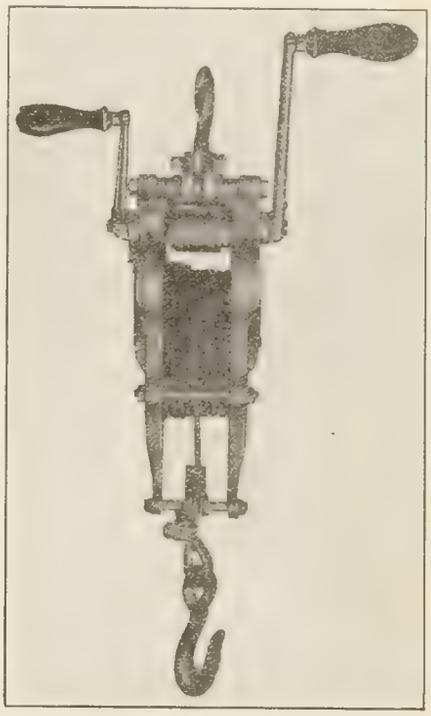
Topographical Maps.

Where can I obtain standard topographical maps and what is their cost? Why was the price advanced?

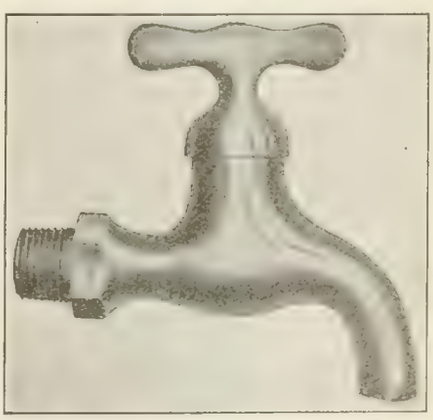


Answer.—From the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C. Single copies since January 1st have been sold for 10 cents, but the cost is only 6 cents when the order amounts to $3 or more. The maps were formerly sold at 5 cents retail and 3 cents wholesale. The increase in price was necessary on account of the increasing refinement in the field work of the surveys, immense amount of detail information put in the maps, the great care neccessary in securing exact register of the impressions for each sheet and the higher cost of labor and material. When it is remembered that the standard 15-minute sheet is practically an exact reproduction of 230 square miles of territory, even the prices of 10 and 6 cents per map are seen to be merely nominal.

Cement for Broken Glass.

Reduce quicklime to a fine powder and make it into a paste with white of egg. Add a little whey, made by mixing milk with vinegar. Use the least possible quantity in bringing the edges together.

A Convenient Hoister.



There is a hoister being put upon the market having several uses not usually found in devices of this character. It is ready, when brought in, for immediate use again. It is impossible for the cable to slip, as there is a lock applied when desired going up, and a brake may be applied when going down. It does away with dangers attendant upon dangling ropes and it overcomes the danger of slipping half hitches. It is tested to a two-ton breaking strain, can not kink and is not affected by acids in cleaning materials. The many uses to which hoists are applied in work among buildings, namely, painting, pointing, refacing, surfacing, ceiling setting, and removal of ashes and other refuse from buildings seems to offer a wide use for this device. It is manufactured by the Motor Specialty Company, of Waltham, Mass.

A Packless Bibb.

The picture herewith presented shows a bibb which requires no packing. It is designed on the siphonic principle, which is intended to eliminate the necessity of top packing and washers on the stem. By the adaption of this principle leakage is reduced to a minimum and it thereby provides a positive check upon excessive metering, especially if they are provided with a spring check. They are made for lavatories, sinks, laundry trays, water coolers and are composed of only two pieces, the stem and the cap, the handle being in one piece with the cap.

John P. O'Brien, assistant corporation counsel in charge of the Tenement House Law department, will address the members of the Real Estate Owners' Protective Association in the Riverside Theatre Building, Broadway and 96th street, this evening on the Relation of the Tenement House Department to the Owners of Real Estate.

According to newspaper reports from Washington, President Lawson Purdy, of the Tax Department, is likely to be the next Collector of the Port of New York. The talent which Mr. Purdy has developed for keeping in good humor people from whom he collects annually bigger taxes should be a valuable asset to the Federal administration.

The National Association of Manufacturers will hold its annual meeting on May 19 to 21, inclusive, at Detroit, Mich. The proceedings of the association this year are expected to be of special interest, as they will no doubt reflect the opinion of employers with respect to the new tariff schedules and the legislative enactments designed for the regulation of business.

The progress of the Cuvillier bill providing for payment of title examination fees by persons wishing to cede land to the city for street purposes seems to have been checked by a memorandum which Borough President Miller sent to Albany. At present the Corporation Counsel is required to examine title and no expense falls upon the owner beyond preparing the deed. Under this arrangement the number of cessions has shown a remarkable increase. President Miller's memorandum points out that the city would undoubtedly lose more than it would gain if the Cuvillier bill went into effect.

The Westchester Railroad's Deficiency and the Reason.

The investigation of the financial situation of the New York & New Haven Railroad Company that is now under way in Boston has developed some significant facts in relation to the new Westchester railroad. It appears from the testimony of the Federal expert that the operation of that line brings with it a loss to the New Haven Company of a sum not far from $1,000,000 a year. The road was very expensive to construct and as yet the traffic which it has developed scarcely suffices to pay operating expenses. Of course it has only been in operation for about a year, and a railroad built through a new territory can hardly be expected to pay at once; but the point is that the operating deficit is very large, and that it is bound to continue for an indefinite period. Doubtless the traffic will increase steadily, but it is difficult to see how under the present circumstances it can increase rapidly.

The obstacle is that the Westchester road does not carry its passengers to the destination which most of them want to reach. It deposits them at the Harlem River with no means of traveling to the southern part of Manhattan, except those provided by the very inadequate existing machinery of communication. The patrons of the road will be able to reach the financial district somewhat more conveniently as soon as the East Side elevated roads have been supplied with a continuous third track; but they will not obtain the service they need until the new East Side subway gets into operation and even then they will have the inconvenience and delay of changing cars. It seems inevitable that the deficit which results from the operation of the Westchester Road at the present time will continue to exist for many years.

One can scarcely help wondering how it came about that the management of the New Haven company assumed such a heavy and unremunerative responsibility. At best it is bound to be many years before the profits from operation will be sufficient to pay the accumulated deficits.

Doubtless the directors of the company bought the franchises of the Westchester company chiefly for the purpose of preventing the invasion of its own territory, but it does not look as if they could seriously have feared the competition of a company that could have had no means of getting its passengers south of the Harlem River and whose credit would hardly have been sufficient to finance a project prospectively so unprofitable. Why not have let somebody else bear the early losses and risk the chance of getting the property at a bargain at some later date? The answer almost certainly is that at the time the New Haven company bought the Westchester railroad the intention was to connect it directly with the southern part of Manhattan by means of the Lexington-Broadway subway as originally planned by the Public Service Commission.

On at least two occasions President Mellen intimated in public that the New Haven company proposed to bid on that subway, and the plans of the commission providing for the construction of a tunnel which would accommodate unusually large passenger cars were plainly contrived for the use of the New Haven company. If this project had been carried out and if the New Haven company could have transported its suburban passengers over its own rails without change of cars to the financial district, the investment of a great deal of money in the Westchester Railroad might well have been justified. Why the idea was abandoned the Record and Guide does not pretend to know. Perhaps a cool examination of the chances of profitably operating the Broadway-Lexington avenue subway convinced the management of the New Haven company that it would not be a profitable venture. Perhaps the management of the company had already become convinced that the plans of its President were resulting in the assumption of responsibilities which not even its enormous resources could safely bear. At any rate, the project was abandoned and the New Haven railroad was left with a large number of suburban tracks on its hands which terminated at the Harlem River.

If the company had remained faithful to its original plan and bid upon the Broadway-Lexington avenue subway, its action would have had a profound effect on the future growth of the city. The independent operation of this vital route by a railroad that would not have wished to extend its subway lines would have introduced an irrelevant and embarrassing element into the whole subway situation. The dual system and the utilization of existing means of transit, both in Brooklyn and Manhattan, as part of the new rapid transit system would have been impossible. New York City has done very much better without the assistance of the New Haven company and its citizens are to be congratulated that the ambitious plans of the management of that corporation had to be abandoned. They should remember, however, that in this as in another conspicuous instance certain parts of New York and its neighborhood have profited enormously from the investment by wealthy corporations in temporarily unprofitable local transit enterprises. If the New Haven company had not taken over the project of building the Westchester railroad, it is possible that the enterprise would not have been pushed to completion for many years, and it is certain that the line would not have been so well built or would not have offered such an excellent train service as it does at present. In the same way the Long Island Railroad as an independent corporation would have been wholly unable to finance the series of improvements which are gradually bringing its patrons into so much more convenient relations with the heart of Manhattan. These patrons certainly should be grateful to the corporation which has poured so many millions into the development of the service of a railroad which had for years scarcely been able to pay its own way and which must have long remained a poor servant of its customers, if it had not become the part of a stronger and wealthier railroad system.

The Financial Strain and Property Owners' Duty.

It has become apparent that the real estate interests of New York City must not expect any revival of real estate activity during the current year. The hopes, which some months ago were based upon the increasing volume of general business have proved to be fallacious. Business prosperity had no effect upon local real estate, and now business prosperity itself is apparently on the wane. The prevailing situation presented too many uncertainties. The continued tensity of the attitude of the several European Powers one to another, as a result of the Balkan war, has resulted in the placing of a strain on the international money markets that has had an unfavorable reaction on this country. In spite of a very considerable liquidation of securities and the absence of any speculative expansion, money rates are high and 4¼ per cent.

bonds which the city sold last year at par are now selling at about 93.

Real estate feels the effect of these high money rates, and so does general business, which is also facing the disagreeable effects of a radical revision of the tariff. How soon the general situation will clear up, it is impossible to predict, but assuming that the existing tension in the money market is relieved during the coming summer, there is every reason to anticipate a substantial improvement in the real estate market during the winter of 1913-1914. The lack of speculative building of all kinds, which is the most obvious aspect of the present situation, will have produced its effect by the middle of next winter. It may be possible to increase rents in certain parts of the city, where building has been inactive and property-owners may in many instances be compensated for the increase in taxation of late years. If any such tendency appears, an expansion in speculative buying is bound to take place.

The real estate market will have had a prolonged period of rest and of stationary or declining prices, and the foundation should be laid for a more substantial and wholesome movement in real estate values than any which has taken place since 1905 and 1906. In the meantime the future prospects for real estate depend as much as anything else upon the results of the approaching municipal election. Property-owners all over the city should clearly understand that the effective way in which they can contribute at the present time to a renewed period of advancing real estate prices is by making municipal economy and efficiency an issue during the coming campaign. This aspect of the situation is up to them. The increasing burden of taxation and the increasing responsibilities imposed upon the municipal government has necessitated an effective organization and agitation for the purpose of protecting their interests, and if they do not get together and support such an organization they will have no one but themselves to blame for future losses.

THE WEEK IN REAL ESTATE.

The real estate situation remained unchanged during the week, extreme quiet prevailing in nearly all branches of the market. Interest in Washington Heights apartment houses, though by no means notable, was perhaps the feature of the trading in Manhattan.

Four apartment houses in West 145th street, one at Ft. Washington avenue and 160th street, one on West 150th street, and others on West 156th, West 151st and West 133d streets, were among the properties that changed hands, as did also the old Bloomingdale Reformed Church site, which is to be improved with a big apartment house. Further north the Realty Operating Co. disposed of the last of its holdings in the Dyckman tract in a deal with the Maze Realty Co.

The Bronx and Brooklyn contributed very little to the week's activities, although Bronx properties figured in various trades for Manhattan apartment houses. The Stedman estate exchanged a tract of land for four 6-sty apartment buildings at 239-53 West 145th street. Trinity Church purchased a plot of six lots in Kingsbridge road, to be used for a chapel.

In Brooklyn, there continued to be a moderately good demand for small dwellings, which has been characteristic of that borough for some time.

In Queens, the N. Y. Telephone Co. acquired a city block, to be used for a station.

Long Island real estate was fairly active and several large tracts of land were sold during the week.

CONDEMNATION APPRAISALS.

A Simple and Economical Method of Getting at True Values.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Our taxes increase each year and alarmingly so, and one of the causes of this increase is the extraordinary cost of property acquired by the city through condemnation proceedings. There is much to be said on both sides of the subject undoubtedly; but there is no excuse for the so-called expert appraisers' figures in many of the cases tried from day to day, except that the real trouble lies at the door of many of the lawyers who make a specialty of this class of work and who accept their cases upon a contingency basis. It is to the attorney's benefit to secure high awards, as he is compensated upon a percentage of that award. It is unfortunately a fact that appraisers can be secured to testify to figures of values that appear out of all reason to one not directly interested; and with opinions of experts so widely at variance, what can be expected of commissioners of appraisal who must sit and listen over a period of many weeks and even months to figures, facts, theories and fancies of real estate appraisers?

It is undoubtedly a fact that appraisers of integrity will differ materially in their estimates of values, but these cases are rather the exception than the rule, except in condemnation proceedings. There can often be an honest difference of opinion, but when it happens continually there must be a reason, and to my way of thinking that reason is not always hard to find.

The vast difference of opinion of the experts in the hearing before the Court House commissioners in Manhattan was not warranted by the facts and the same condition obtains in cases being heard practically every day in the week in every borough of this great city.

The newspapers can print no news of more interest and moment to the taxpayers and the rentpayers than just the plain facts of some of these cases, but for reasons best known to themselves they do not, or will not, publish them. To me "the power and the freedom of the press" is a joke.

These cases take too long to try and the owner waits too long for his money. Of this, there is no doubt. The present method is wrong and should be corrected, and I would suggest for consideration and thought the following method: Elect "condemnation judges" at a salary of $15,000 per year each, to sit one, two or three at a time (as may be decided) in all cases where property is to be condemned for public use, having a calendar of cases noted from day to day for hearings. Let the Corporation Counsel, on behalf of the city, employ two appraisers to value the property affected and prepare their valuations in the form of a brief, setting forth the facts and figures and the sales and other data upon which they base their opinions. The attorney for the property to likewise have two appraisers to estimate values, also in the form of a brief, setting forth facts and figures and the sales and data upon which they base their opinions.

When the case is reached upon the court calendar, have the Corporation Counsel and the attorney for the property owner both appear, together with their appraisers. Have the appraisers sworn by the judge or judges, and subscribe to their appraisals and then have the attorneys discuss the facts, figures and the law with the judges. The appraisers to attend, or leave, the court as the judges may elect. After a hearing of one, two or three hours, as the case may be, the judge would have the facts pretty well in mind, and he would then personally inspect the property in question, and after due consideration make his award therefor; or if still desirous of more facts, be empowered, at the city's expense, to engage a disinterested appraiser for an additional appraisal, always having the right to recall any or all of the original appraisers for examination or discussion.

It is possible that such judges would, at first, make some mistakes, but I strongly incline to the belief that after a period of six months of active work, they would have a good working knowledge of facts and particularly of men, and from then on their mistakes would not be many.

With some such system, it seems to me, these cases could be tried, awards made and paid within sixty to ninety days, as against the months and years which now elapse and in many cases with interest at 6 per cent. running with the awards.

The Taxpayers' Awakening.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

Extravagance and waste in the management of our municipal affairs, enormous increases in the city debt, the tax rate and assessed real estate valuations, together with corresponding decreases in actual values, have finally but rudely awakened the somnolent taxpayer from his chronic state of lethargy. He has come to a realization of the fact that the writing on the wall spells "Disaster," unless indifference, indolence and patience are replaced by a strong determination and resolve to actively and energetically participate in the management of our municipal affairs. Just as the business man sees to it that he receives his quid pro quo for every dollar expended, so the taxpayer has at least decided to ascertain what becomes of his money after he pays it into the city treasury, and to have the city receive one hundred cents for every dollar expended.

In the past few years there has been a deep-seated feeling of unrest, skepticism and distrust among those interested in New York real estate toward city officials. This feeling has recently grown into a positive conviction of inefficiency and incompetency on the part of those whose duty it is to administer the city's finances. And finally, this feeling and conviction has culminated almost spontaneously among all taxpayers throughout the city in a desire and determination to have only such members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, who are truly representative of the business interests of the city, and are qualified to solve its great financial problems, and more particularly, men who realize that it is wrong morally and legally to expend year after year more money than the income of the city, or that long-term bonds or corporate stock be issued for temporary improvements or requirements.

With this purpose in view, and with the desire to make the question of taxation and retrenchment the predominating issue in the next municipal campaign, an organization has been perfected by a large number of prominent real estate men, Democrats, Republicans and Progressives, irrespective of party affiliations or alignments. Their frank and earnest purpose is lucidly and admirably summarized in the "Declaration of Principles."

HENRY BLOCH.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

After three years of persistent persuasion, the lethargic real estate interests are at last about to assert their rights to some recognition, as to how and by whom this city government for which they pay the bills shall be run.

The credit for the inspiration primarily belongs to your paper, as on January 1, 1910, there began in your columns a series of articles which are now bearing fruit. You asked at that time, "Have the $7,000,000,000 assessed property interests nothing of their own to protect?"

They are awakening to the fact that they have.

MAIL BOXES TO BE RED.

Real Estate Interests Protesting on the Ground of Increased Fire Menace.

The United States Government has issued an order to all post masters authorizing them to repaint all public mail boxes in red. The insurance people and building managers, realty owners and others who have large interests at stake in the event of fire in a given neighborhood are protesting against this policy on the ground that it will cause confusion among excitable persons and delay in sounding fire alarms, especially at night, by reason of the fact that fire alarm boxes and posts are painted vermilion George W. Babb, chief engineer of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters, this week made the following comment on the order:

"It is our opinion that the recent order of the postoffice department that hereafter all mail boxes shall be painted red is a serious mistake. Red is the accepted color for fire alarm boxes in practically all cities in the United States, and there is absolutely no doubt that its adoption for any other kind of street box will result in confusion and delay. The necessity for promptly locating and identifying a fire alarm box far outweighs any consideration which might be advanced in favor of using for any other similar purpose the color universally recognized as affording such identification."

Higher Costs Since 1897.

The Finance Committee of the House of Representatives, of which Mr. Underwood is chairman, has in connection with the tariff legislation prepared some statistics to prove that the cost of building materials, as well as living expenses, has mounted up since the year 1897. As figures are intended to represent average conditions throughout the country, they cannot well be taken as particularly applicable to the metropolitan market.

The comparison on the prices of building materials is made between the years 1897 and 1912, and on household expenses between 1897 and 1910. The committee reports that cost of food has increased 46 per cent., the cost of clothing, 35 per cent.; house furnishing goods, 24 per cent.; drugs, 23 per cent.; farm products, 93 per cent.; all commodities, 46 per cent.

Increase in the price of selected staple commodities:

Around Hempstead.

A notable phase of the demand for medium priced houses, either for sale or rent, in Hempstead has been caused by the presence of the army of employees in a large publishing plant established between Hempstead and Garden City two years ago. Coming as they did, with the firm they work for, from Manhattan, they preferred to reside either within walking or easy riding distance of their place of employment. Much of the land development in the southern part of Hempstead, along the line of the trolley between Hempstead and Freeport, is caused by the demand of workers for homes at prices commensurate with their means. Hempstead, Floral Park, Rockville Centre, Lynbrook, Valley Stream and Rosedale are all links in one trolley chain which is steadily promoting a homogeneity of interest among the property owners in those places.

BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

First Official Announcement of the Plan to Revise the Common Brick Section of the Code—Will Boost Outlying Realty Activity for Workingmen's Homes.

Large Steel Companies Still Hold to Late Quotations—More Aggressiveness for New Business.

FOLLOWING a report in the street to the effect that some of the small steel makers were making concessions in prices to encourage new business, came a statement on the Metal Exchange that the Sharon, Pa., steel works were about to resume operations after an idleness covering approximately three years. At once there was a quickening tone to future buying sentiment because this is the last of the company's plants to start up. But the real significance in the action was in the time in which the resumption was made, a period when it seems to be the vogue to look with some pessimism upon the steel,

Congressman William M. Calder and Audley Clarke, both prominent Brooklyn material and building men, who are experts for the Aldermanic committee on code revision covering the specifications for common brick in this market, are working out standardization tables which will fix standards for various grades of brick based upon the bearing strain they have to sustain and upon the exposure of walls, absorption, and other requirements. If this recommendation ultimately finds its way into the code, the market for common brick will practically be doubled within a year following the final passage of the code and vast tracts of land in New York and in New Jersey will be thrown open to the erection of workingmen's homes renting for from $16 to $18 a month, of brick construction. Behind the recommendations probably will be settlement workers and those opposed to continued congestion of population in this and neighboring cities.

While there is some retrenchment reported in the building material market, prices are holding firm, despite the fact that there is a little more aggressiveness shown in the search for new business. Concessions are not freely given. The manufacturers' agents apparently are willing to coax out a little new business to carry their present outputs until about the first of August when they believe the nervousness incidental to tariff revision will have passed with the final enactment of the new bill and the market will again take its stride.

In view of the fact that as goes the steel market so goes other building materials, it is reassuring to note that the Steel Corporation still maintains all its quotations for finished products,

As far as the small builder is concerned he need not expect any change in list prices for some time to come at least. He should bear in mind that mill stocks are very low, that there is a great scarcity of charterable boats for haulage of lumber and such commodities, that the railroads have not cleared up their congested freight incidental to the recent floods, that southern floods have damaged mills and lack of rains down east have checked logging operations; that open weather last winter consumed a large quantity of material which otherwise would not have been consumed before this season and that facing a possible change in tariff schedules affecting building materials, the manufacturers will naturally be inclined to take all the market will bear in the way of prices while prices are good.

PLANNING FOR CEMENT SHOW.

To Be Held in Chicago Next February—Condition of Local Market.

THE Seventh Chicago Cement Show will be held in the Coliseum, February 12-21, 1914. The Coliseum has again been leased by the Cement Products Exhibition Co., 72 West Adam street, Chicago, for the next national Cement Show for a period of nine days. The show will open on the evening of February 12 and close on Saturday evening, February 21. This is a longer show than has been held heretofore, but as there will be only one show next season it is felt that larger benefits will be derived by extending the show two days longer than hitherto. While the exhibition will be conducted along the same general lines as in the past, a number of changes have been adopted. In addition to holding the show open for a longer period, the space units have been increased in size and the rates for space decreased. Some innovations in the way of booth equipment are also in prospect.

Portland cement developed a better tone this week. Shipments from the mills are now practically on a nominal basis and the dealers are now in the market more aggressively than they have been some time.

Rosendale Natural Portland Cement is said to be in heavier demand than it has been in a long time. Prices are well sustained at list and there is rather unusual inquiry for this commodity.

BUILDING STONE EASY.

Limestone Leads in Activity, But Demand Is Light.

THE building stone situation may be described as seasonable. There is little improvement in the volume of new orders going out, but the inquiry is fairly encouraging for limestone and granite, the latter, however, being only for small quantities. Local cutting plants say that there has been no change in the recent past, although there is developing a very good tone in this market. The cutting plants are working on about one-half their capacity although here and there exceptions are to be found.

Several inquiries were made this week regarding the current prices of granite. The following quotations were made:

Coast of Maine	$0.50 per cu. ft.
Milford Pink	1.10 " " "
Stony Creek	1.05 " " "
Woodbury Bethel (yard)	1.25 " " "
Quincy, light	1.00 " " "
Quincy, dark	3.00 " " "
Westerly N. E. G. Co.	no quotation.
Concord (on cars)	0.75 per cu. ft.

STRUCTURAL STEEL STEADY.

Although Small Companies are Shading, Corporation's List Still Stands.

THE break in the price of steel as quoted by smaller companies this week tended to credit nervousness in that and other departments. The announcement which almost immediately followed it to the effect that the Sharon, Pennsylvania, Works had resumed operations to take care of new business, immediately offset the effect of the former rumor.

Metal interests have found no disposition on the part of the steel corporations or any of the other producers to make any change in their quoted list, and this had the greatest steadying effect of any other development of the week. The following quotations are current for structural material tide water:

Beams and channels, up to 15-inch	1.61@1.66
Beams and channels, over 14-inch	1.51@1.66
Angles, 3x2 up to 6x6	1.61@1.66
Zees and tees	1.61@1.66

WOULD STANDARDIZE BRICK.

Audley Clarke One of a Committee to Revise Brick Code—The Market.

AN effort is being made in Brooklyn to effect a more equitable standardization of brick for use in various types of buildings, by amending certain parts of the building code where common brick is specified for use in building construction. Among those interested in this matter are Audley Clarke, Congressman William M. Calder, who is a builder, and other construction and building material interests in that borough.

The need of a more comprehensive basis for admitting brick into building construction in the city has long been felt. The old code apparently goes upon the presumption that a brick is a brick regardless of the uses to which this material is to be put in the finished structure. At present the same quality of brick is required in a one-story moving picture theatre as would be required in a twenty-story skyscraper. It has been apparent to builders for years that instead of the code exacting the use of one standard of brick for all buildings that some provision should be made to regulate the use according to loads carried and the exposure of the walls.

Builders and others have long felt that they were working under a hardship in being obliged to meet not a fixed standard for all brick in buildings, but a standard that varied with every change in the administration of the office of the Superintendent of Bureau of Buildings. To remedy this condition, members of the advisory committee is preparing data to present to the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen in the hope that a more equitable standardization of brick may be written into the next building code. All other building materials have to comply with certain tests that experience has shown to be necessary. Brick should be tested for crushing strength, absorption, etc.

The committee has behind it architects, contractors, builders, building owners, and brick manufacturers, some of whom believe that the present high range of brick prices in this market is largely due to the fact that practically only high-grade brick can be used, when it is not always necessary that such expensive brick be specified. This means heavy waste at brick manufacturing plants which consumers must pay for. Brick has been known to run as high as 100 times the factor of safety. Fifty times is very common. Ten times would be sufficient in all cases, except special exposures, when a low per cent. of absorption is a necessary requirement. Speaking of the existing conditions, Mr. Audley Clarke said:

"The subject under discussion refers to setting up tables to determine the strength of common brick to be used in different forms and kinds of construction. Also, tables to determine the amount of absorption permitted in brick for various uses. This refers entirely to common brick as front brick are considered separate and apart from this question.

"While this subject is of considerable interest to the brick manufacturers of the North River, and will materially affect the cost of brick in New York City, this is only one of the changes which it is hoped to incorporate into the new building code.

"Congressman William M. Calder and myself are on the Advisory Committee of experts to offer suggestions to the Aldermanic Committee who are working on the new building code. The question of height of parapet walls, backing-up cornices, the use of wood, the extension of fire limits, reduction of the thickness of walls for the smaller dwelling houses, and various other questions affecting the cost of dwellings, especially those designed to accommodate the laboring classes, for whom no buildings have been put up since the introduction of the Tenement House Code, are all of great importance to the City of New York.

"A practical building code which will provide for the erection of buildings that are substantially built with proper sanitary arrangements, sufficient light and air, proper strength but no unnecessary requirements which do not add to their durability, should be very carefully considered and the effort should be made to encourage builders to erect moderate priced buildings that could be rented from $16 to $18 per month to afford comfortable livable homes for our laboring classes, in which respect the present code, and especially the tenement house laws, seem to make almost impossible if not actually prohibitory."

Sales in the brick market were light this week and prices were unchanged at $7 to $7.25 for Hudson commons.

Brokerage Sales, Auctions, Foreclosure Suits, Building Loans, etc., Together With Brief Personal Items.

There Still Continues to be a Demand for Upper West Side Apartments.

Big apartment houses figured prominently in this week's news columns, the properties on the west side north of 133d street being particularly in demand. Lower Manhattan saw the passing of 2 old landmarks in State street, and also the acquisition of valuable 23d street parcels for investment. The Bronx market was dull. In Brooklyn, the demand for small dwellings continues. The suburban real estate companies are doing a brisk business in disposing of vacant lots to investors.

The total number of sales in Manhattan this week was 39.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 13 against 13 last week and 18 a year ago.

The sales north of 59th street aggregated 26 compared with 27 last week and 30 a year ago.

From The Bronx, 14 sales at private contract were reported, against 17 last week and 10 a year ago.

The amount involved in the Manhattan and Bronx auction sales this week was $583,687, compared with $900,230 last week, making a total since January 1 of $20,565,743. The figure for the corresponding week last year was $743,453, making the total since January 1, 1912, $17,543,891.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

LEROY ST, 19, 3-sty front and 4-sty rear tenements, on lot 25x100, sold by Peter A. H. Jackson's Sons to the Basonio Construction Co., who will improve the site.

STATE ST, 4 and 5, two old landmarks, bought by Wm. H. Chesebrough and Oakleigh Thorne. No. 4 was sold by the German Lutheran Emigrant House Association. It has a frontage of 28x116 ft. Rear. No. 5 was sold by the executors of the Herman Wronkow Estate. It is on plot 25x116 ft., taking in immediately in the rear what is known as 18½ and 20 Pearl st. These purchases added to their previous holdings, give the buyers a plot of 136 ft on State st; 131 ft on Whitehall st and 40 ft on Pearl st. A high class commercial structure will probably be erected in the near future. The deal was negotiated by Francis Guerlich of H. S. Ely & Co.

20TH ST, 414-416 East, two 4-sty tenements, on plot 40x100, sold for Mrs. Thomas J. Nealis to Thomas Farley of 441 East 19th st, who intends to raze the present buildings and erect a 6-sty loft building. Brokers, Huberth & Huberth and William J. Gabel.

23D ST, 106 and 108, two 4-sty buildings on 75-ft. plots, bought by the United Charities for investment; 106 was purchased last week at auction for $106,000; 108 was sold by W. H. L. Lee, as attorney for the Demorest estate. The addition of these 2 lots to the lot at 104 already owned by the United Charities gives the buyers a plottage of 75 ft., adjoining the big building at the southeast corner of 4th av and 23d st. The brokers were the Douglas Robinson, Chas. S. Brown Co.

29TH ST, 29 East, and 32 East 30th st, two old-fashioned brownstone dwellings, each occupying a lot 21x98.9, sold by Howard Conkling to the Womans' Hotel Co., which owns the Martha Washington Hotel. The price is said to have been $150,000. The two buildings will be used for the purpose of erecting a 12-sty addition to the hotel, which now occupies a plot fronting 75 ft. on both 29th and 30th sts. Pease & Elliman were the brokers in the deal.

31ST ST, 25-29 West, new 12-sty loft building, on plot 58.4x98.9, sold by A. M. Jannole, president of the Napoleon Construction Co., to the Rutgers Realty Co. The latter company is said to have paid $350,000 cash for the property and will hold it for investment.

54TH ST, 308-312 West, church property on plot 75x200, sold by the Trustees of the Amity Baptist Church to the Greek Orthodox Church through A. W. Miller & Co. About $150,000 was involved in the transaction.

PARK ROW, 31, Claire R. Phillips has sold her one-half interest in the property to the estate of Jay Gould, through Wm. H. Whiting & Co. The purchaser acquired a ground lease of No. 31 many years ago and erected the present 5-sty structure over the 2 lots. The acquisition of this interest together with the remaining half interest, which they purchased through the same brokers about a year ago, now gives the buyer a plot 48.1x108.6. The property will probably be improved at the expiration of the present leases, which have about 5 years to run.

1ST AV, 100, 4-sty building, on lot 16.6x70, sold by Magdalena Eizer to an investor, for price said to be $30,000. Broker, B. Rosenblatt.

Manhattan—North of 59th Street.

O'Donohue, Jr., as the receiver for the Improved Property Holding Co., the large store and basement in 505 5th av, now occupied by R. H. Haan, to Alfred A. Kohn, a dealer in high class boots and shoes, now at 1231 Broadway. On account of his large increase in business Mr. Kohn will continue the Broadway store in connection with his new location. This property, which is covered with an 18-sty office building, was not included in the recent sale of the Corn properties at auction, but was held out by the Committee of the Bond Holders "B." The total amount of the rental to be paid under this lease is close to $400,000 and shows a considerable advance over the present rental being paid. This store is about 30 feet from 42d st, and is considered one of the most valuable locations in the upper 5th av section. A. N. Gitterman was associated as broker in the transaction.

THE CROSS & BROWN CO. leased for Ogden & Clarkson, as agents, the store in 17 West 30th st to Phillips & McConnell and in conjunction with Daniel Birdsall, the 1st loft in 22 and 24 West 38th st, to Breitkopf & Hartel; also 24 West 20th st for the Harrison Estate, the northerly store and basement in 362 and 364 5th av, to Russoks, modistes and furriers, now on 34th st and 5th av, who will occupy the same after extensive alterations. REAL ESTATE NOTES.

D. & H. LIPPMAN have moved their offices from 198 Broadway to 192 Broadway.

PEASE AND ELLIMAN announce the removal of their downtown office at 156 Broadway to the third floor of the Liberty tower, 55 Liberty st.

ISIDOR KEMPNER has opened an office at 1787 Amsterdam av near 148th st, where he will conduct a general real estate and insurance business.

SAMUEL MARX has moved his offices to the Woolworth Building, suite 2126.

M. ADLER has moved his offices from 203 Broadway to 160 Broadway.

MRS. M. TOWNSEND is the buyer of the 5-sty tenement recently sold by Margaret L. Boylan, through the Duross Co.

FRED'K ZITTEL & SONS were the brokers in the recent sales of 634 West 135th st for the Hensle Construction Co. and 263 and 265 West 137th for A. H. Atterbury to George Tomes.

W. V. ASTOR wants $1,000,000 from the city for an easement permitting a tunnel under the southerly half of the Astor House, which he inherited from his father. The Public Service Commission considers such a sum too great for a mere right of easement and it is probable that the property will be purchased outright.

THE H. D. BAKER CO. has removed its offices from 170 Broadway to 135 Broadway.

EDWARD A. ARNOLD, for the past 12 years associated with Richard M. Montgomery at 27 Pine st, has opened an office in the Montreal Building at 61 Wall st, of which he is agent, and where he will engage in all branches of the real estate business.

GODFREY N. NELSON has published a corporation calendar giving all information concerning the various classes of taxes, including real estate, personality, Croton water, State franchise and Federal.

BRYAN L. KENNELLY will sell at auction on May 17 221 lots known as Kingsland Park at Nutley, N. J. The property adjoins Nutley Park, a fine residential section.

DUFF & BROWN CO. have been appointed agents by Mr. Fred W. Crandall of premises Nos. 531 and 533 West 145th st, two 5-sty apartments.

DUFF & CONGER have been appointed agents by Mr. Fred W. Marks of the entire block front on the westerly side of Madison av, between 86th and 87th sts, consisting of 2 apartment houses and a taxpayer; also the "Lisenard" Nos. 53-55 East 86th st, and the 2 adjoining houses at Nos. 57-59 East 86th st.

ASHLEY M. HERRON has resigned his position as manager of the office of Mooyer & Marston.

THE NETLEY REALTY CO. announce the removal of their New York offices from 99 Nassau st to the Woolworth Building.

HENRY MORGENTHAU CO. has moved to 30 East 42d st at the southwest corner of Madison av.

GUST. SIDENBERG, formerly at 25 Broad st, has moved to 61 Broadway.

W. Z. GREENE, formerly president of the Greene & Taylor Realty Co. has opened an office at 701 5th av. Mr. Greene has been on this thoroughfare for the past 29 years.

THE FIRM OF GIBBONS & YOUNG, composed of G. Brandt Gibbons and Harry J. F. Young, has been dissolved by mutual consent.

DOUGLAS L. ELLIMAN & CO., INC., have been appointed agents for "Arthur Hall," a 7-sty apartment building at the northeast corner of 90th st and Madison av, by the Holly Realty Co.

BRIEUS were submitted this week in the condemnation proceedings for the New York northern [illegible] to Abram I. Elkus, Henry Schmidt and James J. Curran, composing the Commission. The valuation totals $5,600,000, and the owners' [illegible]

Flushing Auction Sale.

[illegible] marked the auction sale of [illegible] the John P. Dingham property in Bowne [illegible] last Saturday afternoon. The property, bounded on the east by Parsons avenue, on the north by Queens avenue, on the west by Bowne avenue and on the south by Lawrence avenue, comprised 12½ building plots and is said to have been one of the largest [illegible] of real estate offered at auction in Flushing in years. Only seventy-four of the lots were sold. They brought a total of $39,170, an average price of $529 a lot.

The Long Island Real Estate Market.

Activity in the Long Island real estate market is now well advanced. The movement of property throughout the territory is looked upon as a logical consequence of the extensive railroad improvements that have been completed and those that are under way. Not only do the land developing companies in Nassau county show excellent business, but the selling of acreage is extensive in Suffolk county and also in the inner recesses of Nassau county.

Only this week the sale of a site in Suffolk county to Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., was reported, while sales of acreage for a similar purpose are numerous. Mr. Lamont will build a fine country house at Easthampton. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., has just had plans prepared for a home for herself on a picturesque tract at Jericho, in Nassau county. And only a few days ago, Payne Whitney and W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., were instrumental in incorporating a country club whose headquarters will overlook a wild beauty spot dotted by a lake, at Wading River, in Suffolk county. The latter circumstance tends to confirm the opinion that has been oft expressed by real estate developers, that country clubs and landed estates were being driven to eastern Suffolk county by the residential expansion of New York City into the major part of Nassau county and western Suffolk.

The suburban growth is well exemplified by the fact that a decade ago country seats abounded in such places as Rockville Centre, Lynbrook and Hempstead, whereas now those communities are all year residence centres. About the only prominent country place remaining in Hempstead is that of August Belmont; and, yet when Mr. Belmont first went to Hempstead it was a community of acreage homes to a great extent. A decade ago Floral Park was one vast conservatory under floral cultivation by a prominent seedsman. This extensive owner is now so surrounded by all year homes that he contemplates moving his seed and plant business further east. He has also sold much acreage to land companies at a huge profit over what he paid for it twenty odd years ago. In other words acreage at Floral Park has become too valuable for horticultural purposes.

Practically all of Nassau county is now traffic served by the third-rail electric system of transportation, and it is widely divergent. Electric cars carry passengers to and from points on the North Shore, the central section to Hempstead and Mineola and the southern section to the ocean front at Long Beach. The latter place has undergone remarkable transformation and the circumstance has beneficially affected adjacent places such as East Rockaway and Oceanside, both of which are on the same electric road as is Long Beach. All of Nassau county is within thirty miles of Manhattan and much of it is within a smaller radius.

When Taxes Are Due.

Taxpayers are advised that their taxes for the first half of 1913 were due on the first day of May.

The other half is not due until Nov. 1, but may be paid earlier. There is no rebate for payment on the first half of a tax, but if the first half is not paid during May an owner must forfeit 7 per cent. interest until paid.

The first half of the tax becomes a lien after May 1. The second part of the tax becomes a lien after Nov. 1, and whoever owns property on that day will have to pay the second half of the tax.

If an owner chooses to pay the second half of his tax in May, or at any time before Nov. 1, he will be allowed a rebate from the time of payment until Nov. 1 at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum for the intervening time.

Ten million dollars were received in payment of taxes on May 1. Some who paid for the full year were: Interborough Rapid Transit Company, $1,200,000; William Waldorf Astor, of London, $575,000; Standard Oil Company, $250,000; George Ehret, $240,000, and the Wendel estate, $240,000.

New Route for the Flushing Extension.

The Public Service Commission for the First District has changed the route previously laid down for the Flushing extension of the Corona rapid transit line in Queens. The plan provided for the construction of an elevated railroad through Flushing to Bay Side, but property owners in Amity street, Flushing, objected to an elevated structure. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment failed to give its approval, and the elevated plan was sent back to the commission. Thereupon the commission laid out a new route providing for an elevated extension to a point in Flushing in the block bounded by Amity street, Delong street, Redwood street and Lawrence street, and thence extending as a subway under Lawrence street and Amity street and private property to a point in the block bounded by Marston avenue, Murray street, the Long Island Railroad right of way and Dunsing street, where the railroad will emerge from the ground and again become an elevated structure, continuing northeasterly to Warburtun avenue and Bay Side boulevard. The new route has been sent to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for approval.

New Direction of Growth.

Expansion during the last half century has rushed northward, but Bryan L. Kennelly is quoted as saying that the new transit systems will change this condition, stopping the old time north and south development and substituting for it the great big round city of the near future.

"By this I mean," added Mr. Kennelly, "the northward movement must halt now until the city shall have rounded out along the new transit lines in an easterly direction. This means that high land values will march eastward just as previously they have marched northward.

"The East Bronx was the centre at one time, Washington Heights at another. The dual subway system affects chiefly Queens, which presents five times more territory for exploitation than was available in the northward line, and I have reason to expect that the new eastern movement will reach five times, or more, the proportions of the Bronx and Washington Heights 'booms.'"

Why New Buildings Rent Well.

In the lower sections the possibility of retenanting old buildings is made more problematic by the continued erection of such giant skyscrapers as the Woolworth Building, the Bankers' Trust and Trinity Buildings, and the thirty-six-story monster designed for the Equitable site. The farther the new skyscrapers reach into the clouds, the less light and air for those buildings which in their day cut light and air from their lowlier neighbors.

To induce tenants to come into them at any price the old buildings must be remodeled, brought somewhere near the requirements of the moment in front appearance, sanitary equipment, elevator service, and general safety. The insurance rate looms important in the mind of every prospective tenant, and the owner that can offer no reasonable assurance of safety finds it hard to get tenants at any price in these deserted districts. And when it comes to spending thousands in repairing old buildings, which at best can bring but a poor return for valuable ground, owners are more than likely to begin flirting with wrecking companies, architects and contractors, for they know that new buildings, down to the second in all equipment and service, with a minimum insurance rate, find tenants, no matter how fast they are put up.

The result of all this shifting is a strangely anomalous condition. The mad uptown rush, which has shoved homes and small buildings by hundreds off Fourth and Fifth avenues, has left yawning vacancies behind, indicating that it was not due to over-crowding in those sections. And with the yawning gaps in various parts of lower Manhattan, dreadnaught skyscrapers are going up at an unprecedented rate until many are beginning to fear a glut of skyscrapers. The shifting of centers and the seeming overproduction of buildings can be traced in part to certain definite trade conditions, too complex to enumerate here, but it is none the less true that but for the improved construction methods even the changing trade conditions would have failed to precipitate such a pronounced shuffling of centers and such a wild building orgie as are now going on.—Melville McPherson in "Building Progress."

Bad Legislation.

That portion of the State Factory Department bills that the real estate man almost unanimously objects to, and which are admittedly unfair and wrong, says Charles F. Noyes, is the placing of the five and six-story buildings in the same class as the twelve, fifteen and twenty-story structures so far as fireproofing stairways, fire-escapes, exits, etc., is concerned. These buildings are admittedly safe, provided abnormal conditions do not exist. The same general proposition holds true in the matter of fireproofing the hoistways and elevator shafts in low buildings.

"In the final analysis legislation that will protect life from fire and disease and so limit working hours that the working class will have a chance for a normal existence at fair wages is commendable. Much of this legislation is good. Some affecting the low five and six-story buildings is exceptionally bad, but the only reason that it is not a great deal worse is because a few practical, level headed, conscientious men were consulted before the various bills were framed."

Bath Beach and Bensonhurst.

According to W. G. Morrisey, former president of the Brooklyn Board of Brokers, Bath Beach prior to 1885 was known as the village of Bath, the name subsequently being changed to Bath Beach to distinguish it from the village of Bath in Steuben County, N. Y. About the year 1879 the late Archibald Young and Judge J. Lott Nostrand began to cut up their farms into building lots, which changed the character of the little village to a good sized suburb.

In the autumn of 1887 James D. Lynch, a Wall street operator, purchased several large farms adjoining Bath Beach on the east, which were owned by the Benson family, opened new streets to conform with the Kings County map, planted trees and put in sewers and water. When he had everything completed the property consisted of about five thousand lots, all developed and ready for purchasers. They were carefully restricted, and he christened the place Bensonhurst by the Sea. The last of these lots Mr. Lynch sold to W. H. Reynolds.

Fifty Thousand a Year Rental.

"When Fifth avenue can no longer be regarded as the great home center of the millionaires the doom of the big private town house will be near," said W. S. Constant, of Wood, Harmon & Co. "No other section is bidding successfully for ultra-fashionable homes. It will mean a general retreat to magnificent country estates, with town quarters confined mainly to apartments for temporary use in the most exclusive of the new skyscraper apartments.

"And each year the list of apartment houses shows more and more costly structures. It is only a few years ago that a $10,000 a year apartment was placarded as the most expensive of its kind. Now there is quite a range of selection for those who are able to pay $25,000 or more annually, and it seems quite within the realm of probability that we shall all see $50,000 a year suites.

"Just as true is it that there seems to be no limit to the rise in value of New York realty. The past ten years or so have seen the top notch high record rise from $250 a square foot to $600 and again to $822, and the jump from these figures to $1,000 a square foot—$2,000,000 a lot—is a comparatively short one."

Public Documents.

The Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., in discussing the activities of his department says that every American should be interested in the publications that emanate from this office, for public documents are the history of the country. While a small portion of the issues might be obtained without cost through the friendship of public men, by far the larger part must be purchased, and nearly everyone interested in the literature of the United States prefers to pay for what he desires, rather than to be under obligation for small favors. Because of this it may be desirable to give the widest possible publicity to the fact that public documents can be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, at a nominal cost. Price lists, indicating the subjects covered, may be obtained free, upon application in person or by mail. Among them are the following:

10. Laws of the United States.
15. Geological Survey publications.
18. Engineering: Mechanics.
20. Lands.
25. Transportation, publications of Interstate Commerce Commission and other documents on roads, railroads, inland waterways and shipping.
28. Finance.
31. Education.
34. Library of Congress publications.
36. Periodicals published by various Government bureaus.
37. Tariff.
41. Entomology Bureau, publications on insects.
42. Experiment Stations Office, publications on drainage, and irrigation investigations.
43. Forest Service, publications on trees, lumber, wood preservation, and forest management.
45. Public Roads Office.
46. Soils Bureau.
53. Maps published by various Government bureaus.
54. Political economy.

The foregoing by no means embrace the subjects treated in public documents. The Department carries a vast amount of information relating to news that real estaters and builders are interested in.

All public documents are sold either at five cents or a multiple of that sum. It is not always convenient to purchase a money order, while there is a risk in sending cash remittances. To meet these drawbacks in purchasing Government publications, it has been decided to furnish coupons, in sets of twenty, for one dollar a set, which are good until used. Buyers of public documents will find the use of these coupons the most convenient and the safest way of remitting the amount of their purchases. Address all orders for coupons to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office. Postage stamps will not be accepted. No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, or to Canada, Cuba or Mexico. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover postage.

A Permanent Exhibit of Telephone Apparatus.

The telephone, though only a little over thirty-seven years old, and therefore still young, has probably developed more in that short time than any of its humanity-helping contemporaries. In fact, writers have termed the development of the telephone a "romance of science." The story of this romance has been put forward in what is perhaps the most understandable and, at the same time, the most interesting way, in the exhibit of historical and modern telephone apparatus and electrical supplies recently inaugurated at the offices of the Western Electric Company at 463 West street. The exhibit is in three sections.

The historical section shows the development of the telephone from its earliest stages up to the present time. The smoked glass records of sound waves made by Alexander Graham Bell, in 1874, using the human ear as a transmitting diaphragm and thus proving that diaphragms would transmit sound waves; parts of Bell's original telephone of 1876, mounted to make a complete model, and numerous instruments showing the gradual improvement in design, are exhibited to great advantage in large glass cabinets with placards giving a description of each article. Included in the historical collection, which is composed partly of apparatus loaned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and partly of Western Electric apparatus, are the switchboard by Mr. Bell in opening the New York-Chicago line in 1892, and the receivers and transmitters used at the opening of the New York-Denver line in 1911.

The modern apparatus section contains switchboards, magneto and central battery, each switchboard having wired to it a number of telephone sets, so that service demonstrations may be made to visitors.

District Heating by Steam and Hot Water.

The advantages of heating one or several blocks of residences or business buildings from a central heating station are fairly well known. It is obvious that even where supplying heat is the only consideration a higher degree of economy in its generation at least could be attained in a large central plant where coal could be burned under economical conditions, where the labor required is reduced to a minimum, and where economical operation in general can best be had. The principal disadvantage of district heating is that it requires in most cases an extensive and costly system of piping and conduits, and in some cases also requires the purchase of a franchise for laying conduits in the streets or public highways.

When heat is furnished to a group of buildings from a central station in which a considerable amount of power is also generated, the two duties may then be profitably combined. Especially is this true of a central lighting and pumping station. In a power plant using steam as the motive power, where condensing water is costly, it is even possible to make the heating end of the power plant a condensing system for the steam engines and other steam apparatus.

To make an accurate calculation of the amount of heat necessary to supply a given amount of radiation already installed, or that which is to be installed, the compilation of the individual requirements of each customer must be made, but this amount may be estimated with a fair degree of accuracy by estimating the cubical contents of the buildings to be heated about one square foot of radiation for each 70 cu. ft. of volume.

The consideration which governs a choice between steam and hot water may be stated as follows: The first cost of the plant installed is in favor of the steam system, when it is not equipped with heat control. The cost of operation is usually in favor of the hot-water system, if heat is supplied from the exhaust of steam apparatus, and especially if in heating the water with exhaust steam more or less of the steam may be condensed and the engine run under partial vacuum. The cost of circulating mains is in favor of hot water when forced circulation is employed, and besides the steam temperatures are usually higher, so that radiation losses will be greater than for hot water. Where the area supplied is comparatively large and exhaust heat from the engines is available, a consideration of all features indicates that hot-water circulation will be preferable.—L. B. Lent in Power.

Saving the Pieces.

On every hand the wreckers at work, and curiosity is naturally aroused as to what there is of value in buildings representing the best effort of fifteen, thirty, fifty years ago. Surely the carved wood in a room which cost its owner $100,000, or a rarely beautiful marble mantelpiece, or the solid mahogany and rosewood doors that were the pride of many a mansion must have some intrinsic value; and more surely the stone and brick and granite of office blocks which one day shoved home-owners from the comfortable villages of lower Manhattan to the far regions of 40th and 50th street, and thence onward to the distant Seventies and Eighties.

There is some value in the latter, and also in some of the heavy timbers and framework; and in the very old houses the lead pipes are worth the price of bulk lead. These things are carefully carted to the wrecking companies' yards, and from there go to the country, or find use in subway construction and various other ways.

But when, not long ago, the wood in a hundred-thousand-dollar room was offered for sale at $25,000, it found no buyer. The price gradually went down to five thousand; and if in the end it brought a fraction of that, the buyer probably paid dearly by the time it was refitted and reset in another place. In the same house was a fine mantelpiece coveted by an artist for his studio, but by the time it was wrenched loose and set up again, it was a sorry bargain and a disapointment to the artist.

In the home of a literary man in Gramercy Park were some rosewood doors which he wished removed to an apartment being built to his order. The doors were removed, but at such cost as only a deep-rooted sentiment and reverence for the work of other days can justify. The fact is, that the solid hardwood door of that other day, made after the very best manner of its time, is no longer as practical as the veneered door of to-day, which has proved immune to warping, checking, and shrinking.—Melville McPherson in "Building Progress."

To Recopy Old Records.

Justice Jaycox has issued an order permitting the County Clerk of Queens to recopy about 200 maps and almost as many books, records of transactions of years gone by which have become mutilated through constant use.

Real Estate Show.

The annual Real Estate Show, which has become in a sense, a feature, under the management of Mr. Frank Bouckhout, No. 203 Broadway, will be held this year at the Grand Central Palace, May 3 to 10. This show is primarily a suburban development proposition.

The Tariff Rates.

Many members of the Merchants' Association are deeply interested in the tariff schedules and rates of the Underwood bill. Appeals have been made to the officers of the Association by business men of this city and also, through them, by business men in other parts of the country, urging that the Association take action to change some of the rates proposed.

Huge City Traffic.

The annual report of the Public Service Commission for the First District shows that 4,592,934 persons ride in the subway, elevated and trolley cars in New York City every day, on an average, throughout the year. The total number of passengers caried last year was 1,680,914,025, an increase of 77,000,000 over the preceding year. The railways have 1,666 miles of track and 11,688 passenger cars.

BUSINESS NEWS

A Weekly Summary of New Catalogues and Bulletins and of Articles Appearing in Current Periodicals of Interest to Architects, Building Managers, Contractors and Realty Interests.

New Ransome Catalog.

The Ransome Concrete Machinery Co., Dunellen, N. J., have just issued a well-illustrated 80-page general catalog covering the entire Ransome line which includes every piece of equipment necessary in a complete concrete plant. This catalog will be sent upon request for the "Red Book."

New Lamp Book.

A new hand book on Incandescent Lamp Illumination has made its appearance from the offices of the General Electric Company. The object of this compact little book is to provide a ready reference to any one with an incandescent lamp illumination problem. Complete tables and formulae with much general and special information are given.

Ultra-Violet Ray Lamp Records.

The Engineering News of March 20th, price 15 cents, 505 Pearl street, has on page 559 an article describing the new ultra-violet ray lamp, which possesses an ultra-violet radiation 50 to 60 times more intense than a 110 volt lamp of 75 volts and 3.4 amperes.

How Portland Cement is Made.

Under this title the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, with offices at 261 Broadway, is issuing an attractive brochure, describing in seven pages the complete processes of the manufacture of Portland cement and what constitutes a standard grade. Copies will be sent upon application to anyone interested from any of the company's offices.

March "Doorways."

In the March issue of "Doorways," published by the Richards-Wilcox Mfg. Co., of Aurora, Ill., producers of door hangers and hardware specialties, is an article in which $100 in prizes is offered for a 200-word sketch on the subject of Advantages and Conveniences of Sliding Doors in the Modern Home. In this issue also appears an interesting article on the construction of private garages, on which subject the Richards-Wilcox Co. issues a special catalog describing its garage equipment.

Central Station Heating.

"Central Station Heating," by Byron T. Gifford, is being published by the Heating and Ventilating Magazine, of 1123 Broadway. As a pioneer work on district heating, it represents, in compact form, all of the important data covering this field. It is thoroughly up-to-date and has the vital features of clearness and simplicity. While its main theme is central station heating, it is full of valuable hints and data that can be applied to a variety of heating problems.

Storm Tests Store Fronts.

On Friday, March 21, Detroit was visited by the most severe wind storm in the history of the city. The gale reached a velocity of 86 miles an hour and in some parts of the country would be considered a hurricane. In every part of the city signs were torn from their fastenings, chimneys were knocked over and in the downtown district the big plate glass fronts failed under the pressure.

An interesting result of the storm has just been brought to the attention of the Detroit Show Case Company, which manufactures the Petz Bars for store front construction. Although there is a widespread use of their bar throughout their home city, there was not a single instance in which glass set in Petz Bars had been broken.

Text Book on Corrosions.

A revised and enlarged edition of the Stark Rolling Mill Co.'s text book on corrosion has just come from the press and is ready for distribution to anyone who mentions the Record and Guide and who is a consumer of sheet metal products. The work is divided into three sections: Part 1, is technical information; part 2, is illustrative of some of the meritorious qualities and properties of toncan metal, and shows a few of the many prominent installations; and part 3, describes sheets and products in which is found some very valuable tables and information on roofing, siding, standard weights, gauges, number of corrugated sheets in one square, rules of measurement, index, etc. Illustrations are profuse, showing the use of toncan metal and describing some of the practical tests of its durability.

Plymouth Seam Face Granite.

The Plymouth Seam Face Granite Co., of 30 West 33d street, is issuing to the trade a handsomely illustrated brochure showing the uses and describing some of the buildings in which its seam face granite has been used. The book contains many signed testimonials from many prominent architects of buildings, monuments and mausoleums, and an extract from the report of Professor W. O. Crosby and Dr. F. G. Loughlin of the Department of Geology of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, on this company's product. The company owns about fifty-nine acres of granite quarries in Massachusetts from which are taken generally uniform run of white, pink, steel grays, golden hues, yellows, russet browns and red stone. The tests show that this product has a crushing strength of about 35,000 pounds to the square inch.

Loans on Concrete

loft and warehouse buildings are sometimes not very popular with financial folks—however, when the contract is let to a firm whom they know will make good, loans can be secured quite readily.

The Turner record of 200 industrial buildings provides the proof—the Turner method of proven economy provides the profit, so that the man with money to loan does not question the security of a Turner building.

THE BIG LOT SALE.

An Official Statement Concerning the Morris Park Race Track Property.

Editor of the RECORD AND GUIDE:

The Banking Department of the State of New York, as liquidator of the Carnegie Trust Company and the Northern Bank of New York, is largely interested in the property formerly known as the Morris Park Race Track, located in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, extending from about 175th street to Pelham Parkway.

This property, consisting of about 3,000 lots, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on May 31st, 1913, and succeeding days.

The property is high ground, many of the streets are on grade. The city grew up to the property years ago and this great tract has stopped its development in a northeasterly direction.

There are five railroad stations on or in the immediate vicinity, a number of trolley lines come to and along its borders, and this Department is advised by the Manager of the Interborough Railway that two of the lines of rapid transit recently adopted by the city will have stations adjoining or near the property, and that it is expected one of these lines will be in operation within the next two years. This property will then be in direct communication with all parts of Manhattan and Brooklyn for a five-cent fare.

Your attention is respectfully called to this proposed sale.

GEORGE C. VAN TUYL, JR.,
State Superintendent of Banks, in charge of the Carnegie Trust Co. and the Northern Bank in liquidation.

AUCTION SALES OF WEEK.

Except where otherwise stated, the properties offered were in foreclosure. Adjournments of legal sales to next week are noted under Advertised Legal Sales.

* Indicates that the property described was bid in for the plaintiff's account.

ADDRESS ALL OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS TO THE SUPERINTENDENT.

BRANCH OFFICE OF Banking Department,
60 BROADWAY
New York N.Y. -m3 -

Geo. C. Van Tuyl Jr
Superintendent

Dear Sir-

The Banking Department of the State of New York, as liquidator of the Carnegie Trust Company and the Northern Bank of New York, is largely interested in the property formerly known as the Morris Park Race Track, located in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, extending from about the line of 175th Street to Pelham Parkway.

This property, consisting of about 3000 lots, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on May 31st, 1913, and succeeding days.

The property is high ground, many of the streets are on grade. The City grew up to the property years ago and this great tract has stopped its developement in a northeasterly direction.

There are five railroad stations on or in the immediate vicinity, a number of trolley lines come to and along its borders, and this Department is advised by the Manager of the Interborough Railway that two of the lines of rapid transit recently adopted by the City will have stations adjoining or near the property, and that it is expected one of these lines will be in operation within the next two years. This property will then be in direct communication with all parts of Manhattan and Brooklyn for a five-cent fare.

Your attention is respectfully called to this proposed sale.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE C. VAN TUYL, Jr.

State Superintendent of Banks; in charge of the Carnegie Trust Co. and the Northern Bank in liquidation.

The real cost to you, of an ownership service, lies in its errors.

Each error costs youanywhere from $1 to $1000, in lost time and opportunity. We can furnish you with an almost perfect system. A really good service is very expensive to prepare and we cater only to those who want the BEST.

Write for seven exclusive features in the Real Estate Department, any one of which is worth the full subscription price to the complete service. You should examine a copy at once.

NEW STANDARDS FOR GAS FIXTURES

What the Committee on Utilization of Gas Appliances of the American Gas Institute Proposes.

A NEW standard of gas fixture installation will shortly be put into effect in this city and vicinity if the recommendations of the Committee on Utilization of Gas Appliances of the American Gas Institute are finally adopted at the annual meeting of the Institute to be held this year. The report of this committee's findings has just been made public by William J. Serrill, chairman.

A committee on the utilization of gas appliances submitted a report at the last annual meeting in Atlantic City, in which report was embodied proposed specifications for gas fixtures. While its report on gas ranges and character of appliances was approved, that part of the report contemplating a higher standard of quality for gas fixtures in all types of buildings was not adopted then, but subsequently it was decided tentatively to adopt them, with the understanding that the committee should be continued for the purpose of following up the subject and reporting at the next meeting, which will be held in October; and in the interim that the committee should consult with architects and owners and make recommendations for changes at that time. The specifications, with proposed pipe and cock standards, follow:

Gas fixtures should be of such mechanically good construction that proper installation, operation and maintenance will be assured without encountering any special difficulty.

Care should be exercised in the design of the fixture, so that no portion of it interferes with ready access to any nut, or screw, which it may be necessary to get at for purpose of adjustment.

Brass pipe or tubing should be either seamless drawn or brazed; in either case of best quality to allow bending and threading without splitting.

The thickness of walls of brass pipe or tubing should be not less than No. 17 B. & S. gauge (0.04525-in.) except when it is used as casing or covering for iron pipe, in which case it may be not less than No. 22 B. & S. gauge (0.02534-in.).

Iron pipe should be of the American standard size.

No. 1 Sizes of Thread.

(A) All threads on brass tubing should be straight threads of the size commonly known to the trade as "gas fixture" or "brass pipe" size, and should have, for all sizes of ¼-in. and over, 27 threads to the inch. If less than ¼-in., the threads are to be 32 to the inch.

(B) All pipe threads for iron pipe should be the standard iron pipe size. (Briggs standard).

(C) When brass and iron are connected the thread should be iron pipe size (Briggs standard), and when such a thread is cut on brass tubing, this tubing should be of sufficiently heavy wall to permit cutting a full thread.

No. 2 Assembling Requirements.

(A) All joints of stem, body-arms, cocks, nozzle, etc., to be threaded. No joints should depend on soldering or brazing to hold the parts together.

(B) The threaded portion of pendant body, or manifold, for fixture stem to be of such a depth that in no case will the stem come in contact with the arms. The pendant body should be threaded for at least five full threads, both for the stem and arms.

(C) Fixture arms should not extend into the pendant body, or manifold, for a greater distance than the threaded portion of the manifold.

(D) If the arms of the pendant are straight, then the pendant body, or manifold, should be drilled in such a way that the arms will be perpendicular to the stem.

(E) The burner nozzle, or nipple, to have a ⅛-in. straight iron pipe, male thread. The length of this threaded portion should be not less than 9-32 ins., and not more than 11-32 ins., and the bottom of the thread should be recessed so that the burner will make a neat, tight joint with the finished end of the arm immediately before the threaded portion.

(F) The axes of the burner nozzles should be vertical.

(G) Special precautions should be taken in the construction to prevent the obstruction of the gas-ways by foreign matter, such as gas fitters' cement, solder, or other jointing material, or metal chips. The ends of tubing should be reamed to remove burrs. When duplex tubing is used, care should be exercised to prevent faulty alignment of the gas-ways.

(H) Gas fitters' cement should not be used on any part of the fixture where it may be affected by the heat from the burners. When solder is used, it should be of such a mixture that it will not be affected by the heat from the burners.

No. 8 Center Control Cocks.

(A) A center control cock, which is the cock used for controlling the supply of gas to a fixture having two or more arms and which may or may not be at the same time a by-pass cock, should have, in all cases, a 3-16-in. gas-way, and in other dimensions should conform with the gas fixture cock specifications appended hereto.

(B) If this center control cock has lever arms, these arms should be of sufficient length to permit of easy operation of the cock so that neither the arms, nor the rods, nor the chains, operating the cock, come in contact with the body arms or other parts of the fixture.

No. 9 Grease.

The grease used on cocks, or swing joints, should not contain resin, wax, rubber, paraffine or similar substance.

No. 11 Sizes of Piping or Tubing for Arms.

(A) Arms of pendants, or of wall brackets, i. e., those parts which carry gas for only one burner, should be made not smaller than the following sizes:

(B) "Length of Stem" is understood to be the distance in a straight line from the stiff joint to the lowest point of the pendant. In the case of wall brackets, which carry more than one burner, the sizes given in the table are correct, except that no pipe smaller than ¼-in. should be used. In brackets which carry more than one burner, the "Length of Stem" is understood to be the distance from the stiff joint to the point where the arms diverge.

(C) A one-piece or harp pendant, if not over 2 ft. 9-ins. long, may be made of ⅛-in. iron pipe or ⅜-in. brass tubing. If longer than 2 ft. 9 ins., it should conform to the table.

NO. 10 SIZES OF PIPE OR TUBING USED IN FIXTURE STEMS.

Length of stem.	No. of lights.	When made of iron pipe. Cased, inch.	Uncased, inch.	When made of brass pipe duplex tubing. Plain, inch.	Chain, inch.	Size of gas-way through cock, inch.
2 ft. 6 in. and under	1	⅛	⅛	½	⅜	1/8
2 ft. 6 in. and under	1–2	¼	¼	½	⅜	1/8
Over 2 ft. 6 in. and under 3 ft. 6 in	1–2	¼	¼	½	⅜	1/8
3 ft. 6 in. and over	1–2	¼	⅜	½	⅜	1/8
Any length	3–4	¼	⅜	½	½	3–16
Any length	5–7	⅜	½	¾	--	3–16
Any length	8–12	½	¾	¾	--	7–32
Any length	Over 12	¾	1	--	--	¼

(B) "Length of Arm" is understood to be a distance measured as follows:

In pendants—a straight line from the center of the stem to the center of the burner nozzle.

In stemless wall brackets, like stiff brackets, or single swing or double swing brackets, carrying but one burner—a straight line from the stiff joint to the center of the burner nozzle, measured when the bracket has its maximum reach.

In stemmed wall brackets—a straight line from the point of divergence of the arm to the center of the burner nozzle.

(C) In the case of cast wall brackets the area of the gasway in stems and arms should be not less than the area of the pipe, or tubing, of equivalent lengths of the sizes already specified.

STANDARD SIZES OF TUBING FOR ARMS.

Length of arm.	When made of iron pipe. Cased, inch.	Uncased, inch.	When made of brass pipe, inch.
12 in. or shorter	⅛	⅛	⅜
13 in. to 18 in.	¼	¼	½
Over 18 in	⅜	⅜	⅝

No. 12 Cocks.

All cocks including arm cocks, center control cocks, lantern cocks, or any other shut-off cock, should be made in accordance with the "Specification for Gas Fixture Cocks." By "shut-off cock" is meant any cock intended to be used for completely shutting off the gas supply to a burner or burners.

Specification for Gas Fixture Cocks.

It is not intended that this specification shall in any way govern the design of fixture cocks, except in so far as the dimensions given may govern the size. The accompanying drawing, which is on a large scale, is merely conventional, and is intended to show only the dimensions referred to in the specification.

(1) The material of both plug and body should be free from all defects, and of such grade that constant use will not cause excessive wear.

(2) The end of the plug should have two flat sides for the washer and two nuts—a main nut and a jamb nut—should be used instead of a tail screw. (Boston type). The plug and the male thread on the end of the plug should preferably be made of one piece; if made of two pieces, the nipple forming the male thread on the end of the plug should be screwed and sweated with hard solder, into the plug.

(3) The bearing surface for the washer on the cock body, should be not smaller in diameter than the diameter of the washer. The washer should wear evenly on the face of the body.

(4) The plug should stop at 90 degrees in either direction when shut off, but when the cock in question is a main by-pass cock, it may be a quarter-turn cock. The plug should be thoroughly and properly ground, and not merely tool finished. The question of thorough grinding is of great importance; any sign of insufficient grinding will lead to the rejection of the cock. The cock should be perfectly gas-tight, without an excess of grease, under a pressure of 8-in. of water column, while the plug may be turned by hand.

(I) Fixtures for use out of doors, or in exposed situations should be provided with suitable drips, or means for the convenient removal of condensation from any part of the fixture in which such condensation may accumulate. Independent pilot lines in outdor fixtures should not be smaller than ⅜-in. iron pipe size.

(J) Globe holders should be of such construction and weight that they will probably support without sagging or bending, any globe, or shade, with which they are intended to be used. They should be readily and rigidly attached to the fixture arm or portable stand and held in place by screwing down the burner, or by other means. They should provide a good seat for all parts of the globe with which they are supposed to be in contact.

No. 3 Goose or Stork Neck.

(A) The thread on the fixed portion of a goose or stork neck should be not less than five full threads.

(B) The ground joint between the fixed and movable portions should have a bearing surface of not less than 1-in. and the diameter of the small end of the ground joint should be not less than ⅜-in.

(C) The joint should be thoroughly and properly ground and not merely tool finished. It should be perfectly gas tight, without grease under a pressure of 8-in. water column.

(D) It should be possible to lock the movable part to the fixed part by a bayonet lock, or similar means.

No. 4 Casing.

Where casing is used, it should be cut to an exact length, so that the joints may be made up tight, without marring or jambing the parts of the fixture at either end of the casing.

No. 5 Chain Pulls.

(A) Where a by-pass chain passes tarough a part of the casing, or an ornament of the fixture the opening through which the chain passes should have an eyelet, or similar means, to prevent the links of the chain from catching on the edges of the opening. If a rod is used in place of a chain, the eyelet may be omitted.

(B) If a chain pull is to be used, a sample of such chain should be submitted for examination and approval.

No. 6 Cocks on Portable Stands.

A portable stand should not have a cock as part of the stand.

No. 7 Swing Joints.

(A) In fixtures having swing joints, the swing joint should be constructed in accordance with the specification for the gas fixture cock in so far as that specification may cover the plug, the gas way and the lock nut and the jamb nut. It is to be understood that in no case shall the diameter of the plug at the small end be less than ⅜-in.

(B) Fixtures having swing joints must be made so that the arms of the fixture will, at all times, be in parallel horizontal planes and the construction must be sufficiently heavy so that the arms will maintain these positions when a lamp of any weight up to 2¼ pounds is attached. Exception.—Fixtures which are intended to revolve in planes other than horizontal planes, need not conform with this clause of the specifications, but should be submitted for examination and approval.

(C) Swing joints should be so assembled, that the weight of the fixture has a tendency to seat the plug in the body.

The business established and carried on for many years by the late Isaac A. Hopper was incorporated in 1901 and has been conducted since then with many large and prominent building operations to their credit. With increased facilities and well equipped organization, the continuance of past success is assured. The present officers are: Walter F. Hopper, president and treasurer; George B. Hopper, vice-president; Morris P. Altman, secretary and assistant treasurer.

BUILDING HEIGHT.—The members of the advisory committee held a special meeting on Monday evening at the rooms of the Bar Association. The committee has not yet fully determined as to plan and scope. Briefs and addresses delivered at hearings held by previous committees having the subject of building height in charge have been transmitted to the advisory committee. One of the addresses on the subject was by the late John M. Carrere, who favored a pyramidal limitation.

PATRICK J. CARLEY, one of the operators in the Bay Ridge section, who has erected about 200 houses there, is of the opinion that little vacant land will be left in Bay Ridge when the subway from the Bronx to Coney Island is actually in operation. He says a vast number of people are even now preparing to move into the section, and they will come just as soon as we have houses ready for them. "It is the greatest chance builders have ever had in New York City," he says.

NO ARCHITECTS SELECTED.

In this department is published a lvance information regarding building projects where architects have not as yet been selected.

BRONX.—The Lederer Construction Co., 1341 Southern Boulevard, has purchased a plot, 75 x100 ft., on the east side of Southern Boulevard, 125 ft. south of Jennings st, and contemplates the erection of two 5-sty brick and stone apartments. No architect has been selected.

BRONX.—Ernest & Herman Levy, 4th av and 19th st, N. Y. C., contemplates the erection of a silk mill, for which architect and engineer have not been selected. Exact location has not been decided.

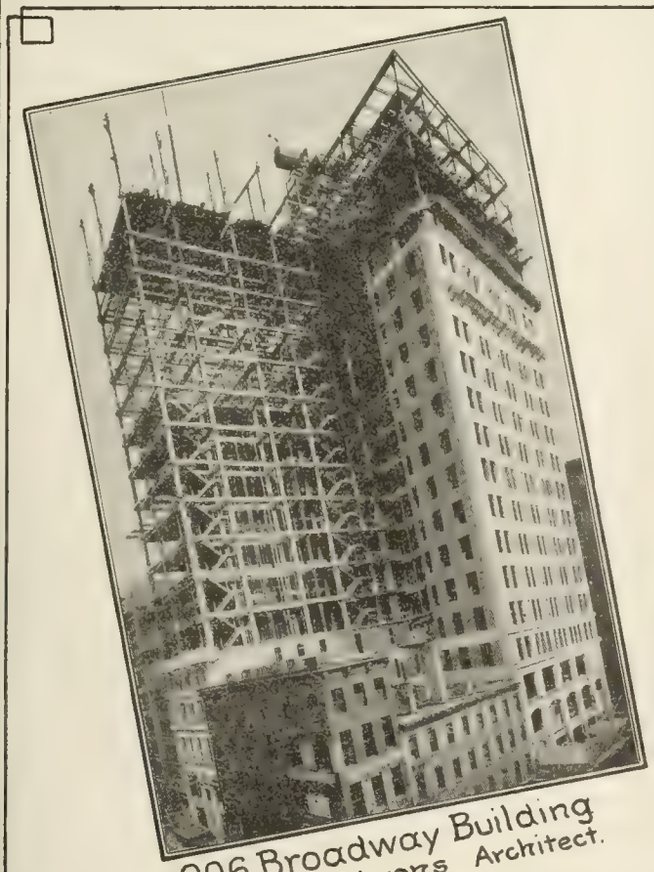
BAYONNE, N. J.—The Y. M. C. A. of Bayonne, A. W. Forman, president, and H. B. Robinson, 718 Broadway, secretary, contemplates the erection of a brick and reinforced concrete Y. M. C. A. building at Broadway, 38th to 39th sts, for which no architect has been selected. The building committee comprises H. C. Colville, 718 Broadway; J. G. Eadie, 726 Av A; L. N. Creighton, West 8th st; R. P. Whitcomb, 96 West 36th st, and Alvah W. Forman, all of Bayonne. Cost about $100,000.

ANDOVER, N. J.—The Borough Council of Andover, N. J., contemplates the erection of a borough hall here. No architect has been selected. For particulars address Robert T. Smith, mayor.

KINGSTON, N. Y.—The First Dutch Reform Church, Dr. J. L. Leeper, 304 Clinton av, contemplates the erection of a 2½-sty rectory on Clinton av, near Wall st. Architect will be selected in May and will probably go ahead the first part of this summer.

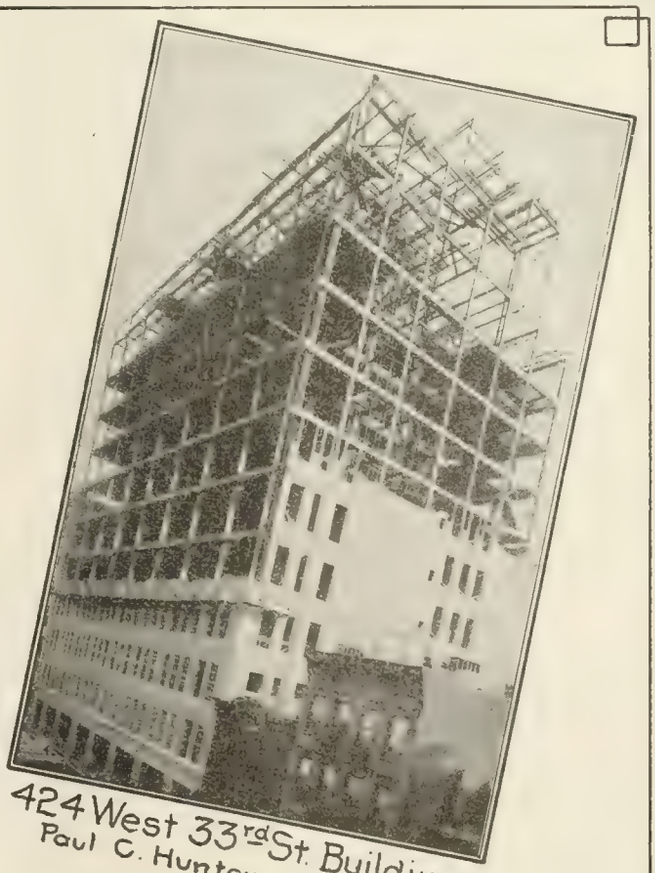
DELHI, N. Y.—The Board of Education contemplates the erection of $60,000 school building here. No architect has been retained.

OSSINING, N. Y.—A. L. Meyers, this place, contemplates the erection of a 3-sty brick store and apartment building in the west side of Main st, to cost $12,000. No architect has been retained.



OSSINING, N. Y.—Miss Blanche Potter, Ossining, and 180 West 59th st, N. Y. C., contemplates rebuilding the chapel at Eagle Park. Nothing definite has been decided and no architect selected.

LEPTONDALE, N. Y.—The Board of Education of Leptondale, Chas. G. Tompkins, of building committee, in charge, contemplates the erection of a 1-sty school house here, in Orange County, northwest of Newburgh, for which no architect has been selected. Cost, $3,000.



ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Neisner Bros., 194 East Main st, contemplates the erection of a store and apartment house at 17 North st, for which no architect has been retained.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The German American Bank, E. A. Weppner, cashier, Main and Court sts, contemplates the erection of an addition to the bank at Main and Court sts, for which no architect has been retained.

ELMIRA, N. Y.—The Kelley-Whitney Co., at site, E. J. Kelley, president, H. M. Schwartz, manager and in charge, is receiving competitive sketches for a 3-sty reinforced concrete or brick factory, 50x100 ft., to be erected at Lake and East 4th sts. Foundations are to be built so that additional stories may be added later. Cost, $40,000.

UNCLE SAM SPEAKS ANOTHER GOOD WORD FOR

"THE WOOD ETERNAL" CYPRESS "THE WOOD ETERNAL"

Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Bulletin 95, page 44, issued June 30, 1911, says of Cypress:

"The properties which fit it for such wide use are the freedom of the wood from knots and other defects . . and the long period which the wood may be expected to last. To this might be added handsome appearance, which frequently has much to do with popularizing a wood."

Further on CYPRESS, the same Government Report says: "The wood contains little resin and thus affords a good surface for paint, which it holds well. . . It is a popular wood where it is subjected to dampness and heat. It shrinks, swells or warps but little. . . For the parts of houses exposed to the weather it serves equally well."

The Real Worth Of Your Private Plant

Are you really satisfied with your private power plant? Or are you somewhat skeptical of its actual worth—especially when you consider that 97% of the large buildings erected in Manhattan use Edison Service?

The Experience of These Men Will Help You

Men who used to doubt the superiority of Edison Service have learned by actual comparison that the most efficient, economical power is produced at Central Station. The actual record of their experiences should be very interesting to you. Arrange today for a conference with one of our representatives

Standard Specifications for Gas Fixtures

(5) For turned cocks, the thickness (F) of the body wall at the gasway should be not less than 3-32-ins. For cast cocks, the thickness of the body wall at any point, including the part that forms the miter, should be not less than 3-32 ins.

(6) The tapered hole through the body should be recessed at the small end to a diameter at least 0.003-in. larger than the diameter of the small end of the plug; this is done to prevent the formation by wear in grinding of a shoulder in the small end of the tapered hole in the body.

(7) The gasway through both the body and the plug should be not less than ⅛-in. diameter. The gasway in the plug should register with the gasway in the body.

(8) Neither of the two distances (B) provided to take up for wear, should be less than 1-32 ins.

PROPOSED STANDARD GAS COCKS.

(9) Neither of the two bearing surfaces (C) on either side of the gasway, should be less than 3-16-in. in length.

(10) The distance (D) provided to take up for wear, should be not less than 1-32-in.

(11) The seal between the gasways in plug and body, when the key is hard over, should be not less than 3-16-in. in length.

(12) The stop pin (A) should be either screwed or driven into place. If a driven pin is used, it should be made of soft annealed metal.

(13) Diameter of the stop pin: If a driven pin, not less than 1-16-in.; if a screwed pin, not less than 3-32-ins. No portion of any 1-16-in. diameter pin should extend below the miter —i. e., below the line MN.

(14) Length (H) of the stop pin should be not less than 1-16-in.

(15) The key and the gas-way should be straight on the axis of the body when gas is on.

(16) The key and the plug should preferably be formed of one piece of metal; if not, the two pieces should be firmly attached by sweating with hard solder.

(17) The cock body should have at the screw joint (P) not less than five full threads.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS USED AND RULES FOLLOWED IN COMPILING RECORDS.

Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed omitting all covenants and warranty.

C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given. When the date of drawing is other than in the current year the stated year is given. When both the dates are in the same year the year follows the second date.

The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2;482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1912.

T. S. preceding the consideration in a conveyance means that the deed or conveyance has been recorded under the Torrens System.

Flats and apartment houses are classified as tenements.

Residences as dwellings.

All Christian names, streets, avenues, states and months are abbreviated when possible, also in some instances names of Banks, Trusts and Insurance Companies.

The number in ( ) preceding the serial number to the right of the date line, at head of this page, is the Index number for the Checking Index.

The Star following names of street or avenue in the Bronx Conveyances, Leases and Mortgages indicates that the property recorded is in the annexed district, for which there is no section or block number.
